Greys Cut Maroon Lead Down to 71 Points

The score of Saturday, August 17, was considered sufficiently sensational to rate the full dramatic treatment by Scorekeeper Dave Fergus — portentous announcement about figures locked in the safe; much show of shucking off envelope after envelope; slow strip-tease of so many hundred points' advantage for the Greys in this department, and umpteen hundred for the Maroons in that, right down to the grand denouement. And the score, when finally revealed, truly did pack a wallop — only 71 points between the two teams! At the campfire of August 17, the position of the two teams was: Maroons, 15,728; Greys, 15,657. The Maroons were in possession of the lead, as they have been in every report of the score from the beginning of the season, but how different a lead from the 851 points which they boasted the previous week, or the 1525 of August 3! With only 71 points separating the two teams, the Maroon-Grey rivalry was anyone's race as it went into its last lap.

In the week between Sunday, August 11, and Saturday, August 17, the Greys had cut into the Maroon advantage by 780 points, scoring 4395 points to the Maroons' 3615. Sports events had more or less broken even. The Maroons had won the water meet of August 11, scoring 96 points to the Greys' 67, and the Greys had taken the basketball game of August 17 with the scoring advantage of 73 to 59. A considerable windfall for the Greys was discovered in the Junior Maine Guide points, which had been scored during the week. The Greys gained 550 from this source, in contrast to the scant 165 won by the Maroons. The bulk of the score, of course, was in the Achievement Levels, where the Greys scored 3705 points to 3295 earned by the Maroons. The most productive activities of the week were Shop, scoring 56 levels for 1480 points, and Campcraft, which registered 66 for 1655.

Outstanding Marksmen Receive Awards

The reading of the weekly awards at the Saturday evening campfire in the Recreation Hall brought to light the noteworthy accomplishments of several able and ambitious campers. R. Jackson was announced as the first to attain the rating of "Skipper" in the Sailing Department this season. A probable record in Campcraft was established by Bruce Harmon with the completion of the work for all three Junior A and all three Senior levels in the one week, and S. Dorrance was close on his heels with two Junior A levels and the three Senior ones. The Archery Department had itself a couple of "firsts" when Bob Duffey made it known that Bob Angerer had qualified as American Archer, following in the footsteps of his brother Dave who reached this rank a few weeks ago. Bob is the youngest Kawanhee archer ever to earn this honor, and this is the first season for Kawanhee to produce two American Archers in such rapid fire. Range, too, had distinguished marksmen to reward. At the end of a notably long list of "bar" awards, Mr. Nickerson announced that R. Bennett and C. Fowler had hit the top in the National Rifle Association by completing their targets for Expert Rifleman. Kawanhee proudly congratulates these gentlemen on their outstanding work.

Staff Alumni Welcomed as Visitors

Kawanhee has recently enjoyed a reunion with several good friends. None of them has more immediate claim on Kawanhee's memories than Ray Brown who only last summer concluded a camp career of nine years as camper and counselor. Ray returned to Kawanhee on August 17 to be on hand for some of the excitement as the season approaches its climax. He spent the earlier part of the summer in New York, taking an intensive course in organic chemistry at Columbia. He is now in the last year of his pre-medical work and will enter medical school next year.

With Ray came another welcome Kawanhee veteran, Ted Nelson, who was a counselor as lately as 1954 and 1955, after earlier years as a camper. Ted is now with the Alfred Politz Market Research firm in New York.

The Kawanhee Yacht Club on August 16 received reinforcement for the remainder of the summer in the person of Jay Sanders of Rye, N. H., a Sophomore at Tufts College. Of his seven earlier Kawanhee seasons, Jay spent four in the Sailing Department, three as an assistant and last year as a Senior Counselor. He has but recently returned from Midshipman Cruise Bravo on the Battleship Wisconsin, part of his Naval R. O. T. C. training, which took him through the Panama Canal and as far as Valparaiso, Chile.

A shipmate of Jay's on this cruise, although they did not discover the fact for two weeks, was Dan Keck, of Springfield, Ohio. Dan too has recently put in an appearance on the shores of Lake Webb. He is spending the closing weeks of August at the nearby summer home of his grandfather, Dr. Tulloss, and is happily in evidence in camp for an occasional Glee Club performance.

