Maroons Lead in First Score

The Maroons drew first blood in the 1960 battle for points. At the campfire of Saturday, July 16th, the score to date was announced as: Maroons, 1156; Greys, 793. For so small a score, the spread of 363 points between the two teams was proportionately quite large. Captain Clarke and his cohorts had every reason for making their first cheer a fervent one.

The Maroons made virtually a clean sweep of this first report. They captured the water meet of July 16th to the tune of 86 to 78, along with a 25-point bonus for the victory. More profitably, they cashed in on advantages in four of the five departments announcing completed levels: 270 points to 260 in Nature; 440 to 390 in Sailing; 180 to 35 in Shop; and 155 to 15 in Wrestling. Only in Boating did the Greys have a modest edge of 15 points to 0.

The work in most activities, of course, is still in the instructional stage, with few levels, or none at all, to be scored as yet. Points will pile up significantly only when department after department begins to convert the results of instruction into levels. As Dave Fergus, the scorekeeper, pointed out at the campfire, the present score is "only a drop in the bucket" in comparison with the level points which will accumulate as the weeks advance, and it gives no indication whatsoever of how the cookie will crumble when the final score is served up at the banquet. Dave Hoch and the Greys, therefore, could simultaneously applaud their rivals' initial advantage with good grace and brace themselves to wipe it out, warmed by the reflection that as often as not the first scorer proves to be last in the ultimate accounting.

Achievement Levels, July 11 — July 16

Let it here be stated once more, for the benefit of any not already thoroughly inured to the term, that the "Achievement Level" is the common unit for evaluating accomplishment at Kawanhee. Eight major departments (Aquatics, Athletics, Boating, Campcraft, Nature, Shop, Tennis and Wrestling) have so organized their work that progress can be measured by three graduated "levels" in each age group; the elementary First Level worth 15 points; the intermediate Second valued at 35 points, and the advanced Third scored at 50 points. The Sailing Department rings a few changes on this basic plan. Its work is actually reported according to a special system of "ratings" (Novice, Crew, Bosun, etc.) which are subsequently converted into levels for scoring purposes. Making a virtue of inconsistency, the Wigwam is reporting Sailing work as Ratings but including it in the Achievement Level list, since that is the form in which it is presented to the campers at the weekly campfires.

BOATING, Junior A — First Level: R. Barnes.
NATURE, Junior B Cub — First Level: W. Dargush, P. Green, D. Perry, D. Poor, M. Winters, M. Yahn.

Archery, Range and Swimming

The reports of the Archery and Range Departments are much applauded features of each Saturday campfire. These two activities are independent of the Achievement Level set-up and are associated with national organizations having their own systems of awards. The emblems of the Camp Archery Association, the requirements for which various campers have completed during the preceding week, are presented by Dave Angerer for the Archery Department, while Mr. Nickerson of the Range distributes the recently won medals and badges of the National Rifle Association.

ARCHERY, JULY 11 — JULY 16

Junior Yeoman Pin: D. Barnes, J. Gladfelter, J. Glidden, P. Green, G. Heindel, H. Hertell, L. Lisle, G. Noble, C. Perry, D. Perry, J. Redick, J. Romey, F. Savage, R. Thayer.

Junior Bowman Pin: R. Bittenbender, D. Cooke, W. Doyle, P. Green, W. Hartog, G. Heindel, S. Tracy.
Junior Bowman Arrow: D. Cooke, P. Green, W. Hartog.
Bowman Pin: J. Benna, D. Cooke, J. Fish, W. Hartog, R. Wilson.
Bowman Sharpshooter: T. Patton.
Archer First Rank: D. Bittenbender.

RANGE, JULY 11 — JULY 16

Pro-Marksman: D. Cooke, H. Tripp, M. Yahn.
Marksman: H. Tripp.
Marksman First Class: T. Gallagher, H. Tripp.
Sharpshooter: H. Lorentzen, H. Tripp.
First Bar: C. Turner.

The announcement of "Dock", "Cove" and "Lake" swimmers is always good for a vigorous round of applause in Kawanhee. In strict fact, these swims are but three tests among the requirements for Achievement Levels in the Aquatics Department. From time immemorial, however, they have received particular attention in camp, both because they are essential preliminaries to all boating and canoeing privileges and because are traditional milestones of progress in a peculiarly important phase of camp life. The report that five campers had completed the Dock Swim, thereby graduating from the ranks of the non-swimmers, received a special hand during the past week.

