Greys Dig In Deeper

Despite the fact that the O'BRIEN - TRACY MAROONS were in there fighting to turn the tide and put them on top when the second score was read, the WATSON - WHITMYRE GREYS stood firm and dug in deeper to hold onto their slim lead of the previous week. They not only maintained their lead during the week, but they fattened it up from the skinny 162 to the pleasingly plump 678 point lead.

The report at the campfire, July 22, as read by Del Tracy, revealed the current totals to be: Greys 3180; Maroons 2502.

The score is making a slow start this year, lagging behind the totals of previous years, but when the reporting activity heads stop talking about "fundamentals" and the "necessary groundwork being put in" they will have no time to announce anything but completed levels; then the score will really start climbing. When that happens, the present lead held by the Greys will count for very little as those second and third levels begin to roll in soaring the week's total points earned into the five digit numbers. Therefore, the WATSON - WHITMYRE GREYS well know that more work and effort is needed by the entire team if they are to remain on top.

The O'BRIEN - TRACY MAROONS are not going to be standing idle, watching the Greys go by, however. They are just as sure of pushing that score into the RED as they are that there is a Mt. Tumbledown somewhere in all that fog at the end of the lake. With this in mind, the Maroons are busily working on those all-important second and third levels that will add considerably to the total score to come.

With this reservation in mind, however, the Greys could still look back on a very satisfactory week which favored them in every department but two. The Maroons managed to keep their heads above water in all departments but Sailing and Archery. They were substantially "out-shot and out-sailed" by the Greys. Archery reported 665 points for the week, with 465 in the Greys favor and Sailing reported 500 points for the week, with 365 in the Greys favor. Other activities reporting were: Athletics, Greys 95, Maroons 110; Wrestling, Greys 315, Maroons 300; Campcraft, Greys 135, Maroons 120; Boating, Greys 125, Maroons 90; Nature, Greys 85, Maroons 115; Shop, Greys 410, Maroons 395.

Since it is possible for a boy to score over 100 points in a single day, it must be said that the score is very inconclusive at the present and the final outcome will remain "anyone's guess" as the contest enters the last half of the camp season.

Greys Sport A New Captain And Assistant

Cooperation and leadership are key words to any successful competitive program. Kawanhee is most fortunate to have several young men with sterling character and leadership ability so necessary to guide young people.

During the past week it was necessary to appoint a new leader for the Greys; however, the task was not a difficult one. The Assistant Captain, Frank Watson, was so endowed with the necessary qualities needed for a leader, that he stepped into the number one spot without hesitation. Frank is a three-year veteran at Kawanhee and hails from Forrest Hills, New York, to be the Jr. Counselor in the Falcon Lodge for the summer. His genuine enthusiasm and electrifying spirit will be a great asset to the Greys as they strive for victory come August 24th.

The task of choosing an assistant for Frank was easily solved as Rick Whitmyre filled the vacancy with ease. Rick is a three-year veteran at Kawanhee, also, and hails from Mt. Kisco, New York, to be the Jr. Counselor in the Pole Cat Lodge for the summer.

Although Rick was a Maroon team member before his new appointment, you can be sure that his loyalty will be with the Greys as the battle for points enters the home stretch. He might even be able to add a little "go-go-go" spirit to the team, if needed, by having a hootenany, as he really makes the place come alive when he gets the beat on his electric guitar.

Congratulations are in the offering for both boys as they assume their new positions as they change "drivers in mid-stream." Come what may, August 24th, how can anyone be a loser when both teams are so endowed with leaders of such qualities.

Boys of today—leaders of tomorrow. How can America be anything but the best with such fine material from which to choose its leaders!

Macks Whitewash Hornets

The seventeenth of July opened up the third session of the KLL with the first-place-dwelling Blue Macks and Green Hornets squaring off for sole possession of the top spot.

In a brilliant defensive contest which saw only one error, the Macks salvaged a 2-0 shutout victory. Pete Haines picked up his second win of the campaign, striking out eight and walking but three while scattering three hits. Hornet portside pitcher, Nick Gill, suffered his first loss though allowing only four hits and fanning eight.

Chris Schroeder and Barry Gidman led the Mack attack, supplying three of the hits and knocking in both runs.

The quickest game of the season started off with three scoreless innings. Hurlers, Haines and Gill, matched each other on the mound as they both mowed down the opposition. Both pitchers whiffed six and gave up one lone hit.

The Blue finally ended the deadlock in the bottom half of the fourth inning. First baseman, Jet Tremble, reached first on a walk and quickly stole second and scored on Barry Gidman's single to left. Phil Drake followed with another single but both runners were stranded.

