Who's Who — The Maroons

The Maroons rebounded with some four hundred points to show the Greys who's who in the battle for points at Kawanhee this 1970 season. A bit shaken up by the sudden lag in advancement during the previous week, Hank Hiser and his high-rising Maroons blazed a trail in every department except three during the week. They were swamped by the Greys in Sailing, Tennis and Nature, but they left the Greys in their backwash in every other department, emerging top-side with a 450-point advantage for the fifth counting.

As chief scribesman, Del Tracy, pointed out, the 1970 season is some 12,000 points ahead of last season thus indicating that the campers are really determined to push to the top come the final counting.

Todd Tremble and his Grey Trembles didn't feel too dejected as they well know that 400 points is nothing compared to the final count and they are determined to get with it this next week and find those valuable points themselves that the Maroons have been turning in week after week. They are there — who will find them this sixth week of the 1970 Kawanhee Season — Todd predicts "Grey" here on in; however, Hank predicts "Maroon". Will it necessitate a flip of the coin to find the hue the rest of the season or will it take levels, levels, levels? I would predict, being a layman on the subject, that it will take the three D's to become victorious come August 22nd — DESIRE, DETERMINATION and DRIVE. The score to date: Maroons 9188; Greys 8700.

Camping Fever Hits Kawanhee

The beautiful weather of the past two weeks has given Kawanhee braves camping fever and it is very contagious. The Falcons, not to be out-done by the Eagles, journey to Little Echo Beach for their over-night, Tuesday, July 22nd. Preparing their own meal, fixing their own bed-rolls for the night, and singing as they gathered around the campfire, filled their evening. What a treat for boys to sleep in the great outdoors and have their way lighted by thousands of bright stars! The "sandman's" job was easy this night as they drifted into fantasy land, counting the stars. Walker Putnam and John Nolan supervised the trip. The campers making the trip were: Darren Defoe, Scott Fisher, Craig Grayson, Matt Howard, Will Ireland, Trent Licklider, Bill Rodgers and Danny Thomas.

Maroons Topside In Second Watermeet

The Maroons slid by the Greys to take the second watermeet of the season. Bill Taylor and Rich Davis have conducted a spectacular water program this season and this second meet exemplifies the outcome of their teachings. Swimming skills on both sides were performed with great speed and perfection of strokes.

The skill of kayaking started the program with eight boys racing to victory. Ralph Tice led the race at first but became confused and rounded the boat on the wrong side, thus losing his balance of stroke and settled for third place. Hank Hiser crossed the finish line first with Todd Taylor right behind for second place, giving the Maroons a first and a second for the event.

Alex Feick tagged first to start the second event of the program giving his team-mate, Mike Haynes, a good lead in the eleven-year-old relay. Ramon Azua opened both jets and crossed his lap in record time giving the Greys their first victory of the event. However, due to the scoring, the Maroons taking second and third, received as many points as the first place team, thus making the Greys settle for a tie of 12-12 at this point.

The Junior C's displayed their skills at keeping their mouths closed in the "spoon and egg race". If you know many 8 and 9 year old boys, you know they didn't have too much success; due to giggling, they dropped their eggs. When the egg dropped, they had to dive for it. It was not a hard-boiled egg; so you can see, that delicate handling was necessary. Bill Rodgers, the quietest that I have seen him all season, managed to cross the lane with spoon and egg intact, but Darren Defoe and John Tulloss had a little difficulty and lost their eggs. A helpful soul found the egg for John and tossed it to him but it missed its mark and Darren received a free "egg shampoo". Darren and John fulfilled the Kawanhee motto "finish what you start" by finishing their lap — smashed egg and all.

Johnny Rullan displayed excellent form and skill in the butterfly as he "flew" across the docks in record time to give his teammates a lead in the fourth event of the meet, the breaststroke and butterfly relay.

The disrobing relay gave the spectators the humor of the day and the contestants the almost impossible task of donning wet shirts and trousers. However, Mark Schiewetz and John Ireland had the art down to precision timing and headed for home in record time. John closed the gap and used the air in his inflated trousers to propel him to victory ahead of his Grey teammate.

Kawanhee was fortunate in having a distinguished diver for the meet in the name of "Izzy Dizzy Taylor". He has performed before kings, queens, princesses and princes and just plain folk, but never has he been more received than he was at Kawanhee. He did spectacular dives such as: The Parachute Dive, The Double Jackknife with one eye closed, The Scrambled Egg Dive, The Stinko Rumford Duck Dive, and The Bouncing Buggy Stripped Gear Dive. All these dives were rated 65-70-80 in degree of difficulty. He challenged the camp's best swimmer to a race and the campers unanimously chose Johnny Rullan as their entrant to race against the world-famous Izzy. However, Johnny's skill was too much for Izzy as he misjudged the water and as he dived, he landed on the small diving board instead of in the water. His perfect strokes gained him no ground at all and his remark was derogatory as he complained of the hard water in Lake Webb. When he realized his mistake, it was too late, Johnny had reached the other dock and had claimed the victory for the race. Kawanhee would like to engage Izzy for another show but his price per performance is outlandish and we are not sure that his busy schedule would let him give a benefit performance here. However, with a little persuasion and a little TLC from Mrs. Izzy, we might be able to arrange a repeat performance.