SWIMMING TESTS, JULY 11 — JULY 16

Cove Swim: D. Barnes, J. Gladfelter, W. Oldmixon, J. Osborne, T. Patton, D. Perry, D. Poor, J. Smith.
Lake Swim: J. Benue, B. Birch, D. Bittenbender, J. Brainard, R. Barnes, D. Bellis, F. Adriance, R. Adriance, F. Ball, D. Barnes, R. L. Brainard, C. Compher, B. Connor, T. Coons, H. Cory, B. Davis, C. Kawanhee Invades Monhegan Island

Our group of eighteen campers and three counselors, Jack Welton, Ed Kersten, and that ever-present trip counselor, Clarence "Bates" Bateman, left Kawanhee promptly at 7:00 A.M. Monday, July 11th, bound for that Bali H'ai of coastal Maine, Monhegan Island.

After an uneventful trip to Boothbay Harbor in B.B.B.B. (a pet name the campers give to the camp truck), we loaded our gear aboard the Balmy Days, boarded, and set sail. The Balmy Days is an excursion boat that makes daily jaunts to Monhegan. The combination of getting up at 5:30 A.M. and seasick pills was a little too much for some of the group, so they slept peacefully on the after deck.

On our arrival at the island, Kenny Love went with Bates in the truck that took our gear to the campsite, while the rest of the party picked up the trail lunches at the Trailing Yew restaurant, and hiked out to Lobster Cove for lunch. After the chicken and ham-salad sandwiches, chocolate cake, and watermelon, the group hiked to the campsite, an old baseball field behind the lighthouse. The camp was set up with the usual discussion about who was to tent with whom. Soon the boys could be seen down at the pier fishing with their newly purchased drop lines.

At 5:00 P.M. we went to dinner at the Trailing Yew. The roast beef dinner with apple pie satisfied everyone. Fishing on the pier was the activity for the rest of the evening. The group caught a total of fifty fish on the first day. Everyone was ready for Taps at 9:00 P.M. except for Kenny Love and John Brainard, the oldest of the group, who wanted to case the "social" situation on the island by going to the Periwinkle Coffee Shop.

The weather of Monday, our first day, was surpassed only by the weather of Tuesday and Wednesday.

It was well worth getting up at 5:30 A.M. for the breakfast we had at the Trailing Yew Tuesday. After the old-fashioned New England breakfast, some of the boys played horseshoes until they were reminded that it was only 7:00 A.M. and that people in the area were still trying to sleep. With tent inspection over, the party went back to the dock for a little fishing before going to the adjacent island of Manana to see the Hermit. We all took him gifts of candy or tobacco which he appreciated. Although some of the group found him a little eccentric, the experience seemed interesting.

The trail lunch at Dead Man's Cove was followed by a trip around the island on the Balmy Days. About 3:00 P.M. the party split up. Some went fishing, some of the braver boys of the party went for a dip in the bracing waters of the North Atlantic, and the less adventurous members rested at the camp.

Again, with another wonderful Trailing Yew meal under our belts, the group split up. Six of the boys went on a hike to the cliffs on the other side of the island. The rest of the boys again fished from the pier. A short rain got the boys into their tents about 8:30 P.M. When it cleared up later, however, several of them got up to talk to a few island boys who paid the group a visit.

Another big breakfast at 6:00 A.M. Wednesday started our last day. When our gear was packed, Bates took the group beach-combing for arrow heads. This had the three counselors examining every small flat stone as a possibility. We met the second group from Kawanhee at noon and went to lunch at Lobster Cove.

At 2:30 P.M. we loaded our gear aboard the Balmy

Days and sailed for Boothbay Harbor. There the boys enjoyed a dinner of hamburgers and milkshakes, and later spent some time in the shops on the wharf. About 6:30 P.M. we all piled into B.B.B.B. and headed home.

Second Shift of Monhegan Trip

The second Monhegan trip, under the command of Pete Schofield and Dan Spivey, joined Mr. Bateman on the island Wednesday, July 13th. The trip out on the Balmy Days was slightly foggy and our skipper, Captain Charles Wade, turned on the boat's radar and permitted the boys to look into its scope. After bidding the first group of trippers "bon voyage", we settled quickly into the routine of fishing, and good meals at the Trailing Yew. That afternoon the boys caught good numbers of cunner, pollack and sea robins. We also enjoyed watching the Herring and Great Blackback Gulls.

During supper we met a man who was to prove very interesting, a Mr. Mason who is an amateur botanist with the hobby of photographing all the species of flowers on Monhegan Island. He showed the counselors his techniques of selective focusing with his camera whereby only the flower he wants to view on the slide is visible.