The Macks tallied again in the fifth when left fielder, Dave Adriance, crossed the plate after walking, swiping second, sacrificed to third by Al Drewes and knocked in on Chris Schroeder's single to left center.

Trying to knot the game in their last try, the Hornets got two on in the sixth with only one out. Then Pete Drake of the Green ripped a liner off Schroeder's shins and into left field. Chris Altmaier then tried to make it home but was cut down by Mack picket, Adriance, on a perfect peg. The Hornet rally died.

Macks Roll Along: Bomb Knights

The hot Blue Macks baseball organization anxious to pull away from the crowd locked up with the second place Black Knights on Wednesday, July 19. The Macks lengthened their lead to 1½ games with a free-swinging 14-8 win.

Jet Tremble relieving for starter Dave Adriance, took the victory for the Macks while Knight workhorse, Hank Hiser, was the loser.

Barry Gidman again supplied the needed punch for the Blue this time, joined by Tremble. Both sluggers knocked out three safties and brought in two runs as did Al Drewes, Chris Schroeder, Phil Drake and Fred Abels. Hiser was the batting star for the Blacks, getting two hits and four runs batted in.

The visiting Blue Macks led off the first inning with one run. Drewes reached first on an error and then scampered to third on Haines's double to right. Gidman and Tremble followed with singles but could only shove one run across. The Knights came back and tied the score in the bottom half, loading the bases on young Adriance who walked one run in but otherwise escaped the inning.

After the Macks failed to score in the second, the Blacks forged ahead and forced Adriance out and Tremble came in to hold the line and end the inning at two runs.

The Macks exploded for thirteen runs in the third which saw ten walks and five hits. Gidman and Tremble both had two hits in the inning. Halfway through the holocaust, Brad Coley came in to relieve Hiser but could make no headway as the Macks continued to walk around the diamond.

Down by eleven runs in the bottom of the third and last inning, the Blacks waged a last-chance attempt to secure victory and a tie for first. They quickly loaded the bases on Tremble and scored one run on a walk to Coley. Hank Hiser clouted a tremendous triple to the deep left center power alley and later scored on Phil Stewart's infield out. The drive stalled, however, with the Knights six runs short.

Second Mineral Trip

On July 20, the Nature Department sponsored its second trip to the world famous Newry Mines in Oxford County. After an hour's ride in the Bouncing Buggy, the boys began their ascent of Mt Plumbago. Within an hour, they reached the abandoned quarries and began collecting. Here they obtained common lithium minerals, schorl, and beryl.

After about forty-five minutes, they resumed their climbing and quickly reached the upper quarry. Here the rockhounds were treated to a vast assortment of pegmatite minerals. Some of the luckier collectors found specimens of gem quality tourmaline, beryl, and quartz.

After returning to the truck, the boys were taken to Perham's Maine Mineral Store where they could view his excellent displays and purchase minerals to supplement their collections.

The boys climbing were: Todd Tremble, Bruce Ferguson, Milton Zapata, Blas Reyes, Jim Estabrook, Doug Smith, Jose Benitez, Herb Erf, John Sisson, Frank Erickson, Hank Hiser, Trent Taylor, Phil Stewart, Kurt Larsen, Jim Barnes, Scott Paterson, and Andy Wheeler. Assisting in the counseling were Glenn Schroeder, Fred Ball and Tim McKee.

Coeds At The Courts

The Kawanhee Tennis Department and eight campers had the honor of playing host to and playing with the same from Camp Kineowatha. The Senior campers, Bob Brinckerhoff and Andy Williams, played mixed-doubles with Marie Bertran and Donna Ross, respectively. Marie, a Puerto Rican, is ranked fourth in women's singles there and showed her talent as Bob and Marie defeated their opponents 6-0. ; Rich Estabrook, another Senior camper and Mark Standen, a Jr. A, combined with Eve Aschenbrenner and Ana delValle. The other Junior A's, Hank Hiser and Wally Whitmyre, joined with Charlene Jason and Lynn Prunhuber. The scores of both these matches were close: 6-1, 6-4 and 6-1, 8-6 respectively. Representing the Junior B campers were Tim Williams and Brad Coley. Tim had the honor of playing with his cousin, Patty Williams, but the two were unable to defeat the foot higher Liz Wierun and smaller, yet accurate, Brad Coley.

After the campers finished play, the Department members combined. Since Kineo had only three counselors, Marie Bertran filled in. Her talents, combined with her partner's, Charlie Langmuir applied against those of Cathy Bellingham and Bill Lawrence made a close set of 10-8. Jack Pray and Mike Altmaier with well-matched partners played against each other in another close match.

After the play, all two dozen retired to the Campercraft Building and ate the supper Frank Stewart and the kitchen had prepared: hamburgers, hot dogs, potato salad, soft drinks and cake. Since girls will be girls and boys will be boys, the ice was not completely broken 'till this point of the festivities.

