Greys All The Way

The Watson-Whitmyre Greys were in a rut all summer—a winning rut. They started off the season with the first score and continued to be top team on the totem pole the entire summer. A couple of weeks they dragged their feet and the Maroons took a sizeable bite out of their lead, but not enough to cause them any great deal of concern. They worked harder the next week and increased their lead and finished the year some 1400 points ahead of the Maroons.

The O'Brien-Tracy-Zechiel Maroons were not loafing during this period however, but could not manage to overcome the advantage the Greys had obtained early in the season. Several Maroons were a little sluggish and failed to finish their plaques as anticipated which would have put them in the lead when the final score had been tallied. However, that word "IF" is the largest word in the dictionary and this time it proved fatal to the Maroons.

Regardless of who is the top team on the totem pole, I'm sure both team captains, their assistants and their team members will agree that this has been a tremendous season and everyone in camp was a winner in some way or other. Kawanhee was most fortunate in having such a sterling group of campers and counselors this season. Cohesiveness is the magic word for any team and this season Kawanhee possessed two teams with this spirit. However, when there is a competitive activity, someone must win and someone must lose. But as a favorite coach of mine once said after a defeat in a football game, "We may lie down and bleed a little, but we shall rise again and fight." That is what the Maroons did for a few minutes, but in good sportsmanship they gave their victors a rousing cheer of congratulations. With spirit such as this, I am sure that the campers have given to Kawanhee as much as Kawanhee has given to them.

To show their appreciation for a good season of leadership, the Greys gave their leaders, Frank Watson and Rick Whitmyre, the traditional dunking in the lake. However, this was one dunking that they were most happy to take.

To the Watson-Whitmyre Greys, congratulations for a victorious season and a job well done. To the O'Brien-Tracy-Zechiel Maroons, congratulations for a most valuable summer of experience and values that you shall cherish forever, even though you were second team on the totem pole of victory.

The final score for the season was: Greys 27,356 and Maroons 25,955.

Bob Zechiel A New Assistant For The Maroons

Scott Tracy, the Assistant Captain of the Maroons, had to leave camp early and return home for football practice, thus leaving his position of leadership to a most capable Junior Counselor, Bob Zechiel.

Zeke took the reins left by Tracy and did a magnificent job in assisting Mike O'Brien in this battle for points at Kawanhee. Even though the Maroons were second team on the totem pole, the leadership provided this team was great.

Maroons And Greys Split The Last Water Meet

Saturday, August 19th, found the Maroons and Greys swimming it out in the last contest of the season on the waterfront. The Grey captain, perturbed by a disqualification of one of his entrants, left the meet and his assistant, Rick Whitmyre, carried on in the true Kawanhee spirit. Both teams were in good form this day and the score ended in a tie. It was decided to have the team captains swim it out to break the tie, but the Grey captain failed to make the scene in time. Mike O'Brien, the Maroon captain, swam an excellent 100 foot butterfly in record time to give his team the last score. However, since the event was not agreed upon before the meet, the last race was not counted in the score and the final score remained a tie at 68-68.

The seniors provided the most entertainment for the meet in the canoe jousting event. The object in this event was to upset the opponent who was standing in the bow of the canoe while his fellow teammate paddled. "Sure footed" Hal Slocum of the Greys managed to give the Maroons a run for their money. His teammate, Gordon Gray, took the first dunking, thus leaving Hal to battle the enemy alone. Hal evaded the Maroons for several minutes but fell prey when Tim McKee and Dana Lisle of the Maroons cornered him. Then McKee and Lisle decided to see which Maroon could hold fast the longer. After several maneuvers by their paddlers, Tim McKee managed to get Lisle in his vulnerable spot and made him lose his balance and take a dunking, thus giving McKee the top spot and Lisle settling for second.

THE RESULTS OF THE MEET ARE AS FOLLOWS:

200 FT. FREESTYLE — 9 and under:

FIRST: Blas Contreras, G.
SECOND: John Schroeder, G.
THIRD: Jim Schroeder, M.
FOURTH: Fred Abels, M.

