Maroons Gain as Score Mounts

The Maroons more than doubled their lead in the first major jump in the season's score. On Council Point Saturday evening, August 5, the current totals were announced as: Maroons, 6,716; Greys, 5,877. This placed the Maroons in the lead by 839 points. They had entered the week with an advantage of 389. During the seven days, while the Greys were earning 3,274 points, the Maroons captured 3,724 to add 450 to their winning margin.

Sports events accounted for 130 of these points. On Saturday afternoon, the Maroons had won both of the week's Maroon-Grey encounters, the water meet by a total of 163 to 80, and the sailing regatta, 56 to 9. The remainder of the Maroon gain came rolling in on the season's first big surge of Achievement Levels.

In all, the week produced two hundred and sixty-one levels. The Athletic Department alone, in its first report of the season, contributed seventy-six levels valued at 2,030 points. Aquatics also signalized its emergence from the exclusively instructional stage by reporting the completion of forty-two Achievement Levels. Boating was the second largest booster of the score, ante-ing up fifty-one levels for a total of 1,270 points. The other major activities chipped in with their shares, all except the Tennis Department. There levels and points appear still to be bogged down in the maze of a novel terminology, with mysterious threats of new "patches" hovering over all.

Homebound Trip Schedules Set

Kawanhee will break camp on Friday, August 25. The campers traveling by camp-arranged transportation will leave camp that morning after breakfast in chartered busses.

The New York group, supervised by Senior Counselor Ken Reilly, will proceed to Boston in time to catch the 1:00 P.M. train for New York. This train will arrive in Grand Central Station, New York, at 5:15 P.M. that evening.

The Ohio-bound boys will travel in charge of Senior Counselor Ned Seibert. After reaching Boston, they will spend the afternoon in an historical tour around the city and then go to New York by train. There they will board a New York Central train which will arrive in Cleveland at 11:32 A.M., Saturday, August 26, and in Columbus at 2:45 P.M. that afternoon.

For Parents, a Request from the Directors

The Directors earnestly request the co-operation of the campers' parents in the matter of the packages of candy and other edibles which have been reaching camp in quantities which threaten to become unmanageable. Theoretically at least, all such offerings are turned over to lodge counselors for distribution in reasonable amounts at stated times, although there always exists the possibility that some may be received unreported and consumed unsupervised. Some lodges are already swamped with duly surrendered loot, and most have on hand a supply more than adequate for the remainder of the season. If the gifts of sweets continue to arrive in unchecked numbers, it may become necessary to institute a policy of returning them unopened.

The camp management has always considered in order the sending of treats for birthdays and a few, a very few, other special occasions. At present, however, certain far from disinterested propaganda sources appear busily to be disseminating the entirely unauthorized idea that every camper is expected to stand treat to his lodge at least once during the season. Nothing could be farther from the desires of the powers that be and their plans for the health and sound nourishment of the campers. It is sincerely hoped that the parents will properly discount any rumors of candy-starvation or of home-supplied lodge eating binges as accepted institutions, and curb their generosity to allow Kawanhee the opportunity of completing the summer with its collective stomach on even keel.

Canoeists Take New Trip on Sandy River

On Monday, July 31, after successful exploratory trips led by Jack Welton and Ed Hamblin, the first Sandy River trip went out. The Sandy River offers to canoeists a variety of experiences. There is the challenge of avoiding the tell-tale inverted V's indicating the presence of rocks in the stream, the fun of shooting rapids, the work of portaging when the river becomes too shallow, and the respite of paddling in quiet pools. And then there is the periodic necessity of both canoeists jumping out of the canoe when they misjudge the channel or fail to negotiate fast water with the appropriate adeptness.

Nine campers from the Moose, Lynx, and Wildcat Lodges, accompanied by Jack Welton, Ted Nelson, and Dan Sebastian, embarked upon the Sandy River a couple of miles south of Avon for the first leg of the trip. The morning was spent traveling down the river for about six miles to Strong. Before lunch Jack selected a good stretch of rapids so that the boys could have a swim. Bates was waiting at the American Legion field in Strong with a welcome lunch.

