Kawanhee Opens its Biggest Season

It was easy to note the exact moment when Kawanhee's thirty-third season began. It occurred at dusk, on Saturday, June 27, shortly before 9:00 P. M., when three big busses pulled up in front of the Rec Hall and discharged their cargoes of campers and counselors to wake the echoes of the Webb Lake valley. The Eastern and the Western boys had made the last lap of the trip together. Earlier in the day, Mr. George Frank's Ohio contingent had had the more or less standard bad luck of missing the early connection in Boston and, as a result, had not reached Portland much before Mr. Raymond Frank with his New York convoy. A single fleet of busses, therefore, transported the whole group to camp. Awaiting the travelers were: (a) fifty or more assorted tribesmen already resident for periods ranging from a few hours to several weeks, depending upon how closely they had been associated with the work of opening the camp; (b) a hot and most welcome supper prepared by Emma and Sue; and (c) a good night's sleep under blankets in the cool, clear Maine air.

There is every reason to believe that this will be one of the best, as it is already unquestionably the biggest, of Kawanhee seasons. The enrollment of campers, including Junior Counselors, mounts up to one hundred and thirty-seven, an increase of approximately twenty-five percent over any previous high-water mark. Added to the staff, this brings the total personnel of the camp to something like one hundred and seventy-five, by cook's count. The camp's facilities have had to do some expanding to accommodate this bumper crop of campers. A new lodge has been built on the shore between the Deer Lodge and the Pine Tree, and named the Hawk Lodge. The Green Barn on the point has been treated to an extensive remodeling. New floor, new windows and screening, electric lights and its own wash room and toilet facilities have made it an enviable roost for the Master Campers and have raised it to the dignity of a lodge, "Bear" by name. Most notable of all, the old Dining Hall bottleneck has been broken by extending the south end of the dining room into a new addition built out toward Birch Lodge. This houses four tables, not only taking care of the increase in population, but relieving the jam throughout the dining room.

Aside from these improvements, the camp looked most pleasantly as usual, and decidedly shipshape, when the lodges were aroused by a late Reveille Sunday morning. It was, by the way, a genuine Reveille, not just the bell pinch-hitting as such, for Kawanhee is once more blessed with a full-fledged bugler in the person of Brian Birch. The tennis courts were already lined and the docks and diving tower set up, thanks to the pre-season activities of Irv Bouton, Bates, Rod Tuttle and other stalwarts. The boats were drawn up on the beach, ready to go. Dr. Elmore's garden in front of the Infirmary was in, but appeared to be a bit behind schedule this year. On all such points, as well as on a number of old friends and plenty of new, there was opportunity to check on Sunday for, by Kawanhee standards, it was a lazy day, largely taken up with unpacking and a very long rest hour to compensate for any sleep lost in transit.

The day being bright and warm, the first Sunday service was held in the chapel on the shore. Dr. Elmore's sermon, presented with his ever memorable wealth of illustration and warmth of personality, was in itself an ample reassurance that all was right with Kawanhee again. The ceremonial opening of the season took place Sunday evening when the legendary Chief Kawanhee paid his annual visit of welcome. After an informal Vesper service in the Recreation Hall with Dean Miller's brief talk on "Friendship", the camp moved in a body down to Council Point to receive the Chief's blessing. On this occasion the role of Kawanhee was for the first time assumed by Mr. Chace. Unfortunately the simple ritual of this traditional campfire suffered a rather abrupt curtailment. A sudden storm came up, necessitating a hasty dash out of the Council Ring with many a symbolic stick still uncontributed to the central fire. The Chief, nevertheless, had once more welcomed the tribe of Kawanhee to his valley, and it could be felt that the 1953 season was officially initiated and, in view of the rain which began just as the shelter of the lodges was reached, baptized as well.

Thirteen Seasoned Senior Counselors Return

Camp Kawanhee welcomes back an able staff of veteran counselors. Mr. George Frank and Mr. Raymond Frank, the camp directors, have, as in the past, assembled men excelling in their own fields for camp leaders. It is not strange that a large number of these counselors are well-tempered men who have spent many summers at Kawanhee. Capable men of such background have become almost indispensable to the camp. With these thirteen returnees Kawanhee's season is sure to be a happy one for all in "53".