Thursday started with some rain and fog. Bates had arranged for us to meet Mr. John Cabot, a descendant of the famous explorer, Henry Cabot. He showed us a telescope over two hundred years old which the boys looked through. Other prizes which we saw included a Lapland knife, made of reindeer horn, and pieces from a shipwreck. He told the boys about some shipwrecks and about the disastrous hurricane of 1955. When the rain slacked off we went to the wharf to fish and wait for the boats to carry us over to Manana Island to visit Mr. Ray Phillips, the hermit. We visited his "split-level" shack and also toured that small island.

We returned to Monhegan for lunch. As it started to drizzle again, we adjourned to the quaint school house where the boys discovered a player piano and a rousing afternoon was spent singing such favorites as Bye-bye Blackbird, The Last Time I Saw Paris and The Glow-worm. Mr. Mason, our botanist friend, joined us there in the evening to show his pictures. He arrived with three dozen lollipops for the boys and the evening was off to a rousing start. He showed the boys how he photographed flowers and then we saw his most interesting slide show. The boys had a good time and learned quite a lot about flowers, how they received their names, etc. The evening also brought an end to the drizzle and a big up-lift to our spirits.

Friday dawned bright. After breakfast we made ready to leave and did some more fishing. We were all on hand to greet the Balmy Days. We set sail in the afternoon across an ocean which closely resembled a mirror; even the captain commented that it was the best day of the season. We had supper in Boothbay Harbor and then headed back to Camp Kawanhee.

Campcraft Announces New Awards

The Campcraft Department has recently revealed two developments of considerable interest in its program for the summer, the institution of two new awards preliminary to the Junior Maine Guide work, and the prospect of a more specific identification with the activities of the Appalachian Mountain Club. In connection with the former, Mr. Ed Chace, head of the Campcraft Department, has made the following statement:

"The Camp Directors' Association has granted Camp Kawanhee permission to make two new campcraft awards this summer. Boys who have passed all the Junior B Cub and Junior B tests in Campcraft are entitled to receive the Junior Maine Woodsman Award, a shoulder patch which may be sewed to the shoulder of the jacket. Boys who have passed all the tests for Junior A and Senior are entitled to receive the Maine Woodsman Award, a shoulder patch to be sewed to the shoulder of the jacket. Boys who have passed their tests in the past and who might be eligible now must present a certain number of trip points earned in 1960 to be eligible. The awards will be presented as earned so that they may be worn during the camping season. Boys desiring details should confer with Ed Chace or Gene Cayten. All these tests are directly in line for the Junior Maine Guide award. Kawanhee's Campcraft levels are based on the requirements set up for the preparation for the Junior Maine Guide award."

As all who have ears for a Dining Hall announcement are aware, the summer's course for prospective Junior Maine Guides is in full swing under the immediate supervision of John Fulda. John, who won the coveted J. M. G. certificate last year, is handling the instruction on Menus and Equipment, Mapping and Compass, Shelters, and Wet Weather Fires, and sharing the sessions on Axemanship, Trees, and Cooking and Fireplaces with Mr. Bateman. A special class on First Aid has been set up with Mrs. Compner and Mr. Dexter, another on Fire Regulations and the Map of Maine with Mr. R. C. Frank, and still another on Canoeing with Mr. Nickerson, Ed Hamblin, Gene Cayten and Ben McCoy. After the course of instruction and a period of review, three or four days will be devoted to a camping trip to test the acquired skills under wilderness conditions. Examinations are scheduled for July 27th, 28th, 29th and 30th at J. M. G. testing camp at Bemis, Maine. The 1960 class of candidates is composed of six Senior campers and Junior Counselors: C. Clarke, T. Pears, N. Seibert, F. Stewart, B. Welton and J. Willis.

The Campcraft Department's work on local trails in recent summers has led to recognition by the Appalachian Mountain Club. Further to quote Mr. Chace:

"The Campcraft Department is honored in the new A. M. C. Guidebook, 1960 edition being published this month, for its work in building the trail up Blueberry Mountain and for writing new trail information about the Tumbledown and Little Jackson trails. During the winter, the head of the Campcraft Department received an invitation for the department to assist in writing up the trail descriptions for Brush, West, Tumbledown, Little Jackson, Big Jackson, Blueberry, Blue and Bald mountains for a new guidebook of the mountains of Maine. It is expected that the department leaders and climbers will assist in this work this summer. Some trail work, clearing brush and fallen trees, will be part of the task."