400 FT. FREESTYLE RELAY — 9 and under:

FIRST: Grey Team (Blas Contreras, Ross Scribner, John Schroeder, Gary Tremble).

Chain of Ponds

After a last ditch effort, the much postponed Chain-of-Ponds trip got off the ground and into the water due to the efforts of Frank Stewart and the kitchen crew.

We followed the Arnold Trail to Cathedral Pines where we lunched, then continued to Natanis Campsite. After ferrying our equipment to the campsite, the boys pitched their tents and prepared the fire for cooking. After a supper of hamburgers and Ma Hofferduty's homemade beans, the boys took a rather uneventful trip up the Horseshoe River, then returned to the campsite.

The next day the boys returned to the Horseshoe River; this trip was highlighted by the appearance of a cow moose and her calf. After spending most of the morning on the river, we returned to camp hungry; however, we decided to postpone the meal and eat down on the next pond. We ate the sandwiches and then continued down the ponds.

About three the next day, we left for Canada and spent a short time in Ste. Augustine de Woburn, Quebec, then departed for Weld.

The boys on the trip were: Ken Chapman, Rich Darmanin, Al Drewes, Jim Estabrook, Bruce Ferguson, Peter Haines, Mike Hall, Kurt Larsen, Blas Reyes, Scott Sartorius, Chris Schroeder, Phil Stewart, Trent Taylor, Todd Tremble, and Wally Whitmyre. The counselors assisting were: Fred Ball, Chuck Hoffline, Doug Means and Harold Slocum.

Swift River #2

After lunch on August 13th, the Panther and Pole Cat Lodges cheered as they left camp for the wilderness outpost at Swift River on the other side of Mt. Tumbledown. After we arranged the sleeping quarters, all the boys dived or waded into the swift, clear-cold waters of the stream. Swift River, it was recounted, was the sight of the first gold discovery in the United States; and everyone was soon searching for the precious material. Although we did not lack in the spirit of the old 49'ers, we did not discover anything of great value; however, many lovely pebbles were found.

After a good supper cooked by Doug Means, Jon Lattimer and Bates, the boys began constructing a large dam across Swift River. Later it began to get dark, and after a story about "The Man Without a Country", we turned in for a very restful night's sleep.

Daybreak found us still sleeping, but Bates soon aroused us. Before long, the hot chocolate was ready, the hot cereal was done, and the bacon and eggs were sizzling. After breakfast, we resumed work on the rock dam, and before lunch was ready, Swift River had been backed up into a three-foot pool of icy water for swimming. We had a great time followed by a great lunch prepared by the best cook in the Maine woods—Bates. We then gathered our clothing and bedding and took our packs to the truck. Bates drove us to the Pot Holes where we had a marvelous time sliding into the "pot". Doug Means even threw nickels and dimes into the water for the more adventurous boys to dive for. After a few exploring trips up the river, Bates picked us up and managed somehow to return to camp for the evening meal.

All in all, it was a great trip which we enjoyed immensely. The woodsmen on the Swift River Trip #2 were: Bruce Blaylock, Dave Bury, Keith Erf, Stoney Hinds, Lee McCleave, Kevin Kissell, Raub Smith, Alan Sweet, Phil Drake, Todd Taylor, Jack Abbott, Bob Escher, Gordon Glidden, Blake Paterson, Dave Scribner and Clint Newbold. The counselors assisting on the trip were: Jon Lattimer, Doug Means, Tom Taylor and Bates.

Another Anniversary Present For Nick

As you may remember, the first issue of the WIGWAM reported that Roy Nickerson, head of the Range, was celebrating a silver anniversary at Kawanhee. His grandson, Mark Standen, of the Wildcat Lodge helped Gramps celebrate this happy occasion by receiving his Expert Award in Rifle the second week of the camp season. Not to be outdone by his older brother, Mike Standen, of the Lynx Lodge, decided that he, too, wanted to help Gramps celebrate this happy event, so he worked very hard these past few weeks and last week he, too, attained the highest award in rifle by earning his Expert Award. So, Happy Anniversary, Gramps, from Mike and Mark!

Bob Brinckerhoff, of the Crow's Nest Lodge, also received his Expert Award this season which added to the festivities. Nick is as happy as the boys when they attain this highest achievement possible in riflery.