Camp Kawanhee is honored to have on its staff Mr. H. C. Marshall as Director of Activities. He was the founder and past headmaster of the Columbus Boychoir School, and since his retirement he and Mrs. Marshall have been residing in Dayton, Ohio. This will make Mr. Marshall's twenty-eighth season at camp. For the first twenty-six years of the camp's history, he played the role of Chief Kawanhee. Most all still refer to him as "Chief". "Chief" is the man who keeps the camp on the move.

Clarence Bateman, better known as "Bates", is enjoying his twenty-first year at Kawanhee. When former campers think of "Bates", they think of trips; for many of the most vivid memories of Kawanhee have to do with "trips and Bates". Very soon Mr. Bateman will be on the road carrying enthusiastic Kawanheesites on trips and expeditions. "Bates" seems to have an endless wealth of energy and enthusiasm for developing the Program of Trips into one of supreme value. Maintenance is also in his line, about which he has to say, "The hardest week is the week before camp opens".

For the second time during his eight summers at Kawanhee, we find Herb Birch the head of the Camp Shop. Mr. Birch is well qualified to teach the boys' shop as he is a teacher of Industrial Arts at his home in Tenafly, New Jersey. It has been said that he is "an old war horse, that Kawanhee could not do without".

Recently back from Korea we find Irving Bouton heading the Tennis Department, serving on the maintenance staff, and helping out on trips. He teaches Mathematics at Choate School, Wallingford, Conn. Also during the past winter he did some coaching at Choate in track which is to be expected after his outstanding career on the Yale track team. "Irv" and his wife Pat and their daughter Barbara Lynne are staying at the log cabin near Pine Lodge at camp.

Herb Brown, spending his ninth season at camp, will again be in Shop. Herb graduated this past spring from Denison University, Granville, Ohio, and is looking forward to law school at Harvard next year.

Edward K. Chace, Superintendent of Schools in Scituate, Mass., is Kawanhee's Director of Campcraft and will assist on trips. Mr. Chace this season is playing the role of Chief Kawanhee in the traditional camp ritual. Camp is proud to have him back as their new Chief. Mr. Chace has been at camp many times aiding in its program, but, as in the past, his responsibilities make it impossible for him to spend a full summer here. He will give all but two weeks of his valuable time to camp.

Dick Donnenwirth is the Director of the Junior C Program this year. His warm personal interest and special skills with the boys in the Junior C group will be rewarding to the boys in the program. His history at camp dates back to 1946. Dick is a Senior at Ohio Wesleyan University in Delaware, Ohio. After his career there he is looking forward to the ministry as his life work.

Director of Aquatics is Joe Driscoll of Scituate, Massachusetts. The responsibility of life saving and giving special training in Junior and Senior Life Saving is all his. Joe is a teacher of Geography at Scituate High School.

As one of the camp's most faithful stand-bys, the Rev. Ross Miller returns to Kawanhee this year as Personnel Director. Most of the Dean's time will be taken up with camp devotions, trips, and stories. Dean and Mrs. Miller for the past year have been residing in Alma, Michigan, where he is Professor of Religion and Dean of Chapel at Alma College.

In charge of Boating, Canoeing, and beach guard duty this year, we find Roy Nickerson. He will also aid in Boxing, Wrestling, and canoe trips. It has been rumored that "Nick" is becoming the grand old man of Camp Kawanhee outdoor life. During the winter "Nick" is the Director of Athletics at Leonia High School, Leonia, N. J.

This summer finds Campbell Scarlett enrolling in the Kawanhee tribe for the thirtieth time. Mr. Scarlett took over the Wigwam when it became the official camp paper in 1936 and, until recently, was its editor. This year, as he did last summer, he will serve the paper mainly in an advisory capacity. He will continue to write the weekly Log as he has done for many years. Mr. Scarlett adds to Kawanhee atmosphere and refinement.

Attending for his eighth summer is Ted Wilson from Columbus, Ohio. His camp activity will be in the form of an assistant instructor in Aquatics and Athletics. This coming fall Ted will enter Ohio State University as a Junior after spending his past two college years at Miami University. This being his second year as a Senior Counselor in the camp life at Kawanhee lends to his ableness to counsel boys.

In charge of the Range we find Howell Windle, who will naturally carry on the department's fine record of marksmanship and safety as he has done since 1934. Also he will enrich camp life by being camp photographer, and projectionist for the weekly movies. He resides in Morrisville, Pennsylvania, and teaches Science at the Bok Vocational Technical School there. Once again he and Mrs. Windle are living in their cottage at the upper end of the lake. Mrs.

Windle's parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Marshall, are again spending the summer with them there.