After lunch, a soft drink, and a short rest, the boys returned to the river for another three miles of canoeing. One set of rapids was exciting enough to be given two tries. Another swim topped off the day, and around the bend of the river Bates was waiting with the truck for the return trip to camp. All agreed that the Sandy River was one of the best one-day trips which they'd been on.

Two Groups Invade Chain of Ponds

The Chain of Ponds canoe and camping trip, one of the best remembered of the trips planned for campers of the eleven-to thirteen-year age group, was the major expedition of the week. The first section of the trip, with twenty boys on board and Ken Reilly, Ned Seibert, and Yours Truly as counselors, set out with canoe-trailer and duffle Tuesday morning, August 1. This party reached the ponds at two o'clock that afternoon and remained there until August 3, on which day it returned to Kawanhee aboard the truck which brought the second section of the trip to replace it. This second group consisted of twenty more boys, plus counselors Robert "Uncle Bob" Elliott, Fred Hoster, Mac Kaiser, and Yours Truly as the only hold-over. It remained on the ponds until Saturday, August 5.

The entire trip, for both sections, was marked by good food, good weather, good canoeing, good boys, and the company of a very good dog. After each section arrived at the ponds in the early afternoon, it immediately started to set up camp. When all this was taken care of, there was time for a good bath and swim, followed by a short exploration of the surrounding area by canoe. Along about 6:00 P.M. the smell of grilled ham steak, with all the fixings, would be noticed drifting over the calm, clear waters of the Chain. After supper and dirty dishes were polished off, it was back to the canoes for an evening of quiet drifting or perhaps fishing.

After a full night's sleep which ended about 8:15 A.M. (One thing which the boys on the trip enjoyed as much as the counselors did was the extra hour of sleep in the morning!), the boys awoke to the smell of eggs frying and sausage cooking for the second day of their trip. After a rather stuffing breakfast the boys packed lunches and took off in the canoes. The members of the first section headed for Horseshoe River, a small stream that is the inlet to the Chain. They spent the day exploring the river and returned to the base camp to report that the trip was quite enjoyable except for the low water which made for much walking. For the second day of their trip the boys of the second section decided that they would paddle down the Chain to the dam, rather than go upstream. They returned to the base camp about 4:00 P.M. and reported that, after a full day of canoeing, they were ready for a swim.

Supper, consisting of grilled hamburgers, fried potatoes, green beans, etc., set the boys in a good mood for a game of Capture the Flag, which lasted until darkness fell. When each side decided that it was about "done in", all members reported to the cooking area for a marshmallow roast. The boys then packed themselves into their sleeping bags and inside of twenty minutes all was quiet again on the Chain.

The third day the boys were up and around for hot cakes and bacon with fruit juice and cocoa. After breakfast they packed their belongings for the eighty-five mile ride back to Kawanhee. When the camping area was set to rights the boys canoed around nearby and relaxed in the warm morning sun. At noon a light lunch was served and final preparations made for the arrival of Bates and the camp truck. At 1:00 P.M. all boarded the Bouncing Buggy for a short ride into Canada (Thus they can say that they vacationed in a foreign country in the summer of '61!) and then headed for Kawanhee. As the truck drove south along the shores of the lakes, many were thinking of the good times which they had just experienced in this area that is so close to Mother Nature. It is truly a place where a boy can become a man, where he can grow while looking in any direction and see little else except Mother Nature in all her beauty. Yes, this is truly a place where a boy can become a man, and a man a better one!

Mt. Blue and Little Jackson Climbed

Kawanhee sent out nine trips in the course of the week. The Sandy River trip and the two Chain of Ponds expeditions kept the river canoes constantly in use from Monday through Saturday. On Wednesday, Forrest Dexter and Fred Hoster accompanied the mineralogists of the Polecat and Wildcat lodges to Newry and Perham's. The ascent of Mt. Blue was made by four different parties armed with picnic lunches. Monday Clay Stites and Dan Beggs led members of the Deer and Birch lodges up the steep but well worn trail. Tuesday the Pine Trees with Ted Nelson and Paul Saunders enjoyed the commanding view from the summit. On Thursday, the Falcons and Panthers, guided by Dan Sebastian, Brad Welton and Frank Stewart, had the opportunity of exploring Blue from the spring to the fire tower on top. The Polecats with Steve Dexter and Frank Stewart had their turn on the mountain Friday. The most arduous climb of the week was that made Friday by eleven Seniors commanded by Ed Chace, assisted by Ken Love and Pete Kuhns. These hardy mountaineers scaled the seldom visited peak of Little Jackson and then bushwhacked down over Tumbledown.

