

MAROONS PULL AHEAD DURING 4th AND 5th WEEKS

GREYS SUPERIOR IN WOODSMAN CONTEST

The Grey/Maroon Competition at the end of the 4th week was a combination woodsman skills and water contest. The Jr. C events featured two teams of two, who built a tepee fire underneath a water filled can. The team whose water boiled over first won. The Maroon team of Doug Mueller and Alex Nachman got the fire going quickest, but their heat wasn't concentrated enough. In a dramatic turnaround Phil Benua and Ben Jacobsen fired up their birch bark and pine to boil over the can first. The Greys had won it!

The Jr. A wood chopping contest really saw the chips flying. Keith Wenger and Jim DiStefano of the Greys were pitted against Max Lepera and Eric DiPaolo of the Maroons. When the smoke cleared it showed the Greys victors!

The Jr. B wood sawing championship got off to quite a buzz. John Burton and Rob Slife of the Maroons were going against Scott Powers and Mark Peterson of the Greys. As the sawdust piled up and the blades bit deeper and deeper into the logs, the Maroons began to pull ahead. As the cheers bounced off the trees the Maroon team of Burton and Slife were the winners!

The Greys captured the woodsman contest 2 - 1 and the action shifted to the waterfront.

MAROON TORPEDO GREYS

The Greys took the Jr. C "any stroke" relay for an early lead in the mini water battle, but the Maroons won the Jr. A medley relay as well as the Jr. B orange under the chin relay. With the scoring set at five points for winning and three for second, the Greys showed that their little men dominated by tying the score at 16 when they won the Jr. C egg-in-a-spoon relay.

The Maroons increased their lead in the Jr. B medley relay and the Jr. A free relay. By the end of the swimming events, the score was 26 to 21 with the Greys in hot pursuit.

Results of the meet rested on the water polo game with ten points for the winner and five for the losers. Late in the first period Joel Walter sneaked the ball under the bench for the Maroons. During an exciting second half, both teams were unable to score. It ended Maroon 1 to Grey 0.

The final score including 50 points to the winners was Maroon 86 to Grey 26.

MAROONS TAKE FIELD EVENTS

The Nick Gill Memorial Obstacle Course ended the days' activities. Negotiating hurdles and tires, climbing ropes, jumping across canoes stretched between the docks and sometimes swimming to get back into the canoe, and finally crawling through the famous "Sea of Mud" were part of the ingenious course set up by Pete Belskis and his crew. HIKERS TRAVERSE KATAHDIN'S KNIFE EDGE CANOES SWAMPED ON THE ANDROSCOGGIN

When the Tripping Department planned its season's schedule, we shoved one trip against another with no respect for rainclouds. The weather has been so understanding all season that we will probably end the summer having taken every trip planned and a couple of Appalachian Trail backpacking trips that were not originally scheduled.

One of our recent outings has been the Saco River trip, a one-nighter for the younger boys. Pine Tree and Hawk went out July 14th for the fifteen mile paddle down this mild and meandering waterway. Hot weather, shallow water and a sandy river-bottom combined to make some of this summer's best swimming. We put in for the night at the Appalachian Mountain Club's outpost at Walker's Falls for a late supper and some sleep that wasn't long in coming. Next morning, after a leisurely breakfast, we ran the trip's only rapid, a quick 50-foot section of Class II water. The canoe caravan continued on for five more miles to our take-out point at the East Brownfield Bridge. This same trip was repeated on the 16th by the Eagles and Falcons.

Despite a very dry spring and summer, water levels in the Androscoggin River have been adequate for some river-running. This is a trip for the older guys, with several Class II rips that provide some fast and furious travel. On Monday, July 21st, Moose, Lynx and Wildcat piled into the Buggy for the two hour ride to Errol, New Hampshire. We set up our camp and then began our six mile shuttles down river. We all made it through unscathed on this section, and with our confidence running a bit too strong, we stopped at Errol Bridge on the following day to challenge its wild waters. Five runs were made, each time with a counselor at the helm. Three of the five either swamped or capsized before we decided to lash the canoes on the trailer and head for home. We had some rain on this trip, but most of us seemed pretty intent on getting wet anyway. In addition to the drenchings at Errol, there was some fine swimming and jumping at the logging bridge down river.

The day after our return from Androscoggin we were packing off with 22 guys to Katahdin's north country for three days. The Katahdin climb is always a highlight. The weather was with us and our group was large and enthusiastic. We broke up the five-hour drive with a stop at the famous Old Town Canoe Factory for a guided tour and some lunch. We were set up at Katahdin's base by nightfall, thanks in large part to the work of John Duncan's Junior Maine Guide candidates.

The following morning we began with an abundant breakfast, then pounded out 3.3 miles to Chimney Pond for the first leg of our hike. Any doubts we had about the day's weather conditions were soon forgotten along the way. As the clouds lifted and blew off, the rangers gave us the OK to traverse the Knife Edge, one of Katahdin's outstanding features. At Chimney Pond we ate lunch in awe of Maine's number one monolith rising up before us and then broke down into three hiking groups to ascend three different trails. It was a grueling 11-mile hike that had us going until dusk, but the views and the giddy feeling of accomplishment were at least a couple of our rewards. Friday morning we indulged ourselves with a leisurely awakening and a French toast breakfast before the breaking of camp and the return trip to Weld.

