Marvels of A Maine Trip

BY BILL TAYLOR

SMALL'S FALLS

On Tuesday, July 29, seventeen campers from Eagle, Falcon, and Panther lodges made an all-day trip to see the marvels of the mountain and lake regions of western Maine.

Clarence Bateman drove the Bouncing Buggy with his usual skill and verve, and guided the group to many interesting sights.

The first marvel was an unscheduled event, when 200 yards from the center of Weld a fully-antlered bull moose stepped onto the road, ran ahead of the truck for thirty yards, then bounded back into the woods.

Next, the campers enjoyed a delightful hour hiking along the stream and falls at Small's Falls. This is a favorite scenic area for residents of Maine and tourists.

The sunny weather encouraged Bates to drive us to the ski area at Saddleback Mountain. Enroute, an unusual weather phenomenon occurred. A cold mountain storm with winds, clouds, and drizzle completely covered the top of the mountain by the time we arrived. Shivering campers looked quickly up at the ski trails and chair lifts and jumped back into the Bouncing Buggy while the counselors tied down the awnings for warmth. A thermometer on the side of the ski lodge registered a cold 45 degrees.

The truck bounced down the mountain and into the beautiful village of Rangeley which is the focal point of the Rangeley Lake Recreation Region. Here, we had lunch in a shelter house near the beautiful lake, still shivering from the cold breezes.

The question arose as to whether we should return to camp because of the weather, but the boys gamely chose to go on. So, on we went, past the village of Oquossoc and up into the Blue Mountain range. At the "Height-of-land", we paused to enjoy a breathtaking vista of large Mooselookmeguntic Lake.

From there, we cruised through the beautiful mountains to the Swift River and to the POT HOLES near Roxbury. By this time the skies had cleared, the sun had warmed the air to 75 degrees, an increase of 30 degrees in 90 minutes. Everyone had a great swim in the pot holes and slid over small falls into cool, clear deep water. It was an invigorating, exciting time.

Bates turned the nose of the buggy toward camp and we

"We came to Maine to avoid this kind of weather," everyone moaned last week. The temperatures climbed along with the Grey's team's score, reaching a record 104 degrees on Friday in Portland. The heat and humidity drove campers and staff into the lake, the only cool place in camp.

The lean-and-hungry Appalachian Trail hikers returned for their first "break", and found their dining hall table had been unsurpassed by counselors. The boating and trips departments were busy transporting two canoeing groups to and from the Chain-O-Ponds, near the Canadian border. The youngest campers had a special all-day trip of their own. Shakespeare buffs braved the heat and lack of air-conditioning to enjoy a magnificent King Lear at Monmouth.

The busy week ended at the Saturday campfire, with campers contributing ever-more-ingenuous verses to "You Can't Get to Heaven", and competing in lodge games. B. A. revealed the score - Greys still ahead, 12,271 to 9,438 - and the traditional cheers echoed followed by the singing of taps: "Day is done, gone the sun, from the lake, from the hills, from the sky. All is well, safely rest, God is nigh."

followed the Swift River for a quick look at Coos Canyon before taking the Byron Road toward Weld.

At Bates' tree farm, we stopped for 45 minutes to see him feed a young pet Cooper's Hawk, to pick wild raspberries, and to run along the edge of the stream.

Then we slowly drove over the dirt road past the Gap, past Tumbledown, and on to camp. It was a great trip and we certainly saw many of Maine's natural marvels.

Bill Taylor and senior camper Francois Morissette assisted Bates and agreed that it was a "super" day of fun.

Mercy Killing:

JC's Take Pennant

If you were listening during our last episode of "As the SC's Turn (on the spit)," you might recall that the Junior Counselor softball team needed only one victory to tie, and two to clinch the 1975 Counselor Series title. You also might recall that previous episodes were rather soap-opera like in their lack of excitement (unless you're a JC fan).

Well, this week there's good news and bad news. First the good news: The SC's finally gave the JC's a run for the money. Now the bad news: The JC's got the money anyway.