Mr. Chace and John Fulda belong to the Appalachian Mountain Club. On July 7th, John received a certificate from the organization which states that in the opinion of the Mountain Leadership Committee of the A. M. C. he is competent to lead hiking parties above the timberline in the summer time. John spent a period of three days in June in a mountain leadership workshop out of Pinkham Notch, and under the leadership of A. M. C. officials climbed Mount Adams, Mount Washington and others in the Presidential chain. Ed Chace, who has been an A. M. C. member since 1955, received a certificate similar to Fulda's last spring. These certificates are good for five years and are renewable.

Errata and Addenda

No more subtle means of correction having been devised, several goofs and omissions in last week's run-down on 1960 personnel and assignments must here be mentioned in unblushing baldness.

Mrs. Ruth Buck, of Weld, for the second season fills the position of Emma's assistant in the pantry.

Ed Fonto is a graduate of Ohio University, not Ohio State, with a degree of Bachelor of Science, not Bachelor of Arts. Well, anyway, he did go to college!

Kingpin, not to say Czar, in the operation of the Midget Softball League, is Fred Hoster, with the title of Chief Umpire. In the Little League and the Babe Ruth League Tim Ferguson, Tom Patton, and Herb Lorentzen have taken over the duties of Official Scorers.

Important posts in the high commands of the two teams are held by two Assistant Captains, both Junior Counselors. Bill Boothby backs up Captain Clarke of the Maroons, and Ed Kersten seconds Dave Hoch in the hierarchy of the Greys.

H. Cory and T. Smith are serving as Camp Buglers. Being so well-staffed in this department, Kawanhee may look forward each night to a Taps which is blown, not rung.

Events appear to have proved the Wigwam erroneous as well in reporting Pete Schofield as the Big Man in Fishing this year. That title has definitely been taken over by Ed Melcher of the Hawk Lodge, at least for the first two weeks of the season. In that period Ed landed five pickerel fifteen inches or more in length and of better than a pound and a half in weight, and landed them on the shores and docks of the Kawanhee Cove itself. Just how he did it baffles other such devotees of rod-and-reel as Mary Baker, and Ed definitely is not telling. In an effort to regain face, Mr. Schofield recently delivered a weighty pronouncement attributing the current lack of perch fishing to "high water." Did he mean that, in the present two-inch flood stage, the lines could not reach all the way down to the fish, or that the fish could not stretch 'way up to the bait? Kawanhee awaits the ebbing of Webb Lake waters to discover who's kidding whom.

The subject of goofs cannot be concluded without some mention of John Nowold's announcement of the week's movie. At supper Monday he proudly invited everyone to the Rec Hall to see a fine picture entitled "Root Knock-knee". Just what he was talking about remained undetermined that night, it being a free evening, of course, and only on Tuesday and Wednesday did the showing of Knute Rockne give a clue to what had caused his tongue to skid.

Sox, Dodgers and Mohawks Top Leagues

The second week of Little League action saw the Red Sox add a third to their unbeaten string by shutting out the Green Thunderbirds, 4-0, on July 15th. Bill Lawrence pitched the route giving up four hits while his mates played errorless ball in the field and capitalized on the wildness of the opposing pitcher, Dave Nimkin, who was credited with the loss. The Sox tallied all four runs in the top half of the first frame as the first seven hitters in the batting order all reached base safely. The big blow came from Chuck McGee whose line drive to right field eluded the fielders and counted for three runs.

The Blue Blades tightened their grip on second place by downing the Thunderbirds in an extra inning affair, 6-5. After a four-inning 5-5 deadlock on July 11th, play was resumed on Saturday, July 16th. Both teams completed one scoreless frame when the lead-off batter in the bottom of the sixth, Tom Fischgrund of the Blades, blasted a game-winning home run into deep right-center field.

The Kawanhee Dodgers continued their winning ways by topping the Giants, 6-5, Thursday, July 14th. Chuck Compher hurled the complete game as the Dodgers secured their hold on the Babe Ruth League lead with a 3-0 record. Randy Evans started the game for the Giants but was plagued by control trouble and was relieved by Vockel. Much of the Dodgers' success is attributed to a staunchly effective defense which has yielded but five tallies in their three contests.

The Kawanhee Giants had their first win of the season, a 14-3 rout of the Indians on July 12th, and moved into second place with a 1-2 record. The Indians, troubled by the lack of an effective scoring punch, occupy the cellar after two weeks of play. In two clashes, Bruce Connor's Tribe has chalked up only three tallies while its opponents have crossed the plate twenty-two times.