Macks Sneak By Barons: Clinch KLL Title

Leading off the final week of Little League activities for this summer, the front-running Blue Macks, in position to take the pennant, locked horns with the hapless Red Barons, who decided to play some ball for a change. The Macks squeaked by the Barons in a 5-4 thriller.

Mack mainstay, Pete Haines, gained his fourth victory of the season, tops in the league, striking out fourteen and allowing four hits. Bill McElwain took the loss for the Barons, whiffing eight and giving up five safeties in his first-league start. Blue first baseman, Jet Tremble, socked a home run and a single, driving in three runs, in leading the Macks offensively.

The first three innings passed without incident as Haines retired nine in a row and McElwain let only two runners reach first. The Macks drew first blood in the fourth, scoring twice on singles by Tremble, Chris Schroeder and Mike Hall. Expecting the cellar-dwelling Barons to fall over and play dead, the Blues were surprised in the fourth's bottom half when the Barons struck for three big runs. Duke Karr reached first on an error and was followed by three straight singles off the bats of Bill McElwain, Frank Erickson and Clint Newbold, scoring two. The third run came on a bases-loaded error on a drive by Andy Keintz.

Showing no signs of giving up and wondering about what had just happened, the Super Blues jumped on Baron batter-beater, McElwain, for a trio of tallies to off-set and up-set any Red chances of takeover. With one out, Al Drewes and Phil Drake started the Macks rolling with successive singles; then with two away, Tremble unloaded his circuit shot to deep left center and traversed the bags with three RBI's.

The Barons tried to come back in the bottom of the fifth on a run-scoring double by Frank Erickson, but Haines put out the flames and retired the Reds in the fifth and again in the sixth.

Gill, Hornets Whitewash Macks: Too Late

Ending the 1967 Kawanhee Little League season, the undefeated and league champion Blue Macks took on the second place Green Hornets in a tilt that mattered only from the prestige point of view. The Greens upset the champs, 2-0.

Nick Gill was the winning pitcher for the Hornets, fanning nine, walking only two and allowing no hits. Striving to match Gill's gain, Jet Tremble gave up only two scratch hits while striking out eight and walking four.

After a scoreless first frame, the Greens launched the first charge of the game, getting two men on but the threat fizzled. The game progressed rather slowly, each club getting one or two men on but failing to score until the bottom of the fourth.

In the fourth, two straight singles by Pete Drake and Nick Gill, mixed with two Blue errors, gave the Greens their two-run lead. The Blue Macks were never really in the game having won the title two nights before and just going through the motions in this one. It showed.

Nothing much happened afterward as Gill mowed down the Blue opposition and finished up his no-hitter as the Macks took it easy and waited for the all-star game.

Champion Mack Nine Nips All-Stars

The Little League champion Blue Macks decided to rewrite the traditionally All-Star authored All-Star game in the year's sole post season tilt Monday, August 21. In a nip and tuck squeaker, the Macks out shone the "Fine Nine" by the score of 3-2.

League-leading pitcher Pete Haines flung the victory for the Macks, striking out eleven, walking three and allowing four hits. Green Hornet star Nick Gill was the loser, also fanning eleven but giving up only two hits.

The visiting "Stars" lost no time getting on the plus side as successive walks to Chris Altmaier and Duke Karr and a fielder's choice sacrifice by Hank Hiser scoring the lone run. The Macks came back in the bottom half. Al Drews singled past first and went to second and then to third on a passed ball. He scored on a sacrifice grounder by Phil Drake.

The Stars threatened twice in the second and third, each time getting two men on with only one out, but Haines was up to the task and got out of both jams clean. The Blues then launched an offensive of their own in the bottom of the fourth, scoring their second and third runs. Phil Drake led off the inning with a single and skipped from second to third on passed balls. Jet Tremble then ripped a drive to short, scoring Drewes and reaching second on the error. Stealing third, his heads-up play took advantage of a wild pitch and stole home.