The coeds, under the supervision of Mrs. Bellingham left for home at 7:30, the latest so many girls have been on Kawanhee soil.

We are all looking forward to another match with Kineo, probably to take place the second week in August in Wilton.

All in all, it was a swinging afternoon and an early evening.

BILL LAWRENCE

An Omission, An Apology

Humans are infallible so the saying goes and I, the editor, have just proved this statement by a very embarrassing omission in last week's edition. I, therefore, shall take ten lashings with a wet noodle for my error.

When talking about the future counselors of Kawanhee, I unintentionally omitted the name of one of our most energetic and enthusiastic campers, Tom Ruhle.

Tom is no new comer to Kawanhee and rates very high on the list of future counselors at Kawanhee. He is a five-year veteran and calls the Badger Lodge home for the summer as he prepares for his counselor-in-training-program as a very able assistant in the Campercraft Department.

He is a sophomore at Tenaflly Senior High School, Tenaflly, New Jersey, where he played football as a halfback and fullback; was a quarter-mile runner and a high jumper for the indoor track team, and repeated his skill when the track moved to the outdoors in the spring. His hobbies are camping, riflery and gymnastics. Tom is our top candidate for the Jr. Maine Guide award this season as he competes with boys from all over New England at Bemis, Maine, next week. He just missed receiving the award last season by a few points, and you can be sure, those little incidentals are worked out by now, as he has been spending his free time preparing for this feat.

Something Old, Something New For Saturday

Because you are in your 47th. season as a camp doesn't mean that you have to do the same old things year after year. Ideas such as these make Kawanhee an interesting and exciting place to spend your summers.

This past Saturday found Kawanhee bubbling with excitement and activity. The morning was for scheduled activities as usual, but in place of the customary watermeet, the afternoon found most every department open for Maroon-Grey competition.

A Maroon-Grey little league ball game was in progress; Maroon-Grey tennis matches were being played; Maroon-Grey archers were shooting it out; the Range was active with sharpshooters from both teams going for the title; and the Maroon-Grey Sailors were battling the breezes for a practice regatta. To conclude a most enjoyable afternoon of activity, a free swim was a most welcome treat.

This type of program not only gives more boys an opportunity to participate in competition, but it provides additional points for the teams score. The Maroons proved to be the best archers by taking that tournament 30 to 10. However, the Greys were victorious on most fronts as the afternoon progressed. They almost made a clean sweep of the range, with Craig Blasutta, a Maroon, and Tom Ruhle, a Grey, going for a shoot-out to break a tie. Tom, emerging the victor by one point, 42-41. The Greys took the baseball game 6-0.

Greys Crush Maroons In Little League Tilt

Attracting the biggest crowds of last Saturday's athletic-field activities was the Grey-Maroon Little League contest which, strangely enough, pitted the best Grey Little Leaguers against the best of the Maroons.

The Greys behind the one-hit pitching of Nick Gill and the bat of Barry Gidman coasted to an easy 6-0 victory. Hard-luck Hank Hiser was the losing pitcher for the Maroons. Both Gill and Hiser pitched well and between them struck out 25 batters and walked seven.

After two innings of play, Gill and Hiser each had six whiffs apiece and only three runners had reached base. In the third the Greys loaded the bases on a Phil Drake single and a double by Gidman and a walk to Steve Aeschbach. Hiser bore down however and retired the side on strikeouts. Gill struck out three in the bottom half.

The power-packed Grey line-up broke the ice in the top of the fourth and scored four runs. With two outs Bill McElwain reach first, followed by Gill. Then Drake singled in McElwain and Gidman singled in Gill. A bases-loaded walk to Aeschbach ended the rally at four.

Singles by Duke Karr and Chris Schroeder led off the Grey half of the fifth after the Maroons failed to score. Both men were stranded however, as Hiser struck out the side.

In the sixth the Greys added their final two runs, knocked in by Phil Drake and Leif Erickson making the score 6-0 and giving the Grey cause 31 points (a bonus of 25 plus game's score), for their trouble.

Seniors Regain Vim And Vigor In Ball Game

The Senior Counselors emerged on top 10-4, in the traditional Saturday evening Jr. - Sr. Counselor softball game.

Bob Zechiel gave the Seniors some hard times with his fast ball, as they swung at the breeze on several of his fast pitches. He was too polite and respectful to laugh at his "Seniors" but you could tell by the little smirk on his face that he was pleased with himself.

