MAROON LEAD UNCHALLENGED

At the announcement of the score last Saturday night, the Maroons were still leading the Greys at the half-way mark by a count of 3140½ to 2566½. The Achievement Levels made the largest contribution to the score. During the week, the Greys made 810 and the Maroons were close behind with 710 points. Fishing this week netted 71½ and 54 for the Maroons and the Greys respectively. The water meet last Thursday was nullified, but the Junior C-Junior B track meet went off in fine shape with the Greys taking 131 and leaving the Maroons 88. While the Greys made only a slight improvement in their standing, they still have plenty of time for more impressive gains.

Kawanhee Warriors Undaunted by Okinawa, Berlin or Yale

When Kawanhee tries to number its absent sons, it finds that the Armed Forces of the United States have claimed the majority of the counsellors and junior counsellors of recent years. Others of these regretted tribesmen are snatching as much of their college education as possible before induction.

Don Wambaugh, who left Kawanhee last August to begin his Army career, is now a member of the Air Corp, stationed at Fort Benning, Ga. He is a flight mechanic, training for service on a C46. In June, he spent the two weeks of his first leave in Columbus, and expects to see active duty overseas in the near future. His letters ask that he be remembered to all his Kawanhee friends.

Irving Bouton is taking the summer term at Yale. At the end of this he will enlist in the Navy. He did, however, spend some time at Kawanhee this summer, for he was here for three weeks in June, assisting with the work of opening the camp for the summer. Unfortunately he had to leave the day before the gang arrived. Peter Lagemann is another who is completing a term at Yale this summer before joining the Navy.

Ross L. Miller, better known as Bud during the many summers he spent in Kawanhee, is now in his second year

Visit to Mr. Perham Climaxes Successful Mineral Trip

By W. DAVIS, JR. COUNSELLOR

On the morning of July 24, Mr. Kiefer and some seventeen campers started out in the Bouncing Buggy for Black Mountain and Nevel Mine. This was the first mineral trip of the season.

We arrived at the foot of Black Mt. around noon, having stopped only for lunch beside a small stream. When we hiked to the top, we found such minerals as Cleavelandite, Feldspar, Lepidolite, Mica and Rubellite. Our party then progressed to the town of Andover, Maine, where a collector, Mr. McAllister, was very nice to the camp boys by giving them some of his choice minerals.

We then proceeded to Nevel Mine, located near Newry, Maine. After we had made a difficult climb, we added some more minerals to our collection. Some of these were: Green Beryl, Columbite, Cookeite, Chlorite Schist, Muscovite, White and Smokey Quartz, Spodumene, and Black, Blue, Green and Pink Tourmaline. Bill Licklider received a great deal of attention when he found a clear green tourmaline crystal of gem quality.

After leaving the mine, we stopped for supper at a roadside park owned by the State. Having been generously filled, we departed for West Paris, Maine, to visit Perham's Mineral Store. Mr. Perham, a great friend of all campers, told us about some of our minerals and showed us some of his more valuable ones. One, a piece of clear smokey quartz, was valued at $500.00.

Mr. Perham has been a great help to our camp for he started us on our first mineral collection, which is enclosed in glass in our Nature Room. He has given the camp many specimens to help the boys with their collections, and only with his help has it been possible for us to visit these mines. He generously helped us to equip our mineral laboratory, and has sold us many minerals at very reasonable cost.

Having concluded the main part of our journey, we left West Paris around 7:30 P.M., and arrived back at Kawanhee just before Taps.

Junior Grey Trackmen Triumph, Water Meet Nets No Points

Piscatorial Prowess Produces Perch, Pickerel and Points

Fishing has become important in the Kawanhee list of activities. Although there are no levels to pass, points are given for every fish caught, ranging from two points a pound for the humble but very edible perch to ten for bass and fifteen for pickerel. Many campers enjoy not only earning points for their teams, but also the sport of fishing. Since the beginning of the season, the Maroon team has received 111 points and the Grey team 101½ points. Webb Lake still has a few more fish left here and there.

PUNK FROM THE LOG

Would Kawanhee still be Kawanhee—
If the Chief gave up his clipboard?
If G. R. gave up the air holes in his ice cream?

If Herb Erf stopped adding the phrase, "I hope!" under his breath whenever he announces, "I now light the central fire of the Great Spirit"?

If Morse Burtis would forego the indiscriminate use of his three greetings;
"There's the poor soul", "Here's a hard worker!" and "That's a good man!" (It still startles Mac to be called a "good man", and to hail Sutherland as a "hard worker" causes him to feel the immediate need of a rest hour.)

It seemed for a while that the absence of the Junior C's had caused the bottom to drop out of the water meet.
The only competition at first was a sort of hog-calling contest between Carl Strong and his echo. We are glad that Carl was in such good voice, for we hear that there was a talent scout from the Lucky Strike program in the audience. Things picked up later and, with the Fat Men's Freestyle, reached their height. So did the lake, for the tidal wave caused by the simultaneous launching of all those portly porpoises washed most of the spectators off the beach.

Mr. Poston is speechless with admiration at the courage and daring of Dave Barth in successfully borrowing a Shop hammer from Noel Piersche. He hasn't dared to make the attempt himself, and just goes on pounding nails with boulders or Tim Johnson's shoes or any other heavy objects he can find.

Variation

In the second shift of junior counsellors, on July 29, the assistants were changed in eight lodges. The junior counsellors now serving in the various lodges are:

T. Mixer, Eagle	W. Davis, Falcon
R. Donaldson, Panther	P. Smalbein, Polecat
J. Staton, Pine Tree	D. Logan, Deer

Absent Kawanhee Tribesmen (Continued)

at the U. S. Naval Academy at Annapolis. His father, Dean Miller, reports with a pride which the camp can appreciate and share that Bud ranked 19th in his class of 1031 men.

Another service man who has family ties with Kawanhee, as well as those of his own camp years, is Paratrooper Charles Windle. His grandfather, the Chief, and his father, Howell Windle, tell us that he is now on guard duty in Berlin. After some time spent on such duty in France and Belgium, he reached the front in Germany two weeks before the end of hostilities. He has volunteered for service in the Pacific.

Lt. John Marble is in the administrative branch of the Air Corps, and stationed somewhere in the Pacific.
The latest reports to reach camp located him on Okinawa.

Ensign Bill Myers of the U. S. Navy is at present in this country. His ship, a minesweeper, has returned to a West Coast port for extensive repairs.

Baseball Games

On July 24, the fourth round of league baseball games was played. In the Senior League, the Indians took the Browns, 8-4. The Giants shutout the Pirates, 5-0. The Red Sox nosed out the Cardinals, 6-5, while the Tigers trounced the Dodgers, 8-3. In a make-up game, the Pirates eased by the Tigers, 8-7. In the Junior games, Watts' team grabbed first place by defeating Sater's Red Birds, 9-8, while Wunsch's boys took a comfortable win from Walker's, 6-4.

The Greys and Maroons again split the Saturday hardball games. The Junior A team of Greys scored its first victory over the Maroons, 7-5, and the Maroon Seniors took their Grey opponents, 8-5.
