PHOTOGRAPHY TO BE MAJOR ITEM NEW JOURNALISM PLAN THIS YEAR BIGGER AQUATIC PROGRAM FOR '36

The photographic department opens up with a bang this year, Mr. Bill Rines being at the console as Jim Warren's successor. Friend Rines brought with him a very fine Leitz enlarger for small camera film, a Leica camera of his own with which he expects to do great things, a tank developer, and various other photographic supplies. The Maestro's Leica camera is one of the very best miniature cameras that money can buy, especially with the lens that he possesses, a Summar f.2 lens with a shutter speed of 1/500 of a second, which is fast enough to catch almost any action. The Maestro will be glad to develop any films that you lads may have, and also to print them. He will also help you to develop your own films, and will teach you how to do this yourself. He can be found pattering around the dark-room off the nature room in his spare time. Yes sir, we anticipate a rather successful season. Three cheers for Bill!

The WIGWAM has always been a paper for the boys. With this thought in mind, the staff has hit upon a new idea. We are going to let you write your own paper! And that isn't all. Each week your articles will be judged and the winner will be awarded five (5) points for his side. Here is the way this is to be done: first you must select a subject. It must be appropriate; perhaps on a camp show or a church service. If this troubles you, look up Campbell Scarlett or Hal Myers for suggestions. Express your opinions, and make your articles concise; no longer than 130 words. Leave your articles at the camp office.

This plan, as you can readily see has many advantages. It will make the WIGWAM represent you fellows even more than in former years. Also it will provide another source for points in the Grey-Maroon battle, and in an entirely different department. Boys, go to it!

With Stew Smith again directing Camp Kawanhee's Water Sports, a very successful year is anticipated. Although the department lacks Baker Bryant this season, Nevertheless, his shoes are being capably filled by Steve Whitney of Yale, now this year at Kawanhee.

The Water Meets between the Greys and the Maroons will still be held on Wednesday afternoons, and they will include all former events, and some new which Stew Smith's active mind has invented. Turning boards will be installed for races longer than one lap. A new dock has been built with a ten foot board. This board will better facilitate fancy diving. And most important, all the canoes have been reconditioned throughout! With all this in view, then only the cooperation of us campers is needed to make this year's Water Sports a huge success. Stew Smith and Steve Whitney are to be cheered with gusto, for they deserve it.

EDITORIALS

Where do we go from here?

One thing is sure - we are on our way somewhere. So each day at Kawanhee can mean a touchdown - one base nearer home - one stride toward the tape.

But each day can, on the other hand, be nothing but an out at second. Fellows can die on the bases for many start who never score. Some go dead on the final sprint to the finish line - they collapse on the way. Some are even thrown for a loss behind their own line of scrimmage.

Come on! Allons! Let's go! Don't die at second. Score! Don't collapse at the half way mark. Finish! Don't lose yardage. Advance that ball!

Where do we go from here? Two months at Kawanhee should - and can - set us forward on the way to stronger bodies, keener minds, and purer hearts. That is where we go from here. What say?

NATURE FUTURE BRIGHT FOR '36

Under the leadership of Mr. Goodwin, the nature department will organize itself along new lines. The requirements for the various levels will be revised so that each boy will be able to ascend the ladder by working in that field in which he is most interested. To make this work even more interesting, Mr. Goodwin is importing a colony of ants and even some trained crickets.

For doing Microscopic work, Mr. Goodwin brought two microscopes. There are also three ways of making prints of leaves. Each process is graded so that every group will have an opportunity to make a print whose difficulty is suited to the individuals of that particular group. And is there any one in camp who has not seen, heard, or tried the ingenious bird-buzzer panel? This panel gives bird-lore something which it never had before. With all this new apparatus, and these revised requirements, it is expected that nature will be a more popular activity this year than in former ones.

REMEMBER

YE

IF FOOTLIGHT KNIGHTS

A WIGWAM reporter approached one of the men connected with this year's Footlight Knights troupe, and began to ask him the routine questions. Imagine this reporter's surprise when the trouper merely raised his hand for silence and said this: "The Footlight Knights will speak for themselves." This seemed astonishing at first, but astonishment gave way to admiration when the whole camp saw the two short skits which Whit Murphy put on at such short notice last Friday evening.

As for the future, the Knights, under the direction of the same Whit Murphy are producing "Why Teachers Go Nuts," This will appear next Thursday evening in the Kawanhee Theatre.