Thirteen New Senior Counselors

Of the thirteen new senior counselors, eight are total strangers to the shores of Lake Webb, while five have been campers or Junior Counselors in the past. The resulting mixture of vitalizing new blood and the strong blood of Kawanhee heritage should greatly broaden and enrich the tribe.

Ray Brown, recently graduated from Columbus Academy, is spending his sixth season at Kawanhee as an assistant in Athletics. Ray is planning to attend Yale University in the fall.

Howard Curtis, a graduate of Oberlin College, and holding a Master's degree from Ohio State University, takes over the duties of diving instructor and Director of Athletics. He is the Assistant Director of Admissions at Oberlin, and, in addition, coaches soccer and lacrosse. Howie has written a book, not yet published, on springboard diving.

Kawanhee has a new face in its Nature Department, Forrest P. Dexter, Jr., of Cranford, New Jersey. There he is chairman of the Department of Chemistry and the Admission and Guidance Director for Science students. Nature photography and bird observation are his hobbies.

Jock Duncan, the strong man, is Director of Wrestling and will assist in Athletics. Jock hails from Cleveland, and comes to spend his sixth season at Kawanhee. He is a Sophomore at Williams College in Williamstown, Mass.

A late comer was Ed Harnsberger, who joined the Kawanhee staff on July 4 to act as assistant on the Range. He is a student at Virginia Polytechnic Institute and his home is in Arlington, Virginia.

Herb Hedges now hits the double digits as he returns for his second straight year as head of the Archery Department. He began his career as a Junior B in Panther Lodge in 1944. Having graduated from Upper Arlington High School, Columbus, this past spring, Herb plans to attend the University of Michigan in the fall.

Dramatics this season will be handled by Ralph Merrill, a teacher of French and English at Scituate High School, Scituate, Mass. Ralph is a graduate of Tufts College. He also assists in Fishing, Aquatics and the Junior C Program.

The Wigwam again has a new editor, Stewart Rowley who resides in West Palm Beach, Florida. Stewart is a student at Bangor Theological Seminary and the student pastor of the Carthage Union Church, Carthage, Maine. In addition to his duties on the Wigwam, Stew assists in Basketball and in the Junior C Program.

Bob Sayre, Kawanhee's new Sailing Master, has gained much experience through a life of sailing along the southern shore of Long Island and in other waters. Bob is a Junior at Ohio Wesleyan University, Delaware, Ohio. He was for three years a camper and has returned as a Senior Counselor, making this his fourth season at Kawanhee.

Russell Scott, Jr., of Fanwood, New Jersey, is assisting in the Nature Department and in Aquatics. Russell will be a Sophomore at Union Junior College, Cranford, N. J.

Donald Srail, handicraft instructor at West Junior High School, Columbus, will be in charge of leather work in the shop.

The manifold duties of Camp Scorer this year fall to Del Lee Tracy. In addition to these duties, he will assist in Baseball. Del is a teacher of Social Studies and Mathematics at Mohawk Junior High School, Columbus. Del's family is staying in the R. C. Frank's cabin on Pine Point for the summer.

B. Rodman Tuttle, a Sophomore at Lafayette College, Easton, Pa., is assisting in the Junior C Program, in which he has a natural touch. His home is in Easton, Conn.

Junior Counselors

This is Brock Evans' first season at Camp Kawanhee. Brock is entering his Junior year at Columbus Academy, Columbus, Ohio. He will be assisting in Aquatics and Tennis.

The Store, the Post Office, and his duties as Sports Editor, as well as being an assistant at the Range, will claim the time of Dave Fergus this year. Dave is a Junior in Upper Arlington High School of Columbus, Ohio.

Stuart Klapp is enjoying his second season at Kawanhee. He is helping in trips, Campcraft, and the Junior C Program. Stuart is a senior at Columbus North High School.

George Kraft is spending his second summer in camp. He is aiding in Campcraft, trips, and Nature. At Columbus North High School, George is a promising student.

From Long Beach, California, is Dick McCurdy, who is a volunteer helper in Tennis. This is his first year as Junior Counselor and he will enter the University of California this fall.

With four seasons at Kawanhee behind him, Bruce Miller is serving as Junior Counselor as well as assisting in Tennis and Fishing. He resides in Bexley, Ohio, and is a Junior at the Columbus Academy.

A five year camper, Tod Ross is a helper in the Store and in Campcraft. Tod is attending the Columbus Academy, Columbus, Ohio, as a Junior.

