Seven New Counsellors Appear, Dramatics to Be Revived

The seven new counsellors who have joined the Kawanhee staff this summer come to give strength to three of the essential departments, Swimming, Athletics and Shop, and, happily, to revive one department, Dramatics, of which the moribund condition has been a source of considerable regret during the past few summers.

Herbert Burns is a graduate of Wilmington University. He is teaching Swimming and Shop in camp this summer. Being from Columbus, he teaches swimming at Arlington High School. He hopes to start a class in Wrestling, which would be a valuable addition to the Athletic program.

Dr. Elmore Talks on Americans, Late Spring Delays Garden

At the morning service of July 6 in the Recreation Hall, the Reverend Carl Elmore began another series of those inspiring sermons which have been so memorable a part of Kawanhee life for several summers. Honoring the weekend of the Fourth, which he termed the most American of the year, he spoke of the lives of three great Americans.

Dr. Elmore spent the past winter in California, establishing a young Presbyterian Church in Westwood Village, near the campus of U.C.L.A. Mrs. Elmore devoted two months of the year to a trip to South America where she visited members of her family. Dr. and Mrs. Elmore have been settled for another summer on Pine Point since the middle of June.

Dr. Elmore's famous garden in camp was off to a slow start this year. On the opening day of the season, the rows of corn and beans were barely peeping above the ground. The late spring and the wet June, which produced something like rapture in the Nature Department by making it possible for its members for once to see the pink lady slippers in bloom, had considerably hampered the Doctor's efforts toward planting his garden.

Romey, Stillinger Named Captains Maroon-Grey Battle Resumed

The annual battle of the Maroons and Greys began on the afternoon of Sunday, July 6, when the whole camp gathered before the Recreation Hall, after rest hour, for the selection of the teams. Every camper, Master Camper and Junior Counsellor found his place on one side or the other. As the result of an admirable suggestion made by the new captains, there was an innovation in the manner of making the choices. The actual selections were made on paper under the supervision of Mr. Spangler and, when the campers met, the captains had only to call their teams together, thus saving time and confusion, and eliminating the hint of the slave market which has sometimes prevailed in the past.

The two captains are Bill Romey and Dick Stillinger. Both are Junior Counsellors and both are spending their third seasons at Kawanhee. Their popularity as captains was attested by the huge roar of applause that rang out in the dining hall Saturday evening, upon the announcement of their appointment. Stillinger won the toss of the coin and elected to lead the Greys. The Grey Captain chose Dick Miller as his second in command, and Romey selected Ben Hadley for his lieutenant.

The Greys enter this year's struggle in the position of defending champions, having outdistanced their rivals by 1810 points last summer. The Maroons, however, have the edge in total victories, for in the twenty-four years of Maroon-Grey competition, they have scored thirteen successes.

With so many unknowns involved, it is impossible to tell which captain made the more fortunate selections. Captain Stillinger did capture last summer's leading point-winner, R. Appleman. Of seven other men who last year ran up individual scores of more than 400 points, the Greys nabbed four: J. McKenzie, R. Conkey, B. Birch and J. Alexander. The three men of this group who went to the Maroons are J. Briscoe, J. Loveless and M. Hedges.

Frannie, Emma and Laurence Greet Campers on Arrival

There are several loyal members of the Kawanhee staff who struggle along without the title of Counsellor, but who undoubtedly are more essential to the camp than any who are designated by that title. It was a great joy to find these valued members of the tribe in camp, already hard at work in the camp's behalf.

Mrs. George Frank had the Inn open and busy, and was prepared to cope with the problems of the camp's diet as efficiently as ever.

Mrs. Raymond Frank, after her first winter in Weld, was waiting with her usual friendly greeting. With energy and charm, she is carrying on the innumerable duties which go with her post of Camp Mother. If possible, she may be devoting even more of her energy than usual to the welfare of the camp, for her daughter, Betty, departed on July 1 to spend her first summer in a girls' camp.

Dr. Defoe Gives Physical Exams. New Nurse Guards Infirmary

That prime essential of a successful season, the health of the camp, has as usual been safeguarded by placing it in the most capable of hands.

Kawanhee is again so fortunate as to have for its physician Dr. Garfield G. Defoe, who for many past summers has cared for the camp with such outstanding success. His offices are in nearby Dixfield, and his summer home on Webb Lake is within half a mile of the camp. On July 1, he devoted the whole day to a thorough physical examination of every boy and man in Kawanhee and found them to be a bunch of healthy specimens well fitted for the outdoor life of the next two months.

