GREYS LEAD, MAROONS GAIN

The tally of the score on July 20 found the Greys in the lead for the second time, 1786½ to 1657. The week had been a successful one for the Greys in sports events, for they had captured the track meet, the tennis match and the hardball game, leaving the Maroons only the slim honors of a 2 point victory in the water meet. The Maroons, however, had no reason to take a gloomy view of the over-all picture, for they had whittled 104½ points from the advantage of 234 which their opponents had boasted the previous week. Valiant work in the Achievement Levels, of course, accounted for the gain, and flavored the triumph of the Greys with the uneasy knowledge that just two third levels and a second could turn the tables completely.

Braves Bleach Sox Pale Pink, Tigers Spank Hopeful Cubs

By H. SENNELMANN, JR. COUNSELLOR
The second round of league baseball games was played on July 16.

The Braves cinched their game in the first, when they came up with 3 runs. From then on the Red Sox were never in the ball game. Not contented, the Braves continued in the third with 3 more. Pete Mykrantz pitched shutout ball until the last inning, when he fed a gopher ball to Dick Stillinger, who promptly blasted out a round-tripper, his only hit of the game. The Braves came right back with a nicely executed double play to end the game, 9 to 1. Capt. Sengelmann scored on all four trips to the plate and rapped out two extra base hits, a double and a triple.

Batteries:

Braves P. Mykrantz R. Krebs
Red Sox T. Brydon K. Beck

The Cubs got off to a terrific start when they ran wild over the Cards last week, but they were put solidly in place on July 16 by the Tigers, 19 to 10, in a free-slugging contest. The Cubs picked up 2 runs in the first on an error, a triple by Bury and a double by Capt. Erf. The Tigers, however, came back with two runs to tie the score. The game went along nip and tuck until the third, when the Tigers

War Canoe and Two Points Save Maroons' Aquatic Laurels

By W. CARPENTER, JR. COUNSELLOR

On Wednesday, July 17, the Maroon team won its second consecutive water meet, by the slim margin of two points, 73½ to 71½.

The Greys, determined to change the result of last week's meet, stepped to the front in the very first event and built up their lead by the margin of four straight first places. They led by nine points at the end of the fourth event. The Maroons came back, however, to snare a momentary lead, only to see it snatched away in the two relay races.

It was the final event, the war canoe race, that gave the decision. Again the Maroon canoe came through to win over a disabled Grey canoe by several lengths. A broken paddle hindered the Grey canoe in its forlorn fight for a victory.

Dick Hall, swimming instructor, pulled a Houdini escaping act, or Dick - Hall's - in - the - bag - but - we - don't - know - where - the - bag - is stunt, that had the spectators bewildered, not knowing where in the depths of Webb Lake the daring young man had vanished.

The winners of first places in the various events were as follows:

Attention, All Parents!

The directors earnestly request the co-operation of the parents in the matter of candy and other sweets sent into camp. Campers have been receiving such large quantities as to constitute a health problem, and it will be necessary hereafter to hold all such packages in the office to be distributed in the proper amounts after the noon meal, when the other campers buy their chocolate bars.

Bumps and Bald Stimulate Panther, Polecat Appetites

By A. TULLY, JUNIOR B

The Polecats and the Panthers started off to Mt. Bald in Bates' Bouncing Buggy on Thursday morning, July 18. We had lots of bumps but we finally got to Mt. Bald.

Everybody was restless to start the climb, but after we got halfway up we were a little bit tired. We finally sat down for lunch made by Bill Taylor, the Senior Counsellor of the Polecats, and it tasted very good because we were hungry from climbing and bouncing.

We finished lunch and played a little while. Then we started for the top again and then we started down to have a dip in Hill's Pond.

Then Bates came in his buggy and took us to get some ice cream. Then we came back to camp. It was a good trip and we had a good time. It was a nice day.