Another former counselor who was quickly drawn into Glee Club activities was Ken Beck, the last of whose seven full summers at Kawanhee was in 1952. When he popped up this year at the Inn on August 12 for a few days, the memories of his keyboard prowess proved still to be so vivid that he was promptly drafted as the Glee Club's accompanist for the benefit performance in Weld and persuaded to remain over the following week end. Ken is now an accountant with C. P. A. firm in Columbus, Ohio.

It has been pleasant within the past few weeks to see several other counselors of past seasons who were visiting in these parts. Dick and Joan Miller spent a week's vacation in Weld in mid-August, recalling the fact that Dick too in 1952 concluded a series of very active Kawanhee summers as camper and counselor. He has recently received his Master's degree in Economics at Yale and is continuing the work for his Ph. D. in the Yale Department of Economics. Dick's brother Bud has been more frequently, but less continuously, in view for he has been commuting week ends between West Hartford, Conn., where he manages the office of the Southern New England Telephone Company, and the cottage on Webb Lake where Maurine and their two young sons are spending the summer. Lt. (J. G.) Gordon Willard, Maroon Captain in 1946 and counselor in 1949, spent the week end of August 17 at the Inn on leave from his assignment at the Portsmouth Retraining Command of the U. S. Navy. Dick Donnenwirth and his wife made a brief appearance at the campfire of August 3 in the course of a short vacation from the Seminary in Boston where Dick is in the last year of his preparation for the ministry. Dick was last a Kawanhee counselor in 1953. Earlier summers were remembered when Mr. and Mrs. Tom Cole and their son and daughter spent a week at the Inn early in August. Specifically, the summer brought to mind was that of 1940 when Tom was a counselor and Betty was Miss Carroll, the Camp Nurse.

Canoeists Camp on Chain of Ponds

On Monday, August 12, one of the most scenic and interesting canoe trips in Kawanhee's trip program began when sixteen campers, with Art Downey and Ed Hamblin in charge, departed for the Chain of Ponds five miles due east of the Canadian border. This was the first of two groups scheduled to spend three days of camping and canoeing on the Chain. Bates transported the party in the big truck to the Ponds.

Racing threatening storm clouds, Art and Ed canoed to the familiar campsite on the point of Round Pond and quickly set up a shelter fly under which the remainder of the crew could put their duffle in the event of rain. Returning to the truck after this precautionary measure, the entire group began to move duffle, gear and food.

Monday afternoon was spent in dressing the campsite, in gathering wood and in several very short exploratory trips by individual boys in canoes. The day came to a close with a campfire around which the boys toasted marshmallows, sang songs, and enjoyed a story by Art.

The bright promising dawn of Tuesday gleamed on the camp as the boys were awakened for a breakfast of juice, cocoa, French toast and oatmeal. After a general cleanup and the dreaded K. P. duty, the group embarked up Horse-shoe River. The stream is a beautiful subject for artists or photographers, and shutters clicked as the party paddled up the forest-lined stream through the wilderness of Maine. The trip was made even more interesting by the necessity of a portage around a very large group of fallen trees left by a recent lumber operation of the Brown Lumber company. After running into several such obstacles, and with the approach of noon signaled by the boys' stomachs, the party turned downstream and retraced its course to camp and food.

Reaching the campsite, the group found a stranger. He turned out to be the ranger from Mt. Bigelow, collecting insects for the state for a special insect-control program which Maine is conducting. The next visitor was the local fire warden who brought the none too welcome news that, because of the "slash" left by the lumber operations, the camp would have to be moved across the lake.

As Ted Dunlop and Tom Knowlton made sandwiches for the crew, Ed and Art took off in a canoe and located a new site for the base camp. Happily at this point, Forest Dexter turned up with his motor canoe. With his help the entire change was completed in two hours and forty minutes, including the breaking of the old camp and the building of the new one on the opposite shore. Tuesday closed with canoeing on the lake, supper, and another marshmallow-roast accompanied by singing and story-telling.

The dawn of Wednesday brought the concluding day of the trip for the first group. After packing, this crew paddled down the Chain several miles and returned to the base camp for lunch with the second group, which had just arrived with Fred Appleton who was to replace Ed Hamblin as second in command of the expedition.

After lunch the first group made the long awaited trip into Canada by truck and had the experience of going through both the Canadian and the U. S. customs before returning to the base camp for supper. Here Art Downey for the first time in his life had the experience of cooking a meal for thirty-eight persons on an open fire. He was later heard to remark, "That's something I'll never forget". After the first group had left for Kawanhee, the second crew settled down to cookies and oranges, and Art yielded the floor to Bobby Barnes in story-telling.