The resident nurse is new to Kawanhee this year. She is Miss Zelda Black, R.N., of Westerville, Ohio. She took her training in Parkersburg, West Virginia, and is at present studying for a B.S. degree at Vanderbilt University. During the war, Miss Black served as an Army nurse and spent fifteen months overseas in Iceland and England.

FIFTEEN VETERAN SENIOR COUNSELLORS RETURN TO FILL ACCUSTOMED POSITIONS

The twenty-seventh season of Camp Kawanhee began most auspiciously on June 30. Its owners and directors, Mr. George and Mr. Raymond Frank, have reason to believe that the summer will be one of the camp's most successful. An enrollment of well over a hundred boys fill the camp to capacity. Seven new counsellors have joined the staff to infuse the fresh ideas and plans that prevent hardening of the schedules. A large group of the Senior Counsellors who have served the camp so well during many past seasons are again on hand to provide the ideals and the experience which have made Kawanhee the fine camp that it has always been.

David Barth returns after an absence of one summer to direct the special program for the Junior C's as he has done with such fine results twice in the past. During the winters he teaches Social Science in the Linden McKinley Junior High School in Columbus, Ohio.

Trips are again in the hands of Clarence Bateman to whose unflagging efforts to give them variety and interest the trips have constantly owed their great popularity. This is Bates' fifteenth season at Kawanhee. His home is in Columbus, Ohio, where he teaches Industrial Arts at West High School. Bates was one of those who came to Kawanhee in June this year, in order to get the camp in working order before the opening date. The fact that both docks were in and ready for use was a sure sign that he had been on the job.

Herbert Birch, for the third successive summer, takes charge of the work in Woodcraft and Scouting. He is a teacher of Industrial Arts in Tenaflly High School, in which city he makes his home.

Irving Bouton, of Tenaflly, is head of the Tennis Department after six Kawanhee summers spent as camper, Junior Counsellor and Senior Counsellor. He will be a Junior at Yale this fall. He has been at Kawanhee since the middle of June, helping with the opening of camp.

Another early comer was Morse Burtis, returning for his tenth summer at Kawanhee. Mr. Burtis' complex and essential work has been designated, for want of a more adequate term, by the title of Office Manager, and its more tangible aspects include the direction of the camp store and post office. It is to him that every camper turns for help and a sympathetic listener, every counsellor for needed information and assistance, and every parent for news and reassurance about their boys.

David Logan, after a year as a Master Camper and two as a Junior Counsellor, begins his first season as a Senior Counsellor as Mr. Kiefer's chief assistant in the Nature Room. His home is in Camden, Ohio, and in September, he will begin his Junior year at Miami University, Oxford, Ohio.

Arthur Kiefer is again in command of the Nature Room and all its numerous departments, — mineral workshop, flower study, aquaria, bird study, assorted live stock, ad infinitum. His home is in Columbus, Ohio, where in addition to his regular work as Chemistry Teacher at North High, he instructs classes in Freshman Chemistry at Ohio State University.

The Waterfront is for the fourth year in the reliable hands of Roy Nickerson, Physical Education teacher at Leonia High School, Leonia, New Jersey. Boating and Canoeing are under his direct supervision, as well as the direction of the big canoe trips. His home is in Tenaflly.

John Nowold heads Kawanhee's Athletic program and provides the instruction in Archery. At his home in Columbus, Ohio, he is Coach and Director of Physical Education at Mound Junior High School. This is his fifth summer in Camp.

Noel Piersche once more rules Kawanhee's large and busy Shop, with its work in wood, metal and leather. In Columbus, he teaches Mechanical Drawing at Central High School. One of Kawanhee's veterans, this is his twenty-second summer in camp.

The title of oldest living inhabitant, however, is the undisputed possession of Campbell Scarlett in the absence of Mr. Marshall. Through the various gradations of camper and counsellor, he can account for twenty-four seasons at Kawanhee. His home is in Columbus and the camp functions peculiar to him are the editing of the Wigwam and the writing of the Log.

Carl Spangler begins his sixth season at Kawanhee with his usual accumulation of jobs. The Athletic Department has a major claim on his time. He is in charge of fishing and has the unenviable chore of keeping the camp score and the Achievement Level charts. In addition to all this, he is the camp bugler and there are even rumors that he may revive the camp orchestra. At home in Columbus, he is Assistant to the Principal and Instructor in Chemistry at North High School. Mrs. Spangler has retired from the dubious honors of her post as camp Secretary and is spending the

Master Campers

A group of eight Master Campers rounds out the staff. These boys are Senior campers who have the responsibilities of part-time assistants in the activities in which they have shown most interest and promise, and thus gain the experience to qualify them for possible positions as Junior Counsellors or Counsellors in the future. All of them have been campers for one or more years in the past.