Jay Sanders is aiding Herb Hedges in Archery as well as assisting in the Junior Life Saving Program and in Sailing. He is a promising boy who has spent three years at camp. Jay's home is in Rye, N. H., and he is a student at Mount Hermon Prep School.

Helping on trips is John Tribou, who is also an able first assistant in Campcraft while spending his third year at camp. He is a Sophomore in Cambridge High School and Latin School, Cambridge, Mass.

This year will make John Waterfall's sixth summer at camp and his first as a Junior Counselor. His home is in Bronxville, N. Y., and he is a Junior at Hackley School, Tarrytown, N. Y.

The Master Campers are the "to be" Junior and Senior Counselors of Kawanhee and will be learning the ropes for their intended goal this year. They will be spending several periods a week acting as assistants in one or more of the camp departments in which they have shown particular skill and interest during the past. There are ten Master Campers, one of the largest groups in Kawanhee history. They are the occupants of the Bear Lodge.

Ladies Fill Important Positions

One pleasant result of the Dining Hall addition is at last to provide the ladies of Kawanhee with a table of their own, thereby relieving them of the mealtime choice between infiltrating the head table or snatching their "vittles" in drafty exile on the back porch. Several of these ladies fill essential roles in Kawanhee life.

Prominent among them, of course, is Mrs. Raymond C. Frank. Her position is designated as that of "Camp Mother", an all-encompassing term. The newcomers have already learned what the old-timers have known for years, that Frannie is the person to whom every man, boy and visitor in Kawanhee inevitably goes for patches, consolation, advice and an ever responsive listener. The R. C. Franks are making their home in Ma Frank's cabin this summer. Their daughter Betty departed for her second season at Kineowatha the day that Kawanhee opened.

The new nurse is Mrs. George Marshall, of Columbus, Ohio. Her name, however, is by no means new to the camp, for her husband was a counselor here in the late '20's and expects to renew his acquaintance with Kawanhee later in the season. Polly, to use the name which she herself announced to the camp, is an R. N., holding licenses in three states, Ohio, New York and California, as well as her camp credentials for Maine. She took her training at Grant Hospital in Columbus and graduate work at Ohio State. Her nursing experience has been wide, ranging from pediatrics work at Lenox Hill in New York City, to the post of Supervisor of the Emergency and Admitting Department at the Emergency Hospital in Oakland, Cal., during the war, and including a camping season spent last year in the Ohio Girls' School Camp at Lakeside, Ohio. With such a background, Kawanhee can hold few surprises for her. The camp, indeed, may feel that it is peculiarly fortunate in having its Infirmary in Polly's hands, for her professional approach is reinforced by a more personal interest in Kawanhee boys. Her son, another George Marshall, is the summer's youngest Eagle.

Miss Mary W. Baker is another member of the Kawanhee staff. She is spending the summer as assistant in the Nature Department, with the work of the younger groups claiming her particular attention. Miss Baker teaches Biology at West High School in Columbus, Ohio, where she makes her home. She is no stranger to camp life. For two seasons she was Head Counselor at Camp Wyandotte, operated by the Columbus Campfire Girls in Ohio, and spent another two summers at Camp Muskingum, the adult conservation camp sponsored by Ohio State University.

Several counselors' "better halves" also grace the new ladies table. Mrs. Clarence Bateman and Mrs. Howard Curtis are regular entries, while Mrs. Ross Miller is a dinner commuter from the Millers' cabin near the Inn. Mrs. Curtis is this summer's Camp Secretary, while Mrs. Bateman will be helping the nurse.

Emma and Sue Head Culinary Staff

The kitchen, praise be, is another place where the ladies hold sway. The cooks, Emma and Sue, are both good friends of Kawanhee who certainly need no introduction on these pages. Mrs. Emma Briggs, of Madison, Maine, has been so faithful in her services to the well-being of the camp since 1932 that merely to find her again in her pantry is a guarantee of good things to come. Emma has been in Kawanhee since the beginning of June this year, working at opening the kitchen and setting it to rights for the season. For Mrs. Susan Weld, of Dixfield, this is only the second Kawanhee season, but she is already well established in the camp's "old friends" category and it is a joy to all concerned to find her presiding again at the range. Two new members of the kitchen staff are Mrs. Thelma Wilson, of Bingham, Maine, who is Emma's assistant, and Mrs. Marian Comins of Wilton who is Sue's particular aide. Jim Armstrong of Wilton, a sophomore at Harvard, is again in charge of the Dining Hall, and Dick Harris, Dick McCurdy, Gary Miller, Reeves Richie and Peter Marsh are enrolled for various strong-arm jobs around the kitchen.

