KAWANHEE OPENS AGAIN

From east and west, busses and cars arrived, bearing boys, footlockers, and duffel bags for Kawanhee's 54th season of "Fun with a Purpose." Returning campers saw first a new visitor's parking lot beside the driveway, then the athletic field, suffering from "winterkill." Too little snow in Maine this winter, combined with low temperatures, destroyed some of the grass. Around the curve in the road, they spotted the new soccer field, bounded by a split rail fence to keep cars out. Then, behold! A bright green shop, brown-trimmed and red-roofed, with a new floor underneath for winter storage of boats, mattresses, and what-have-you. Tom Taylor didn't realize what he was getting into when he began to paint the shop and finished 4 coats and 40 gallons later. Beyond the shop, in place of the dump, is a new volleyball court.

The counselors had been in camp already for some preliminary work and training sessions. A cold, rainy first day failed to dampen spirits as campers and staff happily greeted old friends and met new ones. Boys dashed eagerly from one activity to another, apparently not noticing the weather, even when they were wet and shivering!

Later, enthusiastic applause greeted the announcement of the 1974 team captains. Gray team captain is Chris Charyk, Washington, D.C., veteran Kawanheean here for his 6th year. The Maroon team captain is John Aldrich, Bexley, Ohio, a 5th year Kawanheean. Being a team captain is always a great honor, well deserved by both these 1974 captains.

Thursday afternoon, the two captains announced their team members. The teams caucused amid many cheers, and then met on the athletic field for the initial Tug-of-War. Going into the third round with one win each, the Greys and Maroons seemed evenly matched. A last minute surge saved the day and scored 50 points for the Maroons. It is early to make predictions from one score; all boys will earn achievement levels for themselves and to score points for their teams, cheered on by outstanding captains, as the summer rolls on.

TEMPORARY ENERGY CRISIS

This issue of the Wigwam is being produced in camp. Our customary printed editions will resume with the next issue, when our printing company in Farmington re-opens after a week's vacation. Staff biographies will be featured in the next issue.

SPORTS POST SCRIPT

The Kawanhee Co-eds won their annual softball game against the Skunk Ridge All-Stars, by default. The game, scheduled for April 1, 1974, was to be played in pitcher Jo Stockhausen's backyard in Hawaii. Apparently there was some confusion about the locale, as the coach, Beanie Yardley, remained in Florida. Though rooms were reserved for them at Waikiki Beach, the Skunk Ridge All-Stars failed to appear. Rumor has it that guest coach and symbol of aging athletes George Blanda, also failed to appear. He will be replaced by Herb Birdh, former All-Star pitcher. Herb promises a re-match on February 29, 1975--location to be announced. "Remember," he says, "we're not getting older, we're getting Better!" "Amen!" echo the Co-Eds! "That's our slogan, too!"