In an exciting weekend two-game series, the JC's fought off repeated Senior comebacks, rallies, and seven hits to clinch first the tie and then the title for the first time in recent history.

Schiewetz Single
Sinks Seniors

Saturday's game was a thriller through seven. The JC's, as usual, drew first blood when B. A. led off the game with a single, Nick Gill walked, and Kim Merchant knocked out an RBI single.

The SC's bounced back with a run in the bottom of the inning. Andy Williams led off with a single, the only SC hit in the inning. Number two hitter Mark Standen hit what looked like a sure double play ball to Kim Merchant at short, but Merchant's throw was a tad wide, rookie second baseman Jim McDonald bobbled the ball, and both runners were safe. Then Brian Birch advanced the runners to second and third with his grounder to third. With one out, Zeke hit one of the few ground balls that ever went through Kim Merchant, and Williams crossed the plate to tie the score.

In the top of the second Fritz

Monroe and Mark Schiewetz started off with singles. But Zeke bore down and the next three Juniors couldn't get the ball out of the infield.

The SC second was similar, except that the Seniors loaded the bases with nobody out. Bruce Birch and Chip Morris started things off with singles, and OJ grounded one that was too hot for McDonald. Bill Albershardt hit a sinking line drive to center that Fritz Monroe somehow caught and threw to second, catching Morris off guard for a double play. Williams lined out to second to end the threat.

The JC's got two across in the third on singles by Gill, D. L., and Mark Sengelmann, to take a 3-1 lead. That score held up until the bottom of the fifth, when Mark Standen blasted a stand-up triple and was knocked in by a Brian Birch single.

Both teams got single runs in the sixth, and the SC's knotted the score at four in the seventh. Williams and Standen both fled out to start the inning. Then Brian Birch hit a single to left, and Nick Gill misjudged the ball allowing him to reach third. Zeke singled him in, tying the score.

But the JC's apparently got bored with the competition. In the eighth, Sengelmann led off and reached on an error. Hank Hiser singled, and after Monroe popped out, Mark Schiewetz knocked in the go-ahead run with a single. Hiser was thrown out on a close play at the plate, but Schiewetz scored what was to be the winning run when Baker singled.

The JC's went on to notch three more runs in the ninth on DL's second home run of the year, a shot to straightaway center field that rolled by the warning courts to the base of Shelter Hill. Challenged only by a brief one run ninth inning Senior rally, they won it 9-5, clinching a tie for the pennant.

Champagne for JC's;

Euthanasia for SC's

In what proved to be the last Official Regular Season JC-SC softball game, the Seniors fought, clawed, scratched, rallied, and yes, lost it all in a thriller that actually took all nine innings to decide, 12-11.

The SC's, determined not to be embarrassed again, started out the night with a big Kawanhee Cheer. With blood in their eyes, Andy Williams, Mark Standen, and Brian Birch started the contest with consecutive singles, and all three scored as Bruce Birch singled and Chip Morris doubled.

The Juniors, only momentarily taken back by this surprising uprising, grabbed three runs of their own in the bottom of the inning. Nick Gill walked and immediately scored on Kim Merchant's triple. DL knocked in Merchant with a single, and scored on Hank Hiser's single to knot the score.

The SC's once again grabbed the lead with three runs in the third, on singles by Standen, Brian Birch, Zeke, Craig Miller, and Morris. The Juniors, not far behind, grabbed two in the bottom of the inning on singles by BA and Sengelmann and a Merchant double.

The SC's heard footsteps. Tim Williams, making his comeback after a bout with strep, rapped his first hit of the season. Brother Andy followed with a single, and

Peppers Hot After 1½ Years, Cool Juice

The Green Peppers actually did it. They won a game. The color green has been associated with defeat for 1½ years. The Evergreens accomplished a 0-8 record last season and the Peppers seemed cruising toward the same inverted pinnacle until this season's Green team broke their losing habit. They did it in fine fashion, trouncing the once beaten Orange Juice 13-12.