Variety of Pictures Enlivens First Week

Indians of the Kawanhee tribe from the very start were captured by the entertainment and educational program set up by the staff. Thanks to Mr. Bateman's arrangements, Mr. Ralph Seaman visited camp on Monday and Tuesday to demonstrate techniques of fishing and casting with his $2800 worth of fishing equipment. Monday evening he showed three beautifully colored reels: Expedition Moose, Duel in the Pool, Speckled Trout, and Pheasant Island. Mr. Seaman, through his position as Secretary of the Carling Conservation Club, was enabled to bring this invaluable information on conservation and fishing. Tuesday and Wednesday evenings were also devoted to movies—Admiral Byrd's Discovery the first night, and a collection of short features the second.

Thursday seventy-four energetic campers swam the cove. This is the largest group in the camp's history to pass this basic swimming test in one day. That evening in the Rec Hall, camp songs were sung, followed by games directed by Herb Birch and Nick. The excitement of the games was broken up by one of Dean Miller's interestingly told stories, The Man without a Country.

The weather co-operated nobly with the program of activities all week. Bright, clear days prevailed, with three spells of much needed rain considerably getting in their work at night. Friday and Saturday were brisk and very windy, causing the first Saturday water sports to be replaced with a track meet, and the first Saturday night campfire to be held in the Recreation Hall. With no score as yet recorded and no achievement levels to be reported, the initial chapter of the summer's Log was the main feature of this session.

Earle and Waterfall Appointed Captains

The eagerly awaited announcement designating the captains was at last forthcoming on Friday, July 3. This year's leaders are David Earle, a Master Camper from Englewood, N. J., spending his third summer in camp, and John Waterfall whose sixth Kawanhee season finds him serving for the first time as a Junior Counselor. Earle won the flip of the coin and chose to be captain of the Greys, while Waterfall took the Maroons. Saturday after dinner the captains selected their teams from the line-up of the whole camp in front of the Recreation Hall and the annual contest between the Maroons and the Greys was off to an exciting start with the afternoon's track meet.

In the thirty years of team competition, the Maroons have had a slight edge with fifteen victories to fourteen for the Greys and one tie. It is too early to make any guesses as to the scoring potentials of this year's teams, but it may be observed that the Greys go into battle better supplied with proven high point winners. Of fourteen campers who last summer ran up individual scores of better than 600, the Greys enlisted nine. Captain Earle is one of the nine, and the others are R. Borel, R. Duvall, P. Earle, B. Emerson, H. Hamilton, K. Johnson, D. Kerr and F. Richardson. E. Knezevich, who last year ranked second with 855 points, fell to the lot of Waterfall's Maroons, as did D. Connor, P. Gelpi, D. Hoover and J. Shepard, who were all in the over-600 group.

S. ROWLEY AND C. SCARLETT

Three Baseball Leagues Lined up

By unanimous vote of the team captains, the summer's baseball leagues will play softball as they move into the season's schedule. Three leagues have been formed, and a schedule is being arranged so that each team will be able to play at least one game each week.

One feature of the program is that the Junior C's will have a league of their own, known as the Junior League. The Junior League will be composed of three teams: the Blasters, led by Jimmy Stoddard; the Giants, led by Major Crispin; and the Lions, led by Doug Connor.

The Junior B's, formerly the partners of the Junior C's in the Junior League, will have a league of their own. This, the Intermediate League, will have five teams because of the great number of Junior B's in camp. Michael Barr, Barry Birch, John Denise, Dick Duvall, and Pete Gelpi will head the teams in the circuit.

The Senior League, as is the usual policy, will have six teams. Brian Birch, a veteran captain of Junior League teams, will head the list of captains. David Earle, Dunbar Helsley, Terry Hickey, Jim Murphy, and John Whitney will manage the other five teams.

The Senior League openers of July 3 showed promise of a thrilling, hard fought season as David Earle's Demons edged Abe Whitney's Babes, 6-4. Dunbar's Puns defeated Hickey's Hotshots 15-12 in the day's other game.

The first athletic competition of the season between the Maroons and the Greys gave good reason to believe that the competition this season will be keen and hard fought. The Greys, leading all the way, were just barely able to edge the Maroons by a single point, 70 to 69, in a track meet on July 4.