After failing to score in the fifth, the All-Stars tried to wrest the lead from the Blues in the sixth and final chance. Green Hornet ace Gordon Glidden led off the inning, reaching second on a two-base error. He got to third on a fielder's choice by Frank Erickson. Then first baseman Steve Aeschbach, also a Green, laced a single to left to score Glidden. Anxious to go ahead, the Stars were disappointed as Haines calmed down and stomped out the flames.

Protein-Packed Proctor's Proudly Possess Pennant

In the last game of an abbreviated KBRL schedule, the undefeated Proteins of Jim Proctor met the last-place Brinkerhoffs of Bob Brinkerhoff. The Proctors' won handsomely, 10-5. Captain Jim flipped for the Proteins, allowing just seven hits while Hank Hiser was the loser for the Brinks. Protein-powered Rick Whitmyre led the offensive end of the victory by supplying three hits, including a double and a two-run homer.

The Brinks shocked Proctor for three runs in the game's initial inning on singles by Charlie Langmuir and Andy Kauffman and a double by Gordon Gray. The Proctors bounced back with two of their own on successive singles by Andy Williams and Mike Standen and a double by Whitmyre and a sacrifice fly accredited to Bob Zechiel.

Following a scoreless second, the Brinks touched Proctor for a tandem. With two away Brinkerhoff, himself, singled, Tom Ruhle reached on an error and Gray walloped a booming triple to center but was thrown out trying for glory.

The ball then bounced around with no results for the next two innings until the Proteins slapped Hiser and the Brinks for two more runs. Four singles by Bill Proctor, Chip Burgess, Mike Standen and Whitmyre turned the trick. The Proctors' again scored in the sixth inning with Jim Proctor scoring on Bill Proctor's sacrifice fly.

Holding the Brinks at bay, the Proteins dug deeper for three runs in the seventh and a two-run eighth. Jim Proctor's two-run triple and a run-scoring single by Craig Blasutta, ended the seventh frame and Whitmyre's two-run four bagger took care of the eighth. The Brinkerhoffs' could do nothing.

Babe Ruth Stars Crush Proteins

In the Babe Ruth League post season classic the All-Stars and the league champion Proteins of Jim Proctor, squared off to decide the fate of the Proteins' unblemished record. The Stars blotched the slate by handing the Proctors' a 7-3 loss.

Hank Hiser, allowing seven hits in the contest, was the winner while captain Jim Proctor took the loss. He gave up eight hits.

The All-Stars teed off on Proctor for four big runs in the first inning to open the game. Successive doubles by Tom Scott and Bob Marx knocked in all four runs. Again in the third, the Stars scored twice; this time singles by Frank Watson and Scott and Bob Marx's second double of the afternoon accounted for the tallies.

The Proctors, eager to regain their championship form, piled four straight singles together, by Proctor, Chip Burgess, Bryan Blasutta, and Mike Standen, but could come up with only one run.

The fifth inning saw the "Splendid Tendid" strike once more. A bases loaded error by Rick Whitmyre let in the lone run for the opposition. Following two innings of scoreless ball, the Proteins came up in the bottom of the seventh and final inning faced with a 7-1 disadvantage. Consecutive singles by Bob Zechiel, Mark Standen and John McDonald scored one run and a single by Proctor brought in another as the Proteins looked as though they might come from behind. They didn't, however.

Hiser Named Most Valuable Player

Hank Hiser, league leading hitter and one-man pitching staff of the Black Knights, has been selected as the most valuable player of the Kawanhee Little League for 1967.

Hank receives the award chiefly due to his explosive bat (.583 batting average and a league-leading eight RBI's) and his rubber arm (2 victories and 3 defeats which matches the entire record of the Knights).

Summer Stock At Kawanhee

If there were any talent scouts in the audience at the annual Kawanhee show Friday, August 18, I am sure that they found some replacements for George Hamilton, Andy Williams, Dick Shawn and the Beatles.

Rick Whitmyre and Tim McKee were the directors for this fine display of talent. The white paper used for the scenery backdrop was graciously furnished by the Knowlton & McLeary Printing Company of Farmington, Maine. The boys did a fine job in transforming the stage of the Rex Hall into a stage of quality with the aid of this paper.