Hard hitting, slick fielding Mike Stockhausen stole the show. His three for four plate performance (including one double and two RBIs) led a potent Pepper attack. On defense, second baseman Mike made the game-ending play... and what a play! With two out in the sixth and the final frame, the Green were up by a single run. Pitcher Braustein walked Paul Summers and Carter Messick. With the tying and go-ahead runs on base, Braustein bore down, getting Lars Jensen to strike out and forcing Doug Chakmakian to line out to Will Fleming at short. John Ketterer, known for his power up the right-center alley, was up next.

Stockhausen moved back a step at second. The count was full... then smack, John ripped the ball through the box, past the mound. Stockhausen lunged to his right and snared the ball on the outfield grass. He then reversed direction and dove to second, barely nipping Summers... and there it was. The Peppers won number one.

Waves Roll And The Pennant Chase Is On

One week ago the Pink Panthers and the Orange Juice were coasting on a beefy two game lead over the distant Blue Waves and Green Peppers. It seemed to all eyes that these two teams were shoo-ins for the playoffs. (The number one and two teams at the end of the regular season play for the camp title.) But how wrong we were.

The Blue Wave definitely fits the textbook definition of a "dark horse" club. After dropping their initial three decisions, The Blue Wave, with their buddies Mo and Mentum (you know them) have taken four in a row and are but a half game off the pace set by the league - leading Orange Juice. This week the Wave bats pounded the opposition (the Panthers and Peppers) for 27 hits and 40 runs, downing these teams 16-2 and 24-6, respectively.

Against the Peppers, fireballing ace Richie Popp nullified the Green sticks, giving up a mere three hits. On the offensive end, muscle men Adam Nigaglioni and Paul Davis collected three hits apiece, while pitcher Popp slapped out a double and triple. Newly acquired Ed Lowmyer joined in with three runs and one basenock.

21 runs in three frames? It happened Wednesday night at Chip Button Memorial Field. The Juice created havoc on the Pink Panthers, pounding out fifteen safeties. Steve Minus continued his year-long batting tear with four hits for the evening. Lou San Juan spun a one hitter and collected four hits himself. Carter "It" Messick and teammate Doug Colescott got two hits apiece. As a result of the defeat the Panthers fell into a second place tie with the Blue Wave, and the Juice took undisputed control of first place.

Soccer Makes My Toes Tingle

BY ANDY WILLIAMS

The Kawanhee Soccer Leagues finally got under way this past week with all seven teams seeing action in five games. There are two separate leagues: The World Cup League (12 and under) with four teams and The Kyle Rote League (13-Junior Counselor). All the games this year will be played on Dust Field, appropriately named after Chief Kawanhee's great-great grandson, Bruce "Dusty" Field.

The teams looked very evenly matched, with a total of three out of five games ending in a tie after regulation play. Gregory and Poulton kicked off the Kyle Rote season (teams and rosters are the same as H.A.L. and K.L.L.), with Dana's team winning the closely contested match in overtime, two goals to one. Frank DiGiacomo scored both goals for the winners, with Captain Dana Gregory getting credit for both the assists. Oscar Shamamian scored the lone goal for the losers.

In the only other Kyle Rote League game, Gregory's team was once again victorious, whipping Rick Stockhausen's team 4-2. Gregory and DiGiacomo again paired up to score three of the four goals, this time with Dana scoring the goals and Frank with an assist. The other goal was scored by the Venezuelan Viper, Andres Schaffer. Miguel Nunez and Rick Stockhausen scored for the losers.

At the week's end, Gregory's team led the league at 2-0, with Dana and DiGiacomo leading in scoring.

Three games were played in the World Cup League, with Blue and Pink playing to a 2-2 tie after two five minute overtime periods.