Izzy's real name is Rev. Bill Taylor, former Ohio State Swimming coach who has perfected the art of clown diving and enjoys thoroughly making people laugh and enjoy themselves.

The results of the meet are as follows:

½ Mile Kayak Race: FIRST: Hank Hiser, (M); SECOND: Trent Taylor, (M), THIRD: Ralph Tice (G); FOURTH: Ferd Schoedinger, (G); FIFTH: Ken Chapman, (G); SIXTH: John McDonald, (M).

Androscoggin Kayak Races

Thursday evening, July 23rd, saw the departure of twelve of Kawanhee's best kayakers in the Bouncing Buggy for the kayak slalom races to be held on the Androscoggin River at Errol, New Hampshire. After a short stop at Screw Auger Falls in scenic Grafton Notch, we arrived at Mollidgewock Campground just before sunset. Wasting no time, we quickly set up camp and got in the "sack" to dream of the whitewater we'd be paddling on the next day.

Rising to a beautiful day, we breakfasted on "wammies" cooked by master chef, Bill Wambaugh. After breakfast, Steve Ruhle conducted a short whitewater instruction clinic, after which all hands were easily paddling out in the current, attempting to make gates about lunchtime. We started on a five-mile, down-river trip of alternating rapid and slow waters to the Brown Company bridge, where we lunched and then proceeded with a slightly more advanced clinic, teaching boys how to handle themselves in heavier water. We returned just before dinner, to more practice at the slalom course. Just before sunset, we drove the boats up north of Errol and sent the most skillful of our paddlers to run the heavy rapids under the Route 26 bridge.

Saturday, race day, again dawned clear, beautiful and hot. The race got underway a little past ten with over 100 competitors. Each racer took two runs on the course. A slalom racer runs alone on the course against the clock while penalties are assessed for touching poles on the gates. The better score of the two runs counts.

After all the results were in, we placed as follows: In the beginner class: First: Hank Hiser; Third: Trent Taylor; Fourth: John McDonald; Seventh: Rich Darmanin; Ninth: Ferd Schoedinger; Eleventh: Bill Wambaugh; Fourteenth: Ken Chapman. In the junior class: Third: Phil Drake;

Sixth: Alan Sweet; Eighth: Pete Drake; Ninth: Gus Cook; Tenth: John Wambauhg.

To top it all, the team came home with a large silver cup for being the best boys' camp at the races.

Mount Abram Trip

The time: July 1969; the place: Mt. Abram, Kingfield, Maine. Special agents Steve Ruhle, Chuck Hoffhine, and Tom Ruhle do preliminary reconnaissance of abandoned Fire Warden's trail on the mountain in preparation for a full-fledged assault by the Camp Kawanhee Katahdin Group on August 1, 1970, found trail after one hour of searching, and after exploration, returned to camp convinced that the following year's assault would be successful.

The time: August 1, 1970. Katahdin group returned with Steve Ruhle to site of preliminary exploration of Mt. Abram confident of a successful assault. There was one problem, though. During the intervening year, active logging operations had been going on in the immediate area of the trail. We returned to find the whole area in disarray and the trail nowhere to be found. Finally, after two hours of searching and interrogation of loggers, the trail was found and the group started up.

Since berry season was upon us, we were able to reach out along the trail and grab wild raspberries as we passed all the way up to the old Warden's cabin, 2.5 miles up the trail. After discarding the classic PB & J sandwiches for later consumption, we spent our lunch break in the field of raspberries in front of the cabin. In the next 1.5 miles to the summit, the trail ascended 2000 feet, much of it over lichen-covered boulders, finally terminating at the old fire tower.

After a short stop near the summit, at which time we picked and ate wild blueberries, we quickly descended to the truck and returned to camp to a later supper of ham sandwiches after a very beautiful trip.

The campers on the trip were: Jim Pitt, Ken Chapman, Mike Cornelius, Eric Etherington, Henry Beckhoff, John McDonald, Fritz Feick, Ramon Azua, Trent Taylor, and Counselors, Steve Ruhle and Kent Rigsby.