Two make-up games in the Midget Softball League were played Saturday, July 16th. In settling a tie game dating from July 6th, the Apaches downed the Chippewas 6-5, but the Chippewas then came back to capture a second contest, the playoff of the previous day's deadlock, from the Apaches 5-4. The Mohawks who did not play during the week, remained in first place with a 1-0 record as the result of their 6-2 win over the Chippewas on July 8th.

Water Polo Play Gives Meet to Maroons

The Maroons won the season's first major sports event, the water meet of July 16th. On that bright, breezy Saturday afternoon, Charlie Clarke's mermen came from behind in the closing minutes of the contest to defeat the Greys 86-78.

The Greys launched the day with a great splash when W. Dargusch steamed in first, half a dozen lengths ahead of the field, in the Junior B Cub Kickboard Race. This initial lead of the Greys the Maroons whittled down drastically when H. Tichnor and K. Love whipped in one-two in the Senior Freestyle, and briefly wiped out when the team of Love and H. Cory took the Breaststroke-Backstroke Relay to set the score at 46-44 in favor of the Maroons. The Greys, however, rallied strongly in the Freestyle Relay when R. Evans pulled up in the third lap, and Tim Hirsch went ahead to nail down the event and peg the score at Greys 64, Maroons 54. The Maroons had the edge in the next two races, but the Greys still held a lead of 78 to 76 as they entered the final event, the Water Polo game. Here they were swamped by the Maroons. The Greys put up a stiff resistance to the first goal, with the action churning back and forth several times before Ken Love made the score. Inspired by this, the Maroons charged back to make the second goal in short order, Love again carrying the ball to the dock for the score, to win the game 2 to 1, and the meet 86 to 78. A bonus of 25 points for winning the meet boosted the Maroons' point-take for the afternoon to 111.

The greatest excitement of the program was generated by the Junior A Underwater Swim, as the spectators waited for swimmer after swimmer to surface. John Willis, swinging far off course, bobbed up out in deep water but still appeared to have covered a distance little short of the stretch between the docks. Then Chuck Compher, swimming straight, spanned the whole distance, made the turn at the little dock and returned almost a third of the way to the big dock before his wind gave out. The cheering gallery assumed that he had the event sewed up, with only one swimmer remaining with a chance to rival his mark. This, however, was Randy Evans who reached the little dock, turned, started back, dodged wide around an earlier contestant standing on his mark, and was still able to pass Compher by several feet before putting up his head.

Two exhibition events divided the competitive program midway. Tim and Tony Hirsch took on an assortment of Junior Counselors in a four-lap relay, and Bill Keating put on a display of expert diving. Bill ended up with a double twisting front one-and-a-half which drew a resounding burst of applause from the shore.

The Summary:

JUNIOR B CUB KICKBOARD RACE—First: W. Dargusch (G); Second: D. Poor (G); Third: D. Schirmer (M).
 JUNIOR B SIDESTROKE RACE—First: D. Yantes (G); Second: W. Matchneer (M); Third: D. Gordon (M).

Saturday and Sunday

The Saturday evening campfire at Council Point opened with the traditional ceremony of the Winds, and closed with the second installment of Dean Miller's continued story, The Hand in the Picture, by Eric Kelly. Two novelties featured the occasion. One was a vocal solo, introduced as the "Indian Love Call", by Harrigan, the canine Junior Counselor of the Moose Lodge. The other was Dave Angerer's institution of rotary traffic for those receiving Archery awards. This did relieve congestion in some areas, but led to some dizziness among the spectators as the campers went 'round and around.

Sunday morning, July 17th, in the chapel on the shore the camp was privileged to hear a guest speaker, the Reverend Robert Strom, Associate Minister of the First Presbyterian Church of Englewood, N. J. Mr. Strom's clear and compelling talk on "A Question of Morality" held the undivided attention of a large congregation of campers and guests against all the distraction of outdoor worship. Del Tracy gave the Scripture reading, Charlie Clarke read the prayer and the choir sang A Mighty Fortress Is Our God.

During the afternoon the camp barbers paid their first visit, and the Crows and Badgers enjoyed the summer's initial trip to Coos Canyon. The evening gathering in the Recreation hall was highlighted by the Glee Club's spirited rendition of Happy Wanderer and by an enthusiastically greeted showing of movies taken in Kawanhee last summer and earlier.