Bears and Chuckles Top Leagues

The week saw quite a bit of Little League action, highlighted by the long awaited play of the Blue Blades. The Blades had been rained out on all previous occasions with the exception of one victory. The Blues participated in two of the week's three contests in the Little League and came out even, winning one and losing the other. On July 31, the Blues received their first beating of the season, 6-4, from the Big Red Bears. Southpaw Tom Cookman fanned seven Blades and contributed a single and a double to the Red offensive. John Estabrook also had two hits for the Bears. Pitcher Jim MacDonald got the only hit for the Blues.

Hard on the comeback trail, the Blades retaliated on August 4, by soundly drubbing the Black Magics, 11-0. Shortstop Bill Matchneer and Center Fielder Bob Dorn each had two hits for the Blades. Chris Henderson was the winning pitcher and allowed the Magics not one safety! In the third Little League game of the week the Red Bears edged out the Green Hornets 3-2. The Hornets were leading 2-1 until the bottom half of the last inning when John Estabrook drove in the tying run and then stole home to end the game. Jock Cumberland hit safely for the Hornets.

There were two baseball games played in Senior League during the week. In the first Shepard's Satans defeated Connor's Albatrosses 5-4 behind the arm and bat of Bill Lawrence. Bill had a single and a double for the Satans, while limiting the Albatrosses to three hits. Carlos Del Valle also had two hits for the Satans, while Captain Smiley Connor collected two for the Albatrosses.

In the other game, played on August 3, the undefeated Chuckles nipped the Albatrosses 3-2. Bill Turnbull and Derek Savage paced the attack for Compher's Chuckles. Ken Love hit safely for the Albatrosses.

Senior League action for the week was completed in a close basketball fray between the Chuckles and the Satans. The powerful Chuckles increased their lead on the League again by downing the Satans 27-25. Bill Turnbull had 11 points for the victors. Brad Welton, however, was the game's high point man with 12 for the ill-fated Satans.

Compher M.C.'s Variety Show

The weekly edition of the Camp Kawanhee Variety Show featured a newly decorated proscenium and a new Master of Ceremonies, Chuck Compher. The program which Chuck introduced consisted of four skits, sandwiched in between, and iced off with, musical numbers.

The bill opened with a take-off on "Candid Camera" starring Pete Evans as Arthur Godfrey and Mike Meserole as Alan Funt. More spectacular was the hilarious Fashion Show presided over by Dave Brooks, all but unrecognizable in clinging black velvet, lipstick, and the camp's familiar mop-wig. Various unnerving creations were modeled by such reconstructed campers as Tucky Nolan and "Slew-foot Sue" Dawes until Bill Doyle brought down the house with "The Dress — and Figure — of the Future". Bruce Birch and John Redick followed with a fast bit of magic in the form of a levitation act. The Bears topped off this category of the bill with a piece of topical satire. While Blair Newman read selections from the Camp Catalogue, other members of the lodge, with their tongues in their cheeks, acted out the suggested scenes of camp life. Herb Lorentzen drew a big laugh with his gory impersonation of Nick complimenting a camper on "nice shooting", and Perry Newton earned another as the leader of the rock 'n' roll passage. Although several punch lines were unhappily muffed, John Mogabgab came across loud and clear with that immortal phrase "Me for a dip!"

Credited to the musical side of the ledger were such well established performers as Wade Rockafellow and the Smith Brothers, the latter aided and abetted on this occasion by Kim Kaiser. Less familiar were "Nimblefingers" Hans Hertell and Bob Bierke, both presenting piano solos, and Ted Coons with his clarinet. The rabble-rousing finale of the evening was again provided by Dan Beggs, his electric guitar, and his singing cohorts.

Maroons Score Again in Water Sports

Water meet competition Saturday afternoon, August 5, ended for the third straight time in favor of the Maroons. The final score, including the winners' bonus of 25, was: Maroons, 163; Greys, 80.