The Hot Shots Roll The Wheels

In the only game of the week, Altmaier's Hot Shots defeated the Wheels 65-37, despite an excellent spurt in the first half. Due to several trips, the Wheels had a grand total of only five players, who in the second half, were exhausted. The fast break combination of Zechiel, Hiser and Altmaier controlled the entire third quarter. Furthermore, the potent bench of Sherman Hanna, Jeff Morgan, Mark Schiewetz and Doug Sensenbrenner was able to relieve the Hot Shots. Mike Altmaier, John Morr, Tim Keny, Don Childs and Jim Pitt accumulated the thirty-seven Wheel points. Hiser, at the scoring end of the fast break, was the highest scorer of the game with twenty-five points.

The fate of the scheduled Wheeler-Rullan match is undecided. If weather permits, it will be played. If not, Wheeler must forfeit. Also there is an East-West All-Star game scheduled for Sunday, August 9th. Playing for the East will be: Hiser, Zechiel, Leiper, Whitmyre, Childs, Ruhle, Rullan and the Standen brothers. The Altmaier brothers, Davis, Monroe, Alexander, Estabrook, Rigsby, Wheeler and Tim Keny will win for the West.

Market Ties Up Hertz Troika

Marmalade Moves Within Two Games of Reds

In by-far-the-most-important week of Little League play in the 1970 K.L.L. campaign, The Black Market and Orange Marmalade have shaken up both The Hertz and Cooke Divisions to the extent that only the hapless Purple Lepidolites are sure of where they will end up. Unleashing the season's biggest offensive to date, The Oranges rolled over the Lepidolites by a 15-1 score, collecting six extra-base hits and five singles in the process. On the following night, Tuesday, July 28th, after losing the Drake family (Pete, Phil and Molly) earlier in the day, the Orangemen won their second outing of the week by upsetting The Gang-Green, 4-3, in the bottom half of the last inning.

The Green gang's loss, of course, threw the Hertz Division into a potential state of chaos as it set up a possible three-way tie if the Blacks could beat the league-leading Blue Genes in the week's final contest. But while the well-publicized Hertz circuit mounted in tension and electricity, eyes were also turning to The Cooke conference where The Marmalade, by virtue of their dual victories, found themselves only two games behind the once-invincible Red Skeletons who were idle. With three games to go for each team and given the possibility that The Oranges might win all their games, The Reds would have to win twice to avoid a tie and at least once to escape extinction.

Hiking up the drama count of this existing situation, The Black Market went out last Friday, in the final sunlight of July, and whipped The Blue Genes, 8-1. Market hurler, John Gill, fresh from his outstanding All-Star game performance and on the rebound since absorbing two losses at the season's start, evened his slate at 2-2 while teaming up with Doug Allan (and the infamous "Dougie Beater") at the plate to spearhead The Black drive. Backed by flawless Marketeer fielding, Gill limited The Genes to two hits and a single run in the second inning while striking out ten and walking only three. Losing pitcher Fred Abels, who has gained a decision in every Blue game, fanned eleven and boosted his league-leading strike out total to 55.

In the two Orange Marmalade victories, which brought The Oranges within one game of .500, the deciding factor was Sandy McCandless who doubled and homered in The Purple pounding and doubled and pitched in The Gang-Green uprising. In the first game it was McCandless at the plate with help from Phil Drake and Carl Wolf (2 doubles), and a sterling performance on the mound by Alex Feick who struck out nine and allowed only two hits en route to his first win.

Despite strong pitching by Tom West and the extra-base blasts of Stan McCleave and Herman Tice, the Gang-Green couldn't stop The Orange momentum that reached steam roller proportions in the 11-hit triumph achieved only the night before. Down 3-0 after three innings, The Oranges capitalized on a double by McCandless, a single by Mark Schiewetz and two Green errors to tie the score. Drifting to the bottom of the sixth and final frame with the game deadlocked, once again McCandless took the initiative and raced around the bases on a single, to the accompaniment of two gang miscues and secured the victory.

John Gill and Alex Feick Lead Leaders

As K.L.L. Statistics Are Released

The Black Market's pitcher-infielder, John Gill, with a .667 average, is leading The Kawanhee Little League in batting. Hot on his heels, according to the recently released batting and pitching statistics by the Commissioner's Office, is Alan Sweet of The Blue Genes, who is hitting .583, Sandy McCandless (Orange) at .538, Fritz Feick (Reds) at .533, and Doug Allan (Blacks) at .462 round out the top five.

Surprisingly enough, the younger of the Feick brothers, Alex, is leading The League, with Sherman Hanna of The Reds, in pitching with a 0.00 earned run average. Filling in the first five are three of the five work horses (3 or more decisions) in the circuit; Fritz Feick with a 1.00 ERA, John Gill at 1.25 and Tom West of the Greens at 1.80.