Mike Meserole got the first base hit for the Seniors, and subsequently stole home on an overthrow, to put his cohorts in the lead. This was the spark that the Seniors needed as they soared to victory. Dave Bohnke got a three bagger when Jim Proctor and Larry Pray collided in centerfield trying to snag Dave's long ball. However, Proctor came back and saved the Juniors from an even greater loss by making a flying catch to pull in Frank Stewart's hit that was tagged for a home run. Frank Watson, Jim Proctor, Scott Tracy and Rick Whitmyre were singled in for the Junior's four runs.

Tom Hartman won the "flying trophy" for his performance of the game. Tom put his wrestling technique to good use when he darted from third to the center infield to make a flying, rolling leap to pull in Gordon Gray's short pop, thus ending the Juniors rally. Del Tracy was the winning pitcher; Bob Zechiel, the losing pitcher.

Campfire

The Saturday campfire of July 22, 1967, should be recorded in Kawanhee's log as the most relaxing, enjoyable, fulfilled campfire ever.

Mitch Greenawalt, the music director, started the program with group singing to get the campers in the mood. Several new verses were added to "The Deacon" and "Throw It Out The Window". Tom Taylor and his guitar, Gwenivere, favored the group with an old Civil War song called "The Invalids." Rev. Bill Taylor led the campers in singing "The Creator". His marvelous sense of humor and effervescent personality can get a group so involved that they will forget all their problems and turn the tide to happiness in a split second, whether it be swimming for fun or for competition, guidance for religious education or the many up's and down's of life, or just plain singing and talking for the fun of it. The camp will definitely miss Rev. Taylor as he returns to his many duties in Columbus, Ohio, this next week.

George Frank kept the program moving right along as he announced after the "Creator" song, "We have heard what the Lord has accomplished, now let's hear what you boys have accomplished during the week." Each department had numerous achievement levels to read that evening; however, to continue the musical note of the evening, Del Tracy suggested each department sing an appropriate song before reading the levels recorded for their department. For his contribution to music he led the campers in "Take Me Out To The Ball Game"; John Redick and John Staker sang "Robin Hood" as the contribution from the Archery Department; John Willis and the Boating Department rendered "Wes Langer on the Big Dock"; Frank Stewart and the Campcraft Department sang a very appropriate rendition of "Hot Time In The Old Town Tonight"; Nick said that he couldn't sing, but that he could do a "mean" yodel—he was so right; Bob Duffy of the Shop suggested "The Anvil Chorus" but decided it was too high class for such an occasion; Water Skiing, not to be outdone, made up a special verse just for the evening. I don't think the lyric writing profession will have to worry about too much competition from Mike O'Brien as he sang "We Are Water Skiing Over Lake Webb." However, I do think that Tom Hartman has a future in the field. Just what field, we can't predict as yet, but he came forth with the following for his Wrestling Department. "Figure 4, Figure 8, Flex your muscles, I think you're great!" What could be more appropriate for Wrestlers! The Nature, Tennis and Sailing Departments promise great renditions for the next campfire.

The singing of TAPS concluded the program and the evening.

Sunday Program

Once again the weather was favorable for our worship service to be held on Council Point. The weather was warm but the fog still hovered over the end of the lake making the magnificent Mt. Tumbledown obscure. Our immediate area was surrounded by sunshine as we sat facing the white birch cross overlooking the lake, worshipping together as children of God.

Bill Lawrence read the scripture and Tim Pears read the prayer. Rev. Bill Taylor used the radio as an instrument to vividly dramatize his sermon. The radio, he pointed out, picks up sound waves and amplifies them. We, in life, should take the things which we know and possess and use them to the greatest advantage.

Rev. Taylor then related that after having reached the high ledges overlooking Lake Webb, the lake resembled a large mirror. He suggested that a mirror is perhaps the most honest of instruments. We get out of it what we put into it. Reminiscing, he referred to an aviator in the Pacific Area during World War II who had been downed in the ocean within short range of the Japanese. He was on a life raft during the night. Many times he prayed. The next day, he observed an American rescue plane. The plane started to veer away, and by using a mirror which was included in the emergency kit, and by looking through a cross in the mirror, he was able to catch the attention of the rescue plane. Since then the pilot has dedicated his life to helping the youth of the country. (He didn't mention the name of that pilot, but you and I know it was he.)

The Kawanhee Octet directed by Mitch Greenawalt concluded the service by singing "We Would Be Building".

Vesper services were held in the Rec Hall Sunday evening. Music, fun and games constituted the evening program. Mitch Greenawalt led the group singing and the octet sang "Bandalero", "Animals Are Coming", and "Old Man Noah". Rev. Hal Myers, minister of the Presbyterian Church in Morristown, New Jersey, made a short talk to the campers. A movie on Grouse Hunting concluded the evening program and brought to close the fourth Sunday of the camp season.