The Kawanhee "Rockettes" opened the program with some very fine dancing (I think that is what it was supposed to be). The dancers were: Frank (Bubbles) Watson, Bob Zechiel, Doug Means, Jon Lattimer, Pete Neilson and Scotty Pace. They had a little difficulty getting the dresses to meet all the way around them so they split them down the back; however, this was not noticeable until the finale which required the backsides of some to be visible. Auditions will be held in New York at the "Rockettes" office next week for those boys who are interested in replacing the originals in Radio City. Judging from their dancing ability, I would predict that they will all be back at Kawanhee next season, as they did a much better job as counselors.

Ron Paveni and Steve Stewart from the Crow's Nest Lodge portrayed the "Man and the Jack Ass". Ron led Steve, who was down on all fours, as the Jack Ass pleading for water. Ron kept telling the jacks to have patience, jacks have patience. The act consisted of Acts 1, 2, 3 and 5. A participant in the audience asked about act 4 and the reply was "patience, jacks, patience."

Mike O'Brien and the Lynx Lodge presented "The Sneeze". Mike, a German officer, was inspecting his regiment which consisted of Bob Beach, John Green, Dan Blaylock, Ian Hanigan, Steve MacDonald, Chris Schaefer and Mike Standen, when a sneeze echoed throughout the ranks. When each member questioned denied the sneeze, he shot them (with blanks, that is), until he asked the last member and he said, "Yes, my leader". Then Mike, as the brave German soldier, said "gesundheit".

Mike O'Brien and Bill Lawrence played and sang "Show Me the Outside" and "Winkin', Blinkin' and Nod" for the third act of the program.

The Wildcat Lodge presented the "Case of the Injured Client". Judge was Tom Scott; Mark Standen the lawyer for the defendant; Bob Marx the lawyer for the plaintiff; James Knox the suspect; John Clausen the bailiff; Wally Whitmyre the witness (female witness, that is). However, a witness was not needed as the license plates of the guilty one was imprinted on the victim's chest. It happened to be the license number of a certain red jeep that is staying at Kawanhee this summer. This information was enough to make the guilty person, Chuck Hoffhine, panic and run from the court room shooting (blanks again) everyone concerned. This was a real Perry Mason thriller.

The next act consisted of the Kawanhee Jazz group which included Rick Whitmyre, lead guitar, John Clausen, bass guitar, Ron Paveni, drums, and Tim McKee, vocalist.

The outstanding act of the show was "A Day in the Life of a Camper at Kawanhee". John Willis played the part of the father talking to his son about the good old days that he had experienced at Kawanhee when he was a young boy. John was trying to convince his son, played by Duke Karr (who enjoys Kawanhee the utmost), to go to Kawanhee for the summer. The counselors portrayed an exaggerated routine of a Kawanhee camper starting with reveille through the activity schedule of the entire day, the camping trips, and trips in the bouncing buggy (camp truck), and the experience of getting a camp ready for Taps.

They were poking fun (I hope). Viewing the fact that the counselors playing the various parts have been campers at Kawanhee for several years before becoming counselors, I am sure that they were.

The skit featured: Frank Stewart (Rev. McCleave), Chuck Hoffhine (Bates), Gregg Gidman (Mad Counselor), Mike Meserole (Del Tracy), Bill Lawrence (Ben Bennett), Tim Pears (Mary Baker), Dick Morton (Herb Birch), Tom Hartman (Ed Chace), Fred Ball (G. R. Frank taking pictures of everything). Bill Lawrence then put the camp to bed by playing taps on the saxophone, portraying Mitch Greenawalt. Mike Meserole made a very good rain cloud also as he sprinkled rain over the entire days program, portraying the rainy weather this season.

The Kawanhee Choir furnished the special music of the evening by singing "Green Fields" and "Bandolero". Frank Stewart and Dick Morton were the featured tenors.

The Panther Lodge gave the skit entitled "The Forgetful Judge". Lee McCleave and Dave Bury were the King's guards, Charles Langmuir the King; prisoners were Stony Hinds, Keith Erl (a happy prisoner as he kept giggling throughout his sentencing), Raub Smith, Alan Sweet and Bruce Blaylock. The King left the court room proudly boasting that he was not a forgetful person like they. However, when he stood and removed his robe, something seemed to be missing, unless he wears bermuda shorts of a floral design, that is.