Back to batting, The Black Market has the highest team batting average at .250 followed by Orange Marmalade at .245 and Gang-Green at .216.

Weekend At Kawanhee

A dozen, long-stem roses to the Make Weather man and a big thanks to the Maker for the beautiful weather enjoyed by Kawanheans the past two weeks. For some it has been too hot, but for members of the Kawanhee tribe, located on Beautiful Lake Webb, it has been delightful. The waters calm and refreshing, the weather warm to hot to cool come night time, the air fresh and clean, the scenery, sheer beauty — what more could one ask for.

Of course, Bill Taylor and Rich Davis are becoming a bit water-logged, but they are not complaining. They have held the water front open for extra periods for those refreshing dips after a busy activities schedule. Water skiing has been going full speed, the boating department, operating under a handicap, has been doing yeoman service, sailing has been breezing along — sometimes with Tom Taylor having to blow on the sails, and fishing has been near capacity. All the while, the inland activities have been operating full speed ahead enjoying the beautiful, sunny days of the Maine climate, knowing full well, that maybe tomorrow, the rains may come. And come they did on Saturday just in time to force our traditional campfire indoors. Bill Proctor prepared a huge bonfire just in case the weather remained sunny, but it was in vain for this week anyway. However, we are now ready come next Saturday should the sun remain with us. As I have said before, it takes more than a little rain to dampen the spirits of Kawanhee braves when they set out to accomplish something.

The morning rains of Saturday subsided around noon and the Maroon-Grey water meet was held. Though Mt. Tumbledown didn't make an appearance during the event, the hue turned a bit Maroon as they took the water meet by winning the last event, under protest of the Greys, thus giving them the win of the second water event of the season.

The traditional softball battle between the Jr. and Sr. Counselors was played Saturday evening with a furious neck-and-neck battle right up to the last inning when Brian Birch and John Detrick started the drive to victory with their long drives (aided by the wet grass) to right field.

The Saturday evening campfire was held in the Rec Hall due to the dampness of the council ring. Since so many levels had been earned during the week, the "fun" of the evening was eliminated in order to make time for each boy to be recognized for his accomplishments. Guess we'll just have to extend the hours in a day to get everything in at Kawanhee because a campfire without "fun and games and music" is just not the same.

The Eagles, Sam Detrick, John Detrick, Rob Marcucci, Mike Darmanin, Teddy Wolf and John Tulloss, formed a perfect pyramid which they have been perfecting in wrestling this past week. Scott Fisher received the "Splash Award" for the week for almost losing his trunks in the water meet and almost, his pants at campfire.

Sunday morning the campers awakened to a glorious, sunny Sabbath. This is the Lord's Day and it was evident by the beauties surrounding the area. Church was held in the Chapel on the point overlooking the clear, blue waters of Lake Webb with towering Mt. Tumbledown as the backdrop. As you sit there and meditate with God, how could one help but realize that "This is Thy World and I am Thine." Rev. McCleave conducted the Service using Matthew as his text. He talked with the boys about father and son relationship, and freedom given us by God to do right and wrong. He emphasized that even though we might do wrong at times, we should feel free in believing that God still loves us and will help us do right the next time. He was assisted in the service by Dave Alexander who read the scripture, Herb Birch, the prayer and Tom Taylor and Larry Pray providing the spiritual music.

Leonard, Emma and Flora outdid themselves again and presented the campers with a good reason for their chant "we want the cooks", at the noon meal Sunday. It is going to be hard for them to prepare a special treat for the Banquet, August 22nd, because they have been preparing banquet meals every Sunday since camp opened. Hot rolls, baked-fried chicken, dressing, potatoes, gravy, cranberry sauce, pickles, olives, celery, milk and ice cream — how can you think of something more scrumptious than that, Leonard?

Sunday afternoon provided the usual for the campers. A free afternoon is always welcomed, especially when the weather is so great. Trips into town (a two-mile hike) to squander their allowance, water skiing, swimming, boating, sailing, ping pong, or just "goofing" around the camp occupied the afternoon.

Appetites were not very great at "suppah" time, but hamburgers, potato chips and sliced tomatoes were the main course, topped with chocolate cake, but have you ever seen a boy that didn't go for hamburgers?

Vespers, a single candle service, conducted by Bill Taylor, was held in the Chapel on the Point. He was assisted in the service by Steve Fink, Tim McKee and Dave Alexander using "What God Means to Me" as their topic of discussion. At the conclusion of the service, the campers followed the leaders in silence as they marched, lighted by candles, to the Rec Hall for the showing of a film on Kayaking.

As TAPS, played by Lee McCleave, echoed softly throughout the stillness of the night, you could almost hear everyone say, "Thanks God for watching over us here at Kawanhee" a good place for boys to learn by doing.