Little Richard's Ends Slide; Drops Poultry 14-13

The only action this week in the H. A. L. summer circuit saw the L'il Richards of Rick Stockhausen take a game, and with it second place, from Poulton's Poultry. In stopping a three game losing streak, the L'il Richards got to Bird pitcher Jerry Wolf for thirteen hits and fourteen runs in their best game of the season. The Poultry did very well themselves, though, in pounding out sixteen hits, but they could only punch across thirteen tallies, and fell two runs short of winning the game.

The Poultry scored all but one of their runs in the first three innings as they bunched their hits and walks together to count the most. Chris Poulton, "Bubs" DiGiacomo, Jim McDonald, and Oscar Shamamian all reached base their first four times at bat to score on hits by Pete Seely, Henry Shamamian, and Peter Lindquist, these three getting eight RBI's among them.

Adding another run in the sixth, the Poultry were up 13-7 when the pizza-men came to bat in their half of the inning. Steve Colescott and Brian Day both singled and scored on hits by Rick Stockhausen and Bob Smith to start a scoring spree. Jose Valles, Miguel Nunez and Andres Schaffer followed with three more singles which loaded the bases for Jim Roe. Roe lashed a triple and scored himself to provide the winning margin.

The Poultry couldn't score in the seventh, so L'il Richards won 14-13 to take second place, ½ game ahead of the Poultry.

Standen reached on a fielder's choice when Merchant threw Tim out at third. With men at first and second and one out, Brian Birch (whose initials also stand for Big Bat) stepped to the plate. After pulling a ball deep down the left field line but foul (just for practice), Brian found a B. A. pitch to his liking and, to the surprise of the JC outfield, lashed it deep down the right field line. Fair. The only thing to touch it after Birch's bat were pine trees; his long awaited first home run of the season.

This sent the SC's soaring ahead 9-5; but a four run lead against the 1975 JC's is like a water pistol against the army: bound to be gunned down. Nick Gill started the comeback with a triple, followed by a Kim Merchant double, a DL single, a Fritz Monroe single, and two costly SC errors. By the time Baker fled to Tim Williams in deep right to end the inning, the JC's had tallied five times and led 10-9.

The SC offense finally woke up again in the eighth. Morris led off with a single, and OJ reached on a fruitless double play attempt. Morris scored when Scott McMinn grounded to third, and Tim Williams' second hit of the night, a bunt single, put runners at first and third. OJ barely made it home on Andy Williams' grounder, tying the score at 11.

In the bottom of the ninth, with a pennant at stake, DL fled out to left. Mark Sengelmann hit a hard grounder to Standen at third. The ball hit Standen's glove and bounced up and over him, allowing Sengelmann to reach second. Then Hank Hiser drew a walk and Fritz Monroe stepped to the plate. Monroe already had three hits and two RBI's on the night. He found the right Zechiel pitch and laced it up the middle, and Sengelmann crossed the plate as the last run in a short season.

Now that the JC-SC show has been cancelled, softball fans can look forward to such goodies as an East-West game, a possible Kawanhee "Co-eds" team, and a Rumford vs Kawanhee All Stars match if only the Bucks would answer the phone.

Junior supremacy, however, will not be challenged again until 1976 when, depending upon winter deals, the competition will hopefully be a little better.

Basketball League Report

OJ Sinks Risers

July 25th the B. A. Bounders and Hiser's Risers played a pressure packed game at the Kawanhee Garden. The game was close the whole way with the biggest lead being six points, which both teams held a couple of times during the game.

With forty seconds to go and the score tied at 53 all, the Bounders pulled down a Risers missed shot. With BA running the offense, the Bounders decided to go for the last shot. Everything went smoothly until OJ was caught in the corner with 12 seconds left to play. He finally was able to get the ball to his brother BA who worked the ball down the middle of the lane. BA then gave a perfect pass back to his brother OJ who was wide open 12 feet from the basket. With three seconds left, OJ stripped the cords and the Bounders went wild.

The Risers got off one last shot, but Hank Hiser missed from the corner with a second left in the game.