This act ended a very enjoyable evening of fun at Kawanhee and revived the old tradition of Friday night skits of former years. Rick and Tim are to be congratulated for a fine job as directors and Masters of Ceremonies.

Festivities The Last Weekend Of 1967

Just when I was about to write that for the seventh straight week Kawanee enjoyed its traditional Saturday night campfire in our Council Ring on the Point, the weather took a sudden change and forced us indoors.

It has been most unusual to have six straight council fires in the outdoors, so no one was particularly disappointed when the evening rains came. When the old Kawanee spirit is there, the location of the campfire makes very little difference.

It is customary at the last campfire not to read any level points or read the score, but range, archery and sailing awards were presented. The score is kept a deep, dark secret until the awards ceremony.

Mitch Greenawalt opened the program with a few of the old traditional songs and then introduced the campers to a new song called "ONE FINGER, ONE THUMB". This was particularly enjoyable for the campers and parents as well, as motions were put into the song. With a group the size of Kawanee this summer, you can imagine the commotion made when the motions were inserted into the song.

Mike O'Brien and Bill Lawrence had the campers join in the singing of "HE'S GOT THE WHOLE WORLD IN HIS HANDS". This is the type of musical entertainment the campers have been needing for some time. Their approval and satisfaction was evident by their participation and their applause.

Herb Birch and Frank Stewart pitted lodges against each other in various competitive games. The Eagles and Falcons were the first competitors in a relay run around boxes. This sounds easy, but their trips were made backwards. Pete Drake found the floor of the Rec Hall a little hard on a couple of occasions and Doug Wolfe gave his lodge a distance advantage as he breezed right along without difficulty. The Eagles won the second relay when it was changed to "hop" around the boxes. Mark Chapman was the star of this relay as he gave his teammates a distance advantage over their rivals. Todd Taylor, of the Panther Lodge, was the star of the ping pong ball relay. He was the only one to make the round trip without dropping the ball which was being held between two round blocks of wood. Randy Potts and Jim Keny of the Pine Tree and Hawk Lodges finished their leg of the inner tube relay in a dead heat and had to run the last lap again. Jim rolled over the finish line a little before Randy, giving the Pine Tree Lodge the win.

Doug Slocum and Al Drewes of the Birch and Deer Lodges started the competition "flipping" in the "French toast relay". It was to have been a pancake relay, but the pancakes curled up, thus the French toast to the rescue. It seems as if a protruding tongue was helpful in this relay as most of the campers used their tongues to help with the flip. The tongues seemed to flip easier than the toast.

Hank Hiser and Rocky Smith of the Beaver and Moose Lodges led off in the "stick-can" relay. The object of this relay was to balance a stick on your shoulders and not drop the cans that were on either end of the stick. No hands were permitted in keeping the stick in balance. However, Herb Birch didn't say that they couldn't use their head and neck to hold the stick in balance. This little maneuver and quick thinking on the part of Hank Hiser and Todd Tremble solved the problem and brought victory to the Beaver Lodge. Nick Gill had a different solution to the problem—he went backwards, thus eliminating the problem of getting off balance on the turn for the return trip.

Senior Counselors Chuck Hoffhine and Fred Ball decided to help their lodges to victory in the "walk on pegs" relay. However, Fred was left at the starting point while Chuck "Clomped" across the finish line. Mike Standen and John Clausen started the relay. Mike was doing great until he stepped on instead of over the finish line and lost his balance. (The finish line was a stick). Jim Knox was the hero for the lodge by giving them a great lead over his rival. To show their appreciation, Jim was carried back to his seat on the shoulders of his lodge mates.

The Bear, Crow and Badger Lodges completed the competition for the evening. Their task was to pitch a solid circle of wood in the center of an inner tube some 20 feet away. Sounds easy—sure, if you can keep the disc from bouncing in and out. Hal Slocum and Tom Ruhle started the relay by getting two for two on their first try. Bill Proctor was the high point man getting three for three on his first try, thus giving the Bear Lodge the win over the Crow and Badger.