Thursday morning the second party explored Horse-shoe River with equipment for cutting through the barricades in order to go as far as possible. The obstructions where the first group had portaged were cut open and the canoes sailed through with ease. A mile and a half up the river a waterfall newly created by logs in the river was discovered. This necessitated a portage, but, since it backed up the water for several hundred yards, made it possible to travel much further upstream than usual. This year the group went up about two and a half miles.

In the afternoon Fred Appleton dove for a motor and some fishing rigs which several outdoorsmen had lost the previous day when their boat capsized. To Fred's disappointment, the lake turned out to be seventy feet deep and his depth-limit of twenty-four feet made the recovery impossible. Fred later led the trip down the Ponds while Art stayed in camp to split wood and prepare the evening meal.

Friday morning the group packed and met Bates and the truck early in order to make the trip into Canada and be home in time for supper at Kawanhee. All in all, the trip was considered a success for all concerned and for many it constituted the first exposure to the enjoyment of a Kawanhee canoe trip.

Kawanhee Teams Return Mitigwa's Visit

On Thursday, August 15, a delegation of twenty-two Kawanhee Seniors and Junior A's visited Camp Mitigwa for an inter-camp meet in Sailing, Shooting, Swimming, Tennis and Baseball. Mitigwa proved to be the perfect host, not only entertaining the Kawanhee athletes handsomely but also allowing them to bring home the memory of a clean sweep of all five contests. The fact, however, was of minor importance. The affair was much more notable as a pleasantly successful experiment in "good neighbor" relations between the two camps than as competition of the Do-or-die-for-dear-old-Siwash order. This was Kawanhee's second round of games with Mitigwa, and returned the visit which a group from Mitigwa had paid Kawanhee on August 7. Mitigwa is in the Rangeley Lakes region, situated a few miles beyond Rangeley village on Dodge Pond.

Five out of the six events in the water meet were won by a Kawanhee team composed of T. Krumm, S. Davies, W. Dale, T. Dunlop, R. Bennett and R. Roberts. Four sailing races were off during the morning and afternoon, three of which were won by Kawanhee's R. Jackson, skipper, with T. Lutz and J. Long as crew. A softball game in the afternoon turned into something of a rout which wound up with a score of 20 to 1 in favor of Kawanhee at the end of four innings.

C. S.

The Kawanhee tennis team took four out of the five matches played with Mitigwa. Tally Krumm was scheduled to play Mitigwa's No. 1 player, Jack Bowers, in the first match, but there proved to be too great a disparity between the players in age and experience. Bob Guthrie was therefore put in the No. 1 spot as substitute and won the match 6-1, 6-2, a score which does not reflect the closeness of the play. Corky Meserole (Kawanhee) defeated Ives (Mitigwa) 6-2, 6-3, in the second match of the day. Nick Van Tassel (Mitigwa) beat George Tittmann (Kawanhee) 6-1, 6-1, in the only match which Kawanhee lost. Once again the score did not indicate how closely contested the match was.

W. Boothby and C. Meserole had it fairly easy in beating Van Tassel and Toffey (Mitigwa) 6-2, 6-2, in the No. 1 doubles match. E. Spelyng and T. Lawrence of Kawanhee routed Beyer and Mitchell of Mitigwa, 6-1, 6-0, in the No. 2 doubles.

R. G.

In the target-shooting, the Kawanhee did an outstanding job to add to the accomplishments of the inter-camp activity. The marksmen from Kawanhee were: Steve Dexter, who made the highest score with 93 points out of a possible 100; Barry Birch, second, with a score of 91; Charles Fowler, Dave Angerer and Russ Bennett. The total team scores were: Kawanhee, 439; and Mitigwa, 331. The average score per shooter was: Kawanhee, 88; Mitigwa, 66.

Baseball and Basketball

No games were completed in the Little League during the week, a state of affairs chiefly to be attributed to the Chain of Ponds trip which took so many players out of camp. Monday, Aug. 12, a game between the Hornets and the Wildcats was called because of darkness and left as a 3-3 tie. The Cougars played the Wildcats Saturday afternoon, Aug. 17, but the 6th inning was, in the technical terminology of the Athletic Department, "fouled up", and left to be replayed.