Tom Brydon, a loyal member of the tribe since 1941, will assist in the Swimming Department and help with Trips. Charles Barkwill has mapped out an ambitious summer for himself as an assistant in Tennis, Nature and Fishing. David Crandall has an equally diversified schedule, slated as he is to help in Nature, Sailing and the Range. John Diaz is concentrating his activities in the Athletic Department. Bob Erf is serving as an assistant in Sailing. After attending Kawanhee as a camper for five seasons, John MacLaughlin is lending his aid to Mr. Windle in Photography. Merrill Sproul's second summer in camp finds him working as a helper at the Woodcraft Cabin. Peter Yaus, returning after an absence of five years, is an assistant in Boating and Canoeing.

summer in peace and quiet in a cottage close to camp.

As camper or Counsellor, Don Wambaugh has been a member of the Kawanhee tribe, for at least part of every summer, since 1935, with the exception of one summer when he was serving in the Army Air Forces. His work in camp is chiefly in Boating and Canoeing and he lends a hand with Swimming. He lives in Columbus and will be a Sophomore at Ohio State in the fall.

Another Counsellor with a long Kawanhee history, beginning as a camper in the Thirties, is Charles Windle, of Morrisville, Pennsylvania. His camp career was also interrupted by the war, in which he served as a Paratrooper. The Athletic Department claims his services in camp. He is a Sophomore at Oberlin.

Howell Windle returns, like his son, for another Kawanhee summer and again takes charge of the Range, for the admirable record of which, both in safety and success, he has been responsible for many seasons. Photography in camp is another of his undertakings. He also operates the equipment for the weekly movies in camp. During the winters, he teaches Science at the Bok Vocational School in Philadelphia.

Chief Takes Greeley's Advice. Miller Fills his Camp Shoes

One major change in the staff has produced a great feeling of loss. For the first time since the camp was organized, Mr. H. C. Marshall is not at his traditional post of Head Counsellor and Director of Activities. The Chief is taking a well earned sabbatical summer and, with Mrs. Marshall, has gone to the West Coast to visit members of his family. Kawanhee sincerely wishes him a most happy summer.

No one but a man with almost equal experience of Kawanhee could hope successfully to take over the Chief's executive work in camp. Kawanhee was lucky enough to have such a man available in the person of the Rev. Ross Miller. Dean Miller's association with the camp dates back to the early 'Twenties, and his Sunday night sermons at Bass Rock and his inspirational work among the older boys have long been among the most valuable contributions to Kawanhee life. He has embarked upon his new and multifarious duties of organization with every appearance of confidence. The Dean's assurance may in some part be due to the fact that he has already successfully undertaken one new post during the year. Last September, after concluding his ministry at the Covenant Presbyterian Church in Springfield, Ohio, he returned to the field of education by becoming Professor of Bible and Religion at Jamestown College, Jamestown, North Dakota. For the first time in many years, the Dean was able to join the Kawanhee tribe on the opening day of the season. Mrs. Miller, and their younger son, Dick, had already been on the shores of Webb Lake since the early part of June, coming directly here from attendance at the graduation of Ross, Junior, from the Naval Academy at Annapolis.

JUNIOR COUNSELLORS ALL CONTINUE CAMP CAREERS

The important posts of assistants in the various departments are filled by a group of fifteen Junior Counsellors. With one exception, they are drawn from the ranks of former campers and the great majority have already had one or more years of Kawanhee experience as aides in their activities.

Henry Blau, of Columbus, Ohio, returns to act as an assistant in Swimming. He graduated from the Columbus Academy in June and will enter Yale this fall.

Curtiss Bury naturally follows up his last summer's sweep of all Archery honors by joining the Junior Counsellor group as the assistant in Archery. He will also work in the Athletic Department. He comes from Westport, Conn.

Joe Dawson, another of this year's graduates of the Columbus Academy who plans to enter Yale in the fall, will divide his time and efforts between the Range and the Nature Room.

Herbert Erf, of Shaker Heights, Ohio, who has been a constant member of the Kawanhee tribe since 1940, will again give his primary attention to Trips. He will be a Freshman at Amherst in the fall.

Trips will also claim the efforts of Ben Hadley, the Captain of last summer's victorious Grey team. His home is in Columbus, where he will be a Senior at Upper Arlington High School.

Ed Hamblin is a Senior at Bexley High in Columbus. He resumes his work in the camp store and post office and will serve as assistant editor and legman for the Wigwam.

Frank Harrah also returns to his position in the store and post office, where he has had considerable experience in recent summers. He, too, is a Senior at Bexley High School in Columbus. This is his eighth season at Kawanhee.