The Cross Country Relay again began the affair, but with a new twist. The usual order of participation was reversed, with Seniors J. Weisheimer (M) and J. Mogabgab (G) running the first lap, and Junior B Cubs A. Doyle (M) and R. Estabrook (G) swimming the last. When Doyle beat Estabrook to the swimming rope, the Maroons were again on the victory trail.

The Maroons advanced their lead with Bob Bierke, Bill Lawrence, and Warren Acker plowing in first in the Junior B Freestyle, Junior A Breaststroke, and the Junior B Cub Kickboard Race respectively. The Greys fought back, winning first place in the Senior Canoe Doubles with Perry Newton and John Mogabgab. Larry Brainard (M) won the next event which was the Junior A Backstroke. The Junior B Medley Relay and the Dock Swimmers Free-For-All saw a resurgence of Grey spirit, with Pat McGee, Fred Rowe, and Craig LeCaptain getting the honors in the relay and Chuck Matheson winning the Free-For-All.

The Water Skiing Department's Exhibition followed with Ken Love performing the art and Fred Ross at the wheel of the motorboat.

The attention of Kawanhee spectators was again directed to the main part of the program of swimming and boating competition. Andy Doyle in the Junior B Cub Dock Swim and the Senior Freestyle Relay team of Ross Shepard, Ken Love, and Derek Savage furthered the Maroon lead. Phil Green (M) and Rocky Heindel (M) came through with apparently the toughest stomachs and largest lungs in the Junior B Over-and-Under-Canoe Relay. In the muscle-pulling Junior A Singles Rowboat Race Pete Connor (G) showed his prowess.

The final event was the Senior Water Polo Game. The Maroons displayed their skill by preventing the ball from ever getting into the Greys' home territory. Ken Love cinched the event for the Maroons by making both goals for a 2-0 score.

Arrivals Welcomed: J. M. G.'s Applauded

The week ended with Kawanhee's already well filled roster stretched a couple of notches further to accommodate two old friends. On July 31 Fred Hoster, a counselor, and earlier a camper, of several years' Kawanhee experience, arrived from Columbus, Ohio, to join the staff and promptly busied himself with the week's trips. C. Dargusch appeared on August 5 to settle in the Moose Lodge and to resume his activities as a camper.

The week end was a fair, as well as a busy, one. The Saturday night campfire was held in the open on Council Point, as was the next day's service. In the Church on the Shore Sunday morning Dean Miller spoke of "Rivers" in his sermon. The Choir sang Fairest Lord Jesus and the two passages of Scripture were read by Herb Birch and Clarence Bower.

Sunday dinner was made the occasion of one of the season's most closely attended reports. Ned Seibert presented the five participants in this summer's Junior Maine Guide program, Bruce Connor, Phil Gockenbach, Frank Stewart, Brad Welton, and John Willis, and strongly commended both their work in the preparatory training given here in camp and their performance in the four days of tests at Bemis from July 26 to July 29. There, in rigorous examinations covering twenty-one different phases of camping, the Kawanhee candidates, of an average age of fifteen years, had found themselves up against sixty other campers, of ages ranging from fourteen to twenty-one, from fifteen different camps. Ned closed by announcing that four of the Kawanhee contingent had been asked to return another summer to repeat work in four or five of the subjects, and that John Willis had completed the course and won the rank of a Junior Maine Guide, the twelfth man to attain this honor on the seven years of Kawanhee's association with the state-sponsored program. The applause which greeted this announcement was as vigorous as it was well earned.

Sunday after dinner the Moose and Beaver Lodges took off with Dick Jordan and Dave Hoch for an hour or two of swimming in Coos Canyon. While other lodges applied themselves to the customary hikes to Weld, a group of fourteen slicked-up, white clad tennis experts, drawn mainly from the Junior A lodges, visited Camp Kineowatha in Wilton for an afternoon of court play with fair opponents of the opposite gender. It could not be said that the racket-bearing gentlemen did not go adequately chaperoned, for no less than five counselors, Wade Rockafellow, Dan Sebastian, Gene Cayten, Bill Boothby, and Pete Kuhns, felt themselves duty-bound to join the hazardous expedition — in purely supervisory capacities, of course!

After supper the gathering in the Recreation Hall produced a few hymns and a handsome motion picture on Yosemite, Valley of Light. The evening ended with a very well patronized twilight dip.