The Bounders won 55-53, and B. A. led the winners with 23 points. He was backed by OJ, Scott Nagelson, and Dana Gregory who had 14, 10, and 8 points respectively. Hank Hiser and Kim Merchant led the losers with 26 and 21 points.

In the second KBL Junior game of the season, Poulton's Playboys romped over White's Heights 54-20. The Heights, despite the absence of Captain John White and stars Henry Shamamian and Pete Seeley, struggled valiantly but to no avail.

On the other hand, all the Playboys were accounted for and struck in full force, with Captain Chris Poulton scoring 24 points. He was assisted by Charles Abbott, Andres Schaffer, and John Detrick Jr., who scored 18, 10, and 2 points respectively.

The Heights were led in scoring by an unnamed KBL official who was a stand-in for John White, scoring 8, followed by Harold Abram with 4 and Steve Minus. Glen Bowers, Steve Colescott, and Mike Duncan with 2 points apiece.

Being A Kawanhee Sports Column
By HANK HISER and NICK GILL

-CAN YOU BELIEVE IT? 21-0, four RBI's. After losing 13 K.L.L. games, Will Fleming was finally on the winning side. His Peppers edged the Juice 13-12. After the game Will was quoted as saying, "Wow, winning is wierd."

-CAN YOU BELIEVE IT? Yes, it's true...the baseball department works wonders. Paul Davis, hapless hitter (no hits through five games) of the Blue Waves decided to get in some batting instruction during periods. In the following two games, Paul went four for seven, with a double and game played in over 100 degree heat. The game was close in the first half and at halftime the score was tied at 18 all.

But in the second half, the Risers really put their game together and out-played the Mosquitoes. Captain Hank Hiser led all scorers with 25 points for the winners. Kim Merchant backed Hank up with 20 big points. Fritz Monroe, Mark Sengelmann, and Jeff Morgan had 14, 10, and 8 points respectively, for the losers.

Heavy Shevy's

Still Heavy

In another game played in over 100 degree heat at Kawanhee Garden Heavy Shevy's beat the BA Bounders 65-57. The players in the last two heat filled games proved to be in top shape, since no one passed out in temperatures that reached 120 degrees on the playing surface.

Mark Schiewetz led the winners with 35 points and played an outstanding game at both ends of the court. He was backed by Zeke, who had 20 points and led his team in assists.

The Bounders were led by the Altmaier brothers as OJ had 22 points and BA got 21. Dave Alexander, the KBL's number one draft choice, was able to play his first game of the season for the Bounders, and with Dave back the Bounders are really going to be tough in their remaining games.

Stockades came up on top against Poulton's Playboys, 36-33. It seemed to be another Stockade runaway victory at the end of the first half with the Stockades ahead 22-6 and Playboy Captain Chris Poulton in foul trouble. However, Charlie Abbott led the team to the "come back" trail scoring 19 points in the second half.

It was a foul-ridden game indeed with Chris Poulton, Rick Stockhausen, Mack Bell, Chip Trayner, and "Qui-Qui" Nigaglioni, all Stockades except Poulton, fouling out of the game. But they managed to score 6, 20, 2, 4, and 0 respectively.

Abbott took advantage of the Stockade's losses and tried desperately to overcome the 16 point deficit, but Frank DiGiacomo, who scored 8, kept nudging the Stockade's margin out of reach.

Abbott led all scorers with 21 points for the Playboys and was assisted by John Detrick, Jr., and Carter Messick scoring 4 and 2, respectively.

THE LOG

By BILL YARDLEY

(A highlight of the weekly campfire is Bill Yardley's camp log - a humorous, irreverent look at the week's happenings. We present here some excerpts from a recent Log.)