The only newcomer to Kawanhee among the Junior Counsellors is Robert Hughes of Englewood, N. J. He is an assistant in the Tennis Department. He recently graduated from Dwight Morrow High School and will enter Georgia Tech in the fall.

Karl Jaeger returns to camp to assist in the Shop and the resuscitated Dramatic Department. He is a Senior at Northwood School, and his home is in Columbus, Ohio.

There is a difference of opinion as to the length of the camp career of Robin Lagemann, who claims 1947 for his tenth season as camper or Junior Counsellor, while the Wigwam's count will only allow it as his ninth. That, however, is a minor matter. The important fact is that Robin is again doing the same reliable job in the Sailing Department that he has during the last two summers. His home is in Englewood and he is a Senior at Governor Dummer Academy.

Dick Miller, the unquestioned survivor of eight seasons, is also working in the Sailing Department. He will further exercise his talents as an assistant in Swimming. This coming winter he will complete his work at Deerfield Academy, Deerfield, Mass.

Peter Mykrantz, a Senior at the Columbus Academy, devotes this, his sixth Kawanhee summer, to assisting the work of the Athletic Department.

Bill Romey is a Senior in the High School at his home in Richmond, Indiana. After one summer as a camper and one as a Master Camper, he will spend his first as a Junior Counsellor assisting in Tennis and Woodcraft. Bill is this summer's Maroon Captain.

Henry Sengelmann will enter Rutgers University. This is his fifth summer in camp. Athletics and Dramatics are the activities to which he will devote his time.

Dick Stillinger's third Kawanhee season finds him as an assistant in Nature and Athletics. His home is in Shaker Heights, Ohio, and he will enter Oberlin College in September. Dick has the distinction of being the current Captain of the Greys.

Frannie, Emma and Laurence

The most reassuring sight in all camp, to those who really know Kawanhee, was that of Laurence and Emma in the kitchen, preparing a good, big dinner to welcome the travelers. Mr. and Mrs. Briggs, of Madison, Maine, (to be formal for once), first came to Kawanhee in 1932, and Emma has been faithfully filling camp stomachs with her wonderful cookies, rolls and bread ever since. Laurence, unfortunately, was absent during the war years when he was busy at the Bath Iron Works, supervising the restaurants and canteens. This is the second summer of his return to the fold, as everyone is thankful to remember as they wade into one of his hamburg dinners. Laurence and Emma arrived on June 5 of this summer, and one of Laurence's accomplishments in the succeeding weeks was the excavation of a new refrigerator room under the kitchen. Another old friend in the kitchen is Miss Flora Fletcher, Emma's valued assistant.

Seven New Counsellors

Ethan Davis of New York City is a newcomer to the ranks of the Senior Counsellors, but not to Kawanhee. He spent several seasons at Kawanhee, the most recent in 1943. Since then he has served sixteen months, chiefly devoted to the study of Japanese, in the Navy. He is now a senior at Columbia University and is working in the camp Swimming Department.

Leslie Douglas, who is one of the Counsellors in the Shop, is a graduate of Ohio State University. He has a degree in Industrial Arts Education, as well as a Bachelor of Science degree. Mr. Douglas spent three years and three months in the Army. Part of this time he was teaching in the Army Air Force Ground School. His home is in Columbus, where he teaches at the Boys' Trade School. Mrs. Douglas is also in camp as camp Secretary.

Edward Kast is the Assistant Headmaster and Athletic Director of the Short Hills Country Day School in New Jersey. In 1943, he graduated from Dartmouth, where he had been captain of the football team in his Senior year. During the war, he was assigned to the Office of Strategic Services, in which capacity he spent a year in China. The Kawanhee Athletic Department is claiming his attention.

Bill McAfee is now attending Yale University. Bill is the counsellor for Dramatics. He also instructs in Swimming. Bill has spent two summers with a camp in Canada, two summers with a camp in Michigan and three with one in Ohio. His home town is Lakewood, Ohio.

Joe Seldon is a third year man at Yale, where he is a member of the swimming team. He spent two years in the Navy, part of the time teaching swimming at the Great Lakes Naval Training Station. His home is in Erie, Pennsylvania. Joe's position in camp this summer is that of head of the Aquatics Department.

Charles Wilson of Columbus will lend a hand with the beginners' swimming class, but his chief function is as the nurse's assistant in First Aid. He is a Pre-Med student at Ohio State and gained experience of his chosen profession during the war as a Pharmacist's Mate in the Navy, in which he served for three years. He cannot be ranked as a stranger to Kawanhee, for he was a camper in 1935.

The Coming of the Chief

The impressive ceremony of Chief Kawanhee's welcome was performed on the evening of Friday, July 4. Mr. Kiefer assumed the role of the Chief in the absence of Mr. H. C. Marshall.