Saturday, August 17, saw the season's closest basketball game between the Greys and the Maroons. The final whistle brought a victory for the Greys, 44 to 48. It was a close ballgame all the way. High scorer for the Greys was Bill Chipman with 36 points. John Pethick of the Maroons also scored 36 points.

Maroons Win Meet with Novel Features

The Maroons swamped the Greys in the water meet of Sunday afternoon, August 18, with a score of 92 to 39. The Maroons established their dominance of the day when they swept the first event, the Junior B Canoe race. Midway in the program, the Greys managed to pull up on their rivals until they trailed by only three points at the end of the Senior Canoe race. The next event, however, was the Junior B Tub race, and that old master of the tipsy tubs, D. Bittenbender, handily took that for the Maroons. From that point the Maroons pulled relentlessly out into the lead.

Extracurricular events provided more excitement than the regular races. An intimation that all was not to be stern competition came when Bill Keating gave an expert demonstration of how to dive and Doug Kerr and Bill Diehl of how NOT to dive. With this introduction, the proceedings took off into force with a remarkable style show, the daring beach creations and facial refinishing jobs all by courtesy of the Pine Lodge Ladies. What a collection of aspiring Jayne Mansfields they let loose on an unsuspecting public in the augmented persons of Sam Davis, Steve Wolfe, et al.! No one is likely soon to forget such apparitions as Roy Welton showing the latest thing in latex for the Junior Miss; Clay Davenport modeling as the more matronly type; or Ben McCoy as a "Southern belle" seemingly calculated to make Yankees out of everyone north of Key West.

The summary:

JUNIOR B CANOE RACE—First: D. Bittenbender, R. Weber (M); Second: J. Cross, D. Roth (M); Third: B. Connor, B. Meserole (M).

JUNIOR A 65 yd. BACKSTROKE—First: T. Lawrence (M); Second: J. Fung (G); Third: C. Sarich (M).

SENIOR CANOE-BOBING—First: W. Dutcher (M); Second: J. Pethick (M); Third: B. Greene (G).

WAR CANOE RACE—Winner: Maroon Team.

Glee Club Gives Benefit in Weld

Sunday evening, August 18, the Glee Club under the direction of Herb Yenser, made a public appearance in the Town Hall of Weld, and scored a resounding success with a well paced program. Contrasting groups of choral numbers were interspersed with solo spots for four instrumental virtuosos and a monologist. The performance was open to the public without admission fee, but was given as a benefit for the Weld Fire Department in so far as the audience cared to make contributions at the door.

The house was well filled and a sum of more than $90.00 was received.

The Glee Club took off to a fast and immediately effective start with Hi Neighbors, and its oldest, best-loved favorite, Happy Wanderer, and then consolidated its claim to all the enthusiastic applause with the more serious I Believe and Walk Hand in Hand. Groups of four spirituals and four patriotic songs came later on the bill, the latter introducing America Our Heritage with Herb Yenser himself handling the solo part. No numbers produced a more spontaneous reaction than the gay Row, Row, Row and Gandy Dancer midway in the evening. The impressive religious group at the end included the most ambitious novelty, the Prayer for Humperdinck's Hansel and Gretel. The Glee Club acquitted itself handsomely in all its selections, making it difficult to believe how little time this group of more than fifty has had for preparation and rehearsal as a unit.

Three of the soloists were familiar ones of whom Kawanhee never hears enough: Bill Chipman playing Melody of Love on his saxophone; Julian Freedman displaying his much admired trumpet tones in Trumpeter's Lullaby; and Jim Parker dazzling the house with his accordion pyrotechnics in Lady of Spain. Naturally none of these gentlemen escaped without loudly demanded encores. The evening's modest, expert and much appreciated accompanist, Ken Beck, took his turn in the spotlight with a fine performance of Chopin's Fantasia Impromptu. The surprise hit of the evening was Hugh Davis, doing an imitation of Deacon Andy Griffith's What It Was, Was Football! This accomplished mimic brought down the house, and almost brought on a few attacks of gleeful apoplexy when, in his encore, he became entangled in some of the fancier gadgetry of the present-day automobile.

The last, and most sincerely admiring hand of the evening was given to the director and conductor, Herb Yenser. It was a bang-up show, and left everyone very much in Herb's debt. A very superior job, indeed!