Greys Come from Behind to Repeat Track Victory

By E. HAMBLIN, MASTER CAMPER

On the afternoon of July 20, the Greys and Maroons had a close track meet. In the early part of the meet, the Maroons were leading, 41 to 7. The Greys were ultimately able to achieve a lead of eight points through the excellent athletic ability of their Junior A's and Seniors. The final score of the track meet was 70 to 62. The most outstanding of all the participants was Ben Hadley, the Captain of the Greys, who won first places in all of the Senior events. B. Walker and R. Conkey, both with two first places, were the stars, respectively, of the Junior A and the Junior C divisions. The winners of first places in the various events were as follows:

PUNK FROM THE LOG

The week's first really important incident was Sammy Elliot's argument with the pickerel. The accounts of how it all started are contradictory. Some say that it was Sammy's fault, that he deliberately went out on the dock with his pole to do or die for the Greys. Others claim that the fish was out after an easy catch to take home to show his family, who had been kidding him about all the times he had let Bill Mallory get away. Anyway, all of a sudden Sammy and the pickerel found themselves on opposite ends of the same line, and the tug of war was on. First Sammy would bulge his biceps and almost land the fish. Then the pickerel would flex his fins and almost water Sammy. So the struggle went back and forth, back and forth, amid the din of the Eagles cheering for Elliot and of a school of perch bubbling encouragement to the pickerel. At last, Sammy gave one mighty heave and up came the fish, a pickerel almost as long as Sammy—and with a lot more teeth!

We never dunk doughnuts in our coffee at Kawanee, but during breakfast Wednesday we learned that we could have just as much fun dunking Beavers. The technique of dunking was most artistically employed in the case of Rod Willcox. There was this difference between the way a doughnut is handled and the manner in which Rod was treated—a doughnut, being round, has no well-defined top or bottom, whereas Nature has been more specific in constructing Willcox. Consequently, when Rod was dipped—and dipped—and dipped—the dunkers had a nice, obvious starting point—and we don't mean the top!

Jim Sayre has executed the most remarkable jackknife dive on record. It is clear that Jim's is the type of jackknife equipped with both a corkscrew and a bottle-opener.

Art Kiefer's first class in star study was ill-timed, to say the least. He roused the Wildcats at the exact minute which caused the march of the astronomers to the Athletic field necessarily to cross the path of the ten-thirty shift from the Eagle Lodge. In the darkness the two groups became hopelessly confused, so that Bryan Birch anticipated his college career by sleeping through an astronomy lecture on his feet, and Peter Clark found himself in the Fort, having a bitter argument with Webbie Davis as to what he, Clark, was doing out of bed, and where he was to do it.

Dodgers' Blows Flatten Giants. Pirates, Cards Fight It Out

By H. SENNELMANN, JR. COUNSELLOR

Mathew's powerful team scored freely to win 22 to 7 from the Giants, and to shove the total of their runs up to 41 for two games. As far as can be seen at this point, Mathews seems to have the heaviest hitters on his team. They lashed out 23 hits, including circuit clouts by Mathews and Pete Clark.

Maisonpierre and Miller sparked the losers, the former blasting a four-bagger and the latter playing a magnificent game at short, including two unassisted double plays. Capt. Mathews and lucky John Diaz contested the slugging honors for the winners, each collecting 5 hits and 2 extra base hits apiece.

Batteries:

Dodgers P. Clark R. Warren
Giants R. Donnenwirth J. Blocker

The clash of the Pirates and Cards was by far the closest game of the week, 8 to 5, and it looked bad for the Pirates a few times. Ted Barkwill, however, went all the way and held the Cards down to 5 runs. Capt. Carpenter led off in the third with a round-tripper. Big Bill Romey played a good game at first for the winners, and collected two singles and a triple.

Batteries:

Pirates E. Barkwill J. McInnes
Cardinals B. Walker G. Conkey

Tigers Defeat Cubs

suddenly exploded and pushed 7 runs across. In the fifth the Cubs came back with 5 runs, but in the bottom half, the Tigers popped again with 5 more runs. The Cubs never caught up, despite Erf's two doubles and a single. Capt. Willard pitched a nice game and provided the main spark for the team. His homer to deep right center highlighted his play.

Batteries:

Tigers G. Willard M. Greenawalt
Cubs R. Lagemann W. Davis

The two Junior games, played the morning of July 16, were both close. Ray Brown's team nosed out Mike Griley's, 7 to 6, while Defoe's boys squeezed past Capra's, 8 to 6.

Greys Win Again at Hardball

Ben Hadley's Grey hardball team ran wild on Saturday, July 20, as they annihilated the Maroon team, 20-1. Tommy Baldwin pitched brilliant ball and only lost a shutout because of an infield error. Lagemann was replaced by Mykrantz in the fifth for the losers. Pete came through above expectations, although he was bagged solidly by the hard-hitting Grey team.