This is the fourth week and everyone is in mid-season form...Candy opened up her front porch barber shop this week. Three customers showed up: Brad Hamilton came in for a shave, John Ketterer wanted a manicure, and Dave Jordan sent in his wig for a grease job and oil change...Trips were coming and going all week. On the Saco River, one group performed a sick job of planning - put everything in the boats except food and axes, apparently leaving the food behind is contagious. Birch lodge took off for an overnighter about 2:00. Birch biggie, Fritz Monroe, returned at 5:00. That's right, the food had been left behind. Meanwhile, on Saco River, a sleeping bag got wet and two guys slept in one - strange bedfellows...Dickie Kirikian was buried in sand from toes to mouth when it came time to eat. The lure of food was great, and Dickie crawled out unassisted, looking like a sand-covered walking beachball. When asked about cleanin' up, he said, "I'll just wait till morning."

Getting up late is becoming quite a problem these days. Bill Warren woke up at 3rd bell, put on jeans over his pajamas, and left them on all day.

Several counselors and their wives went up to Kingfield for dinner Tuesday night. All went well until recently-graduated accountant "Moon River" Williams, tried to figure the bill for the meal and got completely lost in the figures. Continuing, Andy locked his car keys in the auto, requiring "Slippery Fingers" van den Honert to break into the car, which he seemed to do with professional ease. Moving along, Andy's car began to have a strong odor. Robin suspected Moon's shoes, but it turned out the engine was going up in smoke because of a broken radiator hose. The three couples finally ended up with a cozy ride home in Chip Morris' Honda Civic.

Sleepwalker of the week is none other than Birch lodge's Leigh Oliva. Leigh took off for Moose, sat on a bed, and stared at Nick Gill, the shock of which would normally awaken most people, but ole Leigh kept on staring, then got up, and slept his way back to Birch.

The Log has heard of leaving someone high and dry, but now we have a report of leaving someone low and wet. Martin "Beer-Barrel" Huguley, and Henry "Hair-Style" Shamamian were pulling into port in a rowboat when Martin pulled the plug, got on the dock, and left Henry gurgling as the boat sank...

Up at the ole chow hall, the eating scene was observed as Bingham and Blau banged the bell...Blowout Bowers blew the bugle...Finetto and Far-out Fleming flipped the flag...Abbott and Ahman amazed all and announced; arouse, abdomens, and ate...Bell and Bell blessed Bingham, Blayman and Bateman...Warren, Williams, and Wilson were weird waiters...Scott, Seeley, and Spencer spilled, slurped, and slopped soup...Lape, Law, Lou and Lupfer lapped lasagna...McPhail, Minus, and Murphy mixed milk, mayonnaise, and mustard...Ferber and Field foamed and freaked fighting fish fangs...Carnahan and Cramer choked consuming cocoa and catsup...Baffled Bockelman bug-juiced Baker badly...ending eating, Estabrook evacuated everyone...except both bloated and burping Birch brothers...

Don Long's friends keep the log posted on D. L. bugs and Don don't get along...in fact, he has bugaphobia. To help D. L. overcome this problem, two thoughtful fellows put a dead bat in his pajamas. Don-Boy may now be buggy and batty...another report from his friends is D. L.'s practice of loading up on Coppertone...Today, the Little League game was delayed for a Coppertone application...Don wins this week's body beautiful award.

Henry Shamamian tried to get into what he thought was a dessert raffle...he was the big winner, but it was no dessert; he'd won the dish stackin' raffle. Tom Klunk has a bed that self-destructs seconds after being made...The Polecats haven't done too well for several days in inspection, which leaves us wondering, since the only occupants were O. J., Sgt. McDonald, and Pvt. Clellan...This lake, these mountains, this camp...and most importantly, the people who constitute Kawanhee, make life meaningful for us all. The Log, with a light touch, hopes to help Kawanhee mean just a little bit more for each of us.

Leading

Forests are made for weary men, That they may find their soul again.

And little leaves are hung on trees

To whisper of old memories.

And trails with cedar shadows black

Are placed there just to lead men 'back

Past all the pitfalls of success

To boyhood's faith and happiness.

Far from the city's craft and fraud,

O Forest, lead me back to God.

Mary Carolyn Davies