Campers on the Katahdin trip were: Paul Summers, Andy Shahan, Steve Sengelmann, Kevin Humphries, Jim DiStefano, Erik DiPaolo, Andrew Detrick, Huascar Castillo, Peter Cano, Gerry Bingham, Mark Nachman, Tommy Johnson, Geof Marchand, Fred Beckham, Pete Bowers, Lars Jensen, Morgan Kennedy, Dave Tozier, Ed Fleming, Rick Spencer, Teddy Lape and Carter Messick. Counselors in addition to John Duncan were Mark Standen, Mike Altmaier and Josh Cook.

BEANIE'S SCALES

The Infirmary has remembered Camp Nurse Beanie Yardley, through the Memorial Donations of a number of her Kawanhee friends, with the acquisition of Detecto Hospital Scales (standing model) which provide for height and weight measurements. The scales are an important facet of the health service, providing a record for weight loss and gain programs, fulfilling requirements for athletic events and other routine Camp needs.

Beanie had been on the Kawanhee Staff since 1972 and had served as nurse for the past four years. She enjoyed a warm and positive relationship with campers and staffers alike. Beanie loved Kawanhee, and the summers here were a significant part of her life. She died November 10, 1979, as the result of a brain tumor.

CHARLIE BROWNS SEASON WINNERS KLL

With the season quickly approaching its end and the Kawanhee Little League play-offs looming on the horizon, the Red Blood Cells and the Charlie Browns have won two out of their last three games. The Cells in the process have defeated the Green Elis and the Blues Brothers by scores of 7 to 5 and 6 to 5 respectively. The Cells' recent loss came at the hands of the Charlie Browns.

The Browns have completed their regular season with a 5 to 1 record. Their only loss was at the hands of the Green Elis who have been coming on. Greens' 6 to 4 upset victory over the Browns has been a big moral builder. With one game remaining Green stands at 2 wins and 3 losses.

The Blues Brothers are still looking for their first win. They finish up the season against the Green Elis.

The play-offs begin with the 3rd place team playing the 4th place team. The winner plays #2 Red Blood Cells. That winner plays the Charlie Browns in a best of three games series for the KLL Championship. The last four seasonal games have been extremely close so it looks like the play-offs will be exciting and a dog fight to the finish.

FLEM DUNCS LEADING SOFTBALL LEAGUE

In Hank Aaron League action the Flem-Duncs pushed their record to 3 and 1 with a hard fought victory over the Fearless Freddies. With the score 11 to 7 in favor of the Flem-Duncs, the Fearless Freddies put on a dramatic last inning rally by scoring 3 times to make the score 11 to 10. A pop up to the second baseman ended any further hopes that the Freddies might have had.

In other action the Freddies were not to be denied victory the next time out as they soundly defeated Kennedy's Kickbacks by a 15 to 9 score. The Freddies did most of their damage in the 4th and 5th innings when they scored 4 runs in each inning to salt the game away.

KLL STANDINGS

Charlie Browns	5 - 1
Red Blood Cells	4 - 2
Green Elis	2 - 3
Bluesbrothers	0 - 5

KLL CRUSHES WELD LITTLE LEAGUE

For the 2nd year in succession the Weld Little League team invaded Kawanhee and again the KLL was overpowering as they downed the scrappy Weld team by a score of 15 to 4.

It was a big win for Kawanhee and a team win! More than 30 KLL players took part in the game. The KLL had strong pitching performances from Marc Calvano, Jeff Columbia, Peter Johnson and Peter Schuck as they combined to hold the Weld team to 2 hits.

The KLL bats were also active as Tom Kindle, Peter Schuck, Marc Calvano, Pete Johnson, Doug Thompson and Andrew Zechiel got at least 1 hit for an 11 hit attack. Congratulations to the KLL for their fine spirited play and good sportsmanship.

KAWANHEE FIRST - WRESTLERS DEFEAT HYDE SCHOOL

For the past three summers Camp Kawanhee has entertained the Hyde School, a private school in Bath, Maine, with an annual wrestling meet. These meets which were exciting for all eventually grew to lop-sided victories for the perennially strong Hyde wrestlers. This year, however, a young group of talented Kawanheans decided to turn the tables. This Kawanhee first occurred last Tuesday night when the grapplers scored a shocking 62 - 12 victory. Impressive victories were turned in by; Tom Johnson, Andy Kohler, Ed Fleming, Brian Birch, Tim Duncan, Marc Calvano, Juan Fuster, Pete Goodbody, Paul Summers, Jon Morgan and Sam Detrick.

In hope of revenging their loss, Hyde then invited us to a rematch on Sunday. This outing again turned out to be victorious for the Kawanheans who whipped their opponents 76 - 30. Many of the boys who competed have had no previous wrestling experience. This time victories were chalked up by Max Lepera, Dave Withington, Keigh Wenger, Andy DeLong, Mark Nachman and Kevin Humphries. Fun was continued that afternoon with lunch and a quick swim at the beach.