TAPS concluded this most exciting evening and the best campfire of the season, in spite of the weather.

Sunday morning brought forth a new day and the sunshine, but the dampness of the evening rains forced our worship service indoors. Mr. Chace read from Exodus and Luke for the morning's scripture lesson. Bob Duffey read the special prayer of the morning. Mike O'Brien and Bill Lawrence played and sang "HE". Rev. Stanley McCleave chose for his topic "The Roads of Life". "The road that we choose to follow should be full of adventure and excitement but we should follow a road of usefulness. We should grow physically as well as spiritually as we travel this chosen road of life and remember that all the while GOD is our way of life and HE is with us always."

Sunday evening vespers were held in the Rec Hall with music, games and a short story concluding the program. As we rose and faced the West to sing TAPS, we realized that this would be the last weekend that we would spend together at Kawanhee this summer. Sadness for leaving but joy for remembering, filled our hearts as we sang. As we sang "Day Is Done", we watched the lake slide into obscurity to bring the evening to a close.

Chief Kawanhee Bids Farewell To 1967

A feather and war paint-bedecked Ed Chace, portraying Chief Kawanhee, bade farewell to the campers of 1967 Tuesday evening, August 22.

The rains of the early evening ceased thus making the previously cancelled campfire possible. Much to the disappointment of several parents and friends, however, as they missed the ceremony that is so very much a part of the camp and its followers, Kawanhee apologizes to those who were not informed of the change.

Frank Stewart and Barry Gidman of the campcraft department speedily groomed the huge fire in the council circle and had things ready to go within twenty minutes. Frank Stewart perched himself some 75 feet up in a stately pine tree and shot a flaming arrow to light the fire to signal the opening of the ceremony.

The campers and friends stood proudly before the blazing fire as Herb Birch called Kawanhee to make his appearance and give his blessing to the sachems of the 1967 season before they departed for their homes. The Chief had the sachems read the message which was left to the campers of the 1968 season telling them about their season and wishing them well. The message was then buried by the fire for the 1968 sachems to read when they arrive at Kawanhee.

The Chief then asked all to join hands in friendship as he bade farewell until next season. He asked each camper to place a candle in a north window Christmas Eve to bring together all sachems of Kawanhee. As TAPS echoed throughout the tall pines, sadness filled many hearts as they realized that this was the last council fire that this group would ever be together. However, the parting was also filled with joyful memories of the many and valuable experiences of the past eight weeks.

The 1967 Sachems were: Mark Chapman, Eagle Lodge; Mark Schiewetz, Falcon Lodge; Dave Bury, Panther Lodge; Jack Abbott, Pole Cat Lodge; Duke Karr, Pine Tree Lodge; Tim Williams, Hawk Lodge; Paul Doege, Deer Lodge; Trent Taylor, Birch Lodge; Jimbo Barnes, Beaver Lodge; Nick Gill, Moose Lodge; Mike Standen, Lynx Lodge; Mark Standen, Wildcat Lodge; Andy Kauffman, Bear Lodge; Hal Slocum, Crow's Nest Lodge and Tim McKee of the Badger Lodge.

SEASON CLOSURES WITH BANQUET AND AWARDS CEREMONY

Banquet

The old dining hall of Kawanhee was bedecked in its Sunday clothes August 23, for the closing banquet of the 1967 season. Bunch berries and different varieties of greens adorned the dining hall, transforming it into a most magnificent banquet hall.

The tables were decorated with pine cones, red berries and greens gathered from the area by Mrs. Frank, Mrs. Bates, Miss Baker, Tim McKee and the members of the Bear Lodge. Each camper had a birch bark canoe filled with nuts and mints made by the ladies of Kawanhee. The Chef's children, Darlene, Sherry, Tammy and Billy helped with the festivities by collecting the red bunch berries. Their father, Dick Crouch, the chef, provided the campers with a gourmet's delight of roast turkey, dressing, potatoes, gravy, cranberry sauce, olives, celery sticks and the most delicious home-baked bread. To complete the meal Emma and Tessie provided each camper with a serving of cake with a small "K" inscribed on each piece.
